THE THIRTY-FIRST REPORT

OF

THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg leave to submit to Your Majesty my Annual Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office, for the year 1869.

I. RECORDS OF THE DUCHY OF LANCASTER.

With reference to Your Majesty's valuable gift to the Nation of the Muniments of Your ancient Duchy of Lancaster, I have the honour to state that the documents in question have been placed in that portion of the Public Record Office which is now called the Lancaster Tower, in commemoration of Your Majesty's gracious donation. They have been all properly arranged, and a Calendar of them has been commenced. In the Appendix (No. 1) will be found a Calendar of a most interesting and important series of the collection, viz., the Royal Charters, extending from the reign of William II. down to that of Richard II. To render this Calendar more complete, all Charters granted by any Monarch to the predecessors of the Earls of Lancaster, or which have reference to any Estates subsequently belonging to the Duchy of Lancaster, are included, from whatever source they could be derived.

II. RECORDS OF THE PALATINATE OF DURHAM.

In the Thirtieth Report (§ II.), I had the honour to lay before Your Majesty a statement relative to the transfer and removal of the Palatinate Records from Durham to London. Since these Records have been deposited in the Public Record Office, a systematic arrangement of them has been commenced, but not yet finished. In my Thirtieth Report I had the honour to intimate that the Durham Records would be calendared under the direction and superintendence of one of the Assistant Keepers of the Public Records, and that a portion of the Calendar would be annexed to each Annual Report of the Deputy Keeper. In pursuance of which, a Calendar of the two earliest Chancery Rolls, belonging to the Pontificates of Bishop Bury and Bishop Hatfield, will be found in the Appendix (No. 2). The Rolls in question were formerly in the Cursitor's Office at Durham, now abolished by the Act 32 & 33 Vict. c. 84.

In the Thirtieth Report it was proposed that the Awards of the Inclosure Commissioners, deposited in five places in Durham, should be brought together in the Office of the Clerk of the Peace; but, owing to circumstances which need not be detailed, the proposition has not been carried into effect.

In the same Report I also stated that it had been arranged that an examination of the Documents brought from the Auditor's Office at Durham should take place, and those Papers should be given up to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners which legally belong to them as private muniments of the See, and necessary for the management of the estates under their control. The examination has not yet taken place; in the meantime all persons, wishing to inspect the Records alluded to, are referred to the Solicitors of the Commissioners. Similar questions respecting certain Records formerly in the Cursitor's Office also stand over for settlement.

III. DOMESDAY BOOK.

It was mentioned in my Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Reports that it had become necessary to re-bind the two volumes of Domesday Book, and that the Department of Science and Art had undertaken to furnish a fitting design for the covers. It was however ultimately arranged that the volumes should be bound under the direction of the Comptroller of the Stationery Office. Various designs were submitted to the Master of the Rolls, and that of Mr. Rivière was accepted. He has executed his difficult task to the satisfaction of the Master of the Rolls. Glass cases are in preparation, with the sanction of the Treasury, in order that the Public may be enabled to see this venerable and priceless Record without risk or danger to the volumes. They will be placed in the Norman or Domesday Tower of the Repository.

IV. FAC-SIMILES OF NATIONAL MANUSCRIPTS BY PROCESS OF PHOTOZINCOGRAPHY.

These operations, which have been carried on for several years at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton, have been continued. The fourth and last part of the English series was published during the year, and the second part of the Scottish series was almost completed. A chronological list of the documents in the latter volume is appended to this Report (Appendix No. 6). Mr. Sanders, the Assistant Keeper in charge of the Documents sent down to Southampton, makes the following statement in his Report for 1869 :—

Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton,
January 17, 1870.

Sir,

I have the honour to submit to you the following Report of the work performed at this office under my superintendence during the past year.

In my last Report I stated that the documents selected to form Part II. of the series of fac-similes of the National Manuscripts of Scotland had been, with a few exceptions, photographed. These, together with some others that were afterwards added to the collection, were also photographed in the spring, and upon the receipt of the plan of arrangement from the General Register House in Edinburgh in June last, the whole were carbon printed and transferred to zinc. Final proofs of all have been examined and approved by me, and the full edition of many has been pulled. As far as this office is concerned, therefore, this volume may be said to be almost completed.

The production of the fac-similes contained in it has been attended with more than ordinary difficulty—with more indeed than with any made here during my experience. The original MSS. are almost all bad subjects for photozincography, some of them exceptionally so—and in addition to this I have never seen many of them.

Out of the entire number of eighty-six contained in the volume, twenty belong to the British Museum, one to the Library of Balliol College, Oxford, five to the Bodleian Library, four to the Library of Corpus College, Cambridge, one to the Library of St. John's College, Cambridge, and three to the Cambridge University Library, and these were photographed at their respective repositories. I had therefore to trust entirely to the negatives, and, although these were to be relied on as being the best that could be obtained, having all of them been taken by Sergeant-Major McDonald, whose experience in photography is very great, yet there are often points in an original that cannot be represented in a simple photograph, colours for instance ; and the absence of the Manuscripts themselves threw much difficulty in my way in trying to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion as to the accuracy of the carbon print copies of them. For instance, on reference to this volume, eight pages will be found to be filled with rude maps and pictorial representations. The originals of these, besides being in an imperfect condition, have been more or less coloured, though the colours are now faded and indistinct. Without having them here to work by, it was impossible to reproduce them in their pristine tints, and the copies are therefore given in either black or brown ink, as seemed to suit each particular subject best. Could it have been permitted to me to have had the originals here, perfect fac-similes in colour, as well as outline, could have been obtained.

There is one point about this volume to which I would beg to call your attention as being peculiar to it, and an improvement upon the preceding volumes of photozincographic fac-similes made in this office. It has been produced almost entirely without having had recourse to what is technically called "duffing," a process I explained in a former Report. The art of photozincography has so much improved by practice since it was first discovered, and so great an advance towards obtaining half tones has been made, that I suggested to the Lord Clerk Register of Scotland that duffing should be employed as little as possible in bringing out the present volume. The process is no doubt an objectionable one, where not absolutely necessary, for it gives an unnatural look to a copy of a MS. which, though perhaps an improvement to an inexperienced eye, is detected by one accustomed to read records as a defect ; and this defect cannot be entirely obviated in some cases by any amount of skill and care during the process, because the brush has often to be used not only between the lines but between every letter, and jagged outline and imperfect form will sometimes inevitably occur. I feel bound also to add that some of these particular MSS. were so very bad that it would have been impossible to duff them, and it has only been after many attempts, that we have succeeded as well as we have. A remarkable instance of this is to be found in the fac-simile of the Gaelic Charter No. LIX. in this volume. This document would appear to have deteriorated greatly in condition during the last few years, if it really be the identical MS. of which Dr. Reeves made a transcript and translation only as short a time ago as 1852.

The Lord Clerk Register having assented to my proposal, the process wherever practicable has been omitted in this volume. The principal exceptions are Nos. VI., LV., LVI., LXIV., LXXIII., LXXIV., LXXV., LXXXII., and LXXXIII., the originals of which are in such an imperfect and discoloured state as to have necessitated a very great amount of extra labour and attention in copying them.

Another and an important advantage of doing away with duffing is, that a greater number of copies can be pulled from the same set of plates. In all cases where it has been much used it has been found necessary to manipulate the zinc plates considerably after the carbon transfers have been laid down on them ; for instance, to tone down sharp edges by the use of acids and the crayon ; and this gives the plate a tendency to roll up in charging, which goes on increasing, in proportion to the number of copies pulled, to such an extent that duplicate plates have had to be prepared in order to furnish a required edition. But a zinc plate which has not been so tampered with, however black and dirty the carbon transfer, gives as good results after 500 copies have been pulled from it as it did on the first proof, and double the number of copies required for this volume could be obtained from the same set of plates.

Of the documents selected to form Part III. of the Scottish series, many are already in my hands. These have all been photographed, and as soon as the plan of their arrangement for publication is sent to me from Edinburgh they will be laid down and printed without delay.

Towards the end of December 1867 a proposition was made by the Ritual Commissioners, for the publication of a photozincographic fac-simile of the then recently recovered black letter copy of the Book of Common Prayer of the edition of 1636, with manuscript notes and alterations, from which the copy, made in accordance with the Act of Uniformity, 13, 14 Charles 2, had been written. The sanction of the Treasury having been obtained, and authority given to Sir Henry James to undertake the work, an application was made to the House of Lords for permission to transfer the book from the Library of the House to this office for that purpose, and their Lordships consented to its being entrusted to my custody, as the representative of the Master of the Rolls here. No further steps in the matter were taken, however, till last summer, when the question was revived, and on the 7th of August a messenger from the House of Lords brought the Book down to Southampton, and delivered it into my custody, the Master of the Rolls having approved of my taking charge of it. Sir Henry James gave orders that it should be at once commenced, and, before winter set in, photographs of the whole volume had been taken, the clean condition of the pages and a continuance of very fine weather enabling us to do this. The book contains 516 folio pages, and its general condition is very good.

In addition to having photographed the whole volume, the first hundred pages have been carbon printed, transferred, and printed, and I think, judging from the excellence of the first proofs, that the volume when complete will form as handsome and perfect a specimen of fac simile as has ever been made by photozincography. If the weather prove fine as the days lengthen, I hope to see the whole number of copies printed during the coming spring.

Besides the Book of Common Prayer, the Ritual Commissioners were desirous of having that portion of the "Parker Register" which relates to the Election, Confirmation, and Consecration of Archbishop Parker to the See of Canterbury, also copied by the same process, and the proper authority for doing so having been received by Sir Henry James, the volume was brought down to Southampton by permission of His Grace the Primate, and delivered into my hands by Mr. Kershaw, the Librarian of Lambeth Palace, on the 25th of August. The extracts at first required were soon photographed and the volume returned, but in the course of an interview with Mr. Perry, one of the Commissioners, who came down to Southampton in November, it was thought expedient to add a few more pages to those already chosen, and, in consequence of this, Mr. Perry himself brought the volume to me a second time, on the 8th of December. It still remains in my custody, for though negatives of the additional pages have been taken, the weather has not been such as to enable us to obtain any as good as those previously taken under more favourable circumstances, and I wait for a few fine days in hopes of getting some that shall be equally satisfactory with the first. This will also prove a very beautiful specimen of fac-simile, the writing being good, and the general condition of the volume excellent.

It will be no doubt gratifying to his Lordship the Master of the Rolls to learn that the issue of the copies of Domesday book in Counties has already reached the number of 6,362, representing the sum of £2,662 1*s.* 9*d.*, and that of the series of National Manuscripts 905 volumes have been sold since the date of publication, and that the sale of both works goes on steadily increasing.

Among the fac-similes contained in the second part of the National Manuscripts of Scotland are three zincographs, taken from transfers made from copper plates engraved by Lizars at Edinburgh in 1822–9. These were inserted at the express request of the Lord Clerk Register of Scotland, to show the ravages which time has made upon the original documents during the last forty years of the long period that has passed since they were first written. A fac-simile of the original of the first, the Barons' of Scotland letter to Pope John XXII. in favour of Robert Bruce, as it now appears, is also given. Of the two others, the original of the Act of Parliament, dated at Scone on the 4th of April 1373, settling the succession of the Crown of Scotland upon the five sons of King Robert II. and their heirs male in the order of their birth, is in my custody, but it is in too bad a condition to admit of its being photozincographed. The original of the third has not been sent to me. These last two are numbered respectively XLIIIa and XLIIIb in the volume.

I subjoin a list of abstracts of all the documents comprised in the volume, arranged in Chronological order, in the same manner as has been done with regard to the preceding volumes,

And have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient Servant,
(Signed) William Basevi Sanders,

Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy,
&c. &c.
Deputy Keeper of H. M. Records.

Assistant Keeper of Her Majesty's Records.

V. CALENDARS.

During the past year, the Calendars in progress have been continued; a List of them is given in § XIV.

The Calendars to the Records of the Duchy of Lancaster and of the County Palatine of Durham have been already mentioned (§§ I. and II.); an account of the Calendar of the Carew Papers will be seen in § VI.

The List of Sheriffs mentioned in former Reports, brought down to 4 Edward III., is submitted to Your Majesty in Appendix No. 4. Their names have principally been excerpted from the Pipe Rolls, which commence with the 31 Henry I.; some additions have been derived from other Exchequer Accounts and Rolls.

I also append to this Report (Appendix No. 3), an alphabetical List of Officers and Ministers of the Palatinate of Chester and Flint, in the counties of Chester and North Wales, from the earliest period to the abolition of the Welsh Judicature in 1834. The List will be of considerable use to historical and genealogical inquirers; it has been compiled from the various Welsh Rolls and Accounts in this Office.

The Calendar of Treasury Registered Papers, edited by Mr. Redington, mentioned in the Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Reports, was completed in 1869 down to the year 1696. It has been published for sale. The Treasury Papers afford important information not elsewhere recorded illustrating Financial, Civil, Military, and other matters. Among them are many relating to Ireland and the Colonies, as well as to the Fine Arts, &c. Several of the Papers calendared in the volume consist of Reports by the Commissioners of Customs in relation to questions arising out of the revenue; they throw great light on the laws affecting imports and exports. The Calendar has since been continued in manuscript as far as the end of the reign of William III.

In the Thirtieth Report (§ XII.), the transfer to this Office of the Patents of the Commissioners for the Affairs of India is noticed. These Patents extend from the institution of the Commissioners (more commonly known as the President and Commissioners of the "Board of Control,") to their abolition; as the series is perfect a List of those Officers is given in Appendix (No. 5).

In the Appendix (No. 8) is given a List of the Calendars of State Papers, published during the year 1869, as well as of those in progress. The sale of this series of Calendars had on the 31st December 1869 amounted to 6,073 volumes.

In consequence of the death of Mr. Bergenroth (on 13th February 1869), after a few days' illness, the Master of the Rolls, with the approval of the Lords of Your Majesty's Treasury, has entrusted the editing the Spanish series of State Paper Calendars to Don Pascual de Gayangos.

Among the Calendars published in 1869 are two volumes of the reign of Elizabeth (1595–1597 and 1598–1601), in continuation of the Domestic series mentioned in previous Reports. The most important Papers in these volumes show the condition of the Nation during the period immediately preceding the Queen's death. The career of the Earl of Essex, in the last years of his life, finds ample illustration here, especially as regards his conduct at Calais and in Ireland; there is also abundant information respecting his defection from the Crown, his trial, and his execution. The claims of the various competitors to succeed to the Crown on Elizabeth's death occupy an important place in the latter volume.

The Calendar of Domestic Papers of Charles I., for the years 1637–1638, being the twelfth volume of that series, edited by Mr. John Bruce, was also published during the last year. It principally notices the disquietude arising from the collection of ship-money, and the general unwillingness to pay the impost; other papers also relate to the religious troubles in Scotland, and to the disturbance in the Fens against the Earl of Bedford's drainage of the Great Level. Mr. Bruce had prepared also a portion of another volume previously to his sudden death on 28th October.

Mr. Stevenson has produced the sixth volume of the Calendar of Foreign Papers for the reign of Elizabeth. It relates to the year 1563. In this, as in the previous volume, the chief interest arises from the assistance afforded by England to the Huguenots in France; it also contains an interesting narrative of the siege of Havre.

The third volume of the Calendar of State Papers and Manuscripts relating to English affairs, preserved in the Venetian archives, and in other libraries of Northern Italy, extending from 1520 to 1526, and edited by Mr. Rawdon Brown, was also published in 1869. This volume contains many interesting details relative to the Field of Cloth of Gold, and to various political schemes of the period, especially those of Cardinal Wolsey; and in the Appendix are several documents, supplementary to the previous volumes, which have since been brought to light through the researches of Signor Cavr. Tommaso Gar, Director of the Venetian Archives, as mentioned in the Thirtieth Report (§ VII.).

In connexion with Mr. Rawdon Brown's Calendar, I may also mention that he has during the past year deposited in the Public Record Office nine additional volumes of Transcripts of Venetian Documents, making a total of thirty volumes. These valuable Papers, which are transcribed under the sanction of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury, are not merely Transcripts, but comprise, among other things, a translation by Mr. Rawdon Brown, of Despatches to the Venetian Republic during remarkable periods.

In the Twenty-eighth Report submitted to Your Majesty (§ VI.), there is a statement relative to the preparation, under the sanction of the Treasury, of a Syllabus of the contents of the National Work known as the "Fœdera." The first volume of the Syllabus, extending from 1066 to 1377, was published during the past year. The second volume is nearly completed at press.

A Catalogue of the additions in 1869 to the Calendars, Inventories, Indexes, Transcripts, &c., in the Search Office, to which the public have access, has also been compiled (Appendix No. 7).

VI. CARTE AND CAREW PAPERS.

Carte Papers.

The Commissioners appointed to select Irish Official Documents from the Carte Papers in the Bodleian Library, Oxford, have continued and completed their duties. During the past year, they have examined 91 volumes, from which they have selected 36 papers for transcription. The Commissioners however observe that it must not be inferred, from the small number of papers they have selected, that the Historical value of this portion of the Carte collection is inconsiderable; on the contrary, they state that many volumes, from which not a single paper has been ordered to be transcribed, are of the highest interest, and will repay the research of the historical student, although their contents, not being official, did not come within the scope of the instructions to the Commissioners. They have kept a careful register of every paper in the collection, and made copious notes of all matters of importance, with transcripts of the most interesting of the papers; which they have used in the preparation of a General Report upon the Carte Manuscripts.

The transcription of the selected Documents has continued during 1869. Vols. 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, and 56 (in two parts), have been delivered to this Office in duplicate, one set of which has been forwarded to the Public Record Office of Ireland according to the direction of the Treasury.

Carew Papers.

The Calendar of these Papers, preserved in Lambeth Library, has been continued during 1869, and the third volume, embracing the period from 1589 to 1600, was published in April. In this, great use was made of a Manuscript belonging to Colonel Carew. The fourth volume of this Calendar was nearly finished at press at the end of 1869, bringing the Calendar down to the close of the reign of Queen Elizabeth. The Carew Papers do not extend beyond the reign of James I. The transcription of the volumes lent by Colonel Carew has been commenced (Thirtieth Report, § VI.).

VII. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

Of the Chronicles and Memorials, eight volumes were published in 1869, making a total of 100 volumes of this series. During the year, 1,530 copies were sold, being 454 in excess of the previous year, and the total sale, to 31st December 1869, amounted to 21,728 copies. A List of the Chronicles published and of those in progress is appended to this Report (Appendix No. 9). The works which have appeared continue to maintain their value and reputation, not only in Great Britain but on the Continent, and in America; constant applications are made for copies from Public Libraries in Europe, America, and Australia, but, owing to the present regulations, the Master of the Rolls is unable to comply with them.

VIII. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

It having been represented to Your Majesty that there are, belonging to many institutions and private families, various collections of Manuscripts and Papers of general public interest, a knowledge of which would be of great utility in the illustration of history, constitutional law, science, and general literature; that many of the possessors of such Manuscripts would be willing to give access to them, and permit their contents to be made public, provided that nothing of a private character, or relating to the title of existing owners, should be divulged; that there would be considerable public advantage in its being generally known where such Papers and Manuscripts are deposited; and that the contents of those which tend to the elucidation of history, and the illustration of constitutional law, science, and literature, should be published; Your Majesty, on the 2nd of April 1869, was pleased to appoint certain Lords and Gentlemen to be Your Commissioners to make inquiry as to the places in which such Papers and Manuscripts are deposited, and for any of the purposes mentioned; to authorize them to call in the aid and co-operation of all possessors of Manuscripts and Papers, inviting them to assist in furthering the object of the Commission, and to give full assurance that no information is sought except such as relates to public affairs, and that no knowledge or information which may be obtained from their collections shall be promulgated without their full licence and consent; and, with the consent of the owners, to make abstracts and catalogues of such Manuscripts, and to invite the possessors of such Papers and Records as they may deem it desirable to inspect, to produce them before them.

It is intended to deposit in the Public Record Office the Manuscripts intrusted to the Commissioners, the original Calendars to such Manuscripts, and copies of any Reports made on them. It has further been arranged, with the sanction of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, that the Officers of this Department were to render assistance to the Commission, and consequently during the past year several of them have been engaged in calendaring, reporting on, and arranging some of the documents intrusted to the Commissioners. In further connexion with this subject, one of the results of the Historical Manuscripts Commission may be stated; it has been the means of restoring to the nation some very important public documents, under the following circumstances:—

It was mentioned in my Twenty-ninth Report (§ XI.), that the Philadelphia Library Company had generously presented to the British Government five volumes of Irish State Papers which had been removed from Ireland nearly two centuries ago. When these MSS. were brought to England, two volumes were found to be imperfect, fourteen letters at least having been abstracted from them during the period they were in America. The circular of the Commissioners found its way to a gentleman residing at Glasgow, and he communicated to the Master of the Rolls that he had in his possession some papers which would probably fall within the scope of the Commissioners' inquiry. The papers were sent to London for inspection, and proved to be the identical letters taken from the volumes while at Philadelphia. The possessor having consented to part with them, the Lords of the Treasury purchased them for the nation, and have thus rendered more valuable the important papers contained in the volumes; without them the history of Ireland for the period to which they relate would have been incomplete.

IX. NEW BLOCK OF RECORD REPOSITORY.

In the Thirtieth Report (§ IX.), I stated to Your Majesty that the builders were proceeding rapidly with the remaining portion of the east wing of the Record Repository. The contract for its completion was accepted by the First Commissioner of Your Majesty's Works, &c., on 3rd September 1868, and the work was commenced immediately. The building has since that date been carried forward uninterruptedly, the walls of the centre part and the towers have been built to nearly their whole height, and the whole will probably be roofed in by the end of March 1870.

A fire, which occurred in a private dwelling house close to the new portion of the Repository, on the 30th November, caused some danger and alarm; the fact was reported to the First Commissioner of Works, with a request that he would take proper steps to secure the safety of the Records from all further chances of fire arising from the proximity and unsatisfactory state of the houses in the Rolls Buildings adjoining the Repository.

X. FEES: BUSINESS CONNECTED WITH GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENTS, &c.

The amount of business, and of fees received in the Search Office, during the year 1869 is as follows:—

885 Copies - - -	555	4	0
120 Attendances - -	84	19	0

The above is an increase on 1868 of 70 Copies, 21 Attendances, and 96*l.* 18*s.* The total amount of fees received, and paid to the account of the Consolidated Fund since 1840, is 23,646*l.* 19*s.* 3*d.*

In the Appendix (No. 10) is given the amount of work (except office-copies) for Government Departments during 1869. This however does not give an adequate idea of the extent of business in this Office for the various Departments of Government whose Records are deposited here. Searches on references from the Departments often occupy the officer who immediately attends to them, Mr. Kingston, for several days, and this business is daily on the increase.

The regulations for the management of Government Documents transferred to this Office are annexed in the Appendix (No. 11).

The inquiry into the Audit Office Documents, mentioned in my last Report (§ XI.) has been concluded; but the Return to the Order of the House of Commons, also alluded to, is not yet finished, owing to the very large number of entries to be examined.

XI. TRANSFERS AND REMOVALS.

The details of the Transfers in 1869 are as follows:—

THE THIRTY-FIRST REPORT OF THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS.

No. 1.—Duchy of Lancaster: Calendar of Royal Charters.

William II.—Richard II.

The following calendar of Royal Charters, from Will. II. to Ric. II., formerly in the Office of the Duchy of Lancaster, and now in the Public Record Office, refers only to those which have passed under the great seal of England. In most cases the seal is still remaining.

In this calendar it has been thought proper to include all charters granted by any Sovereign to any of the predecessors of the Earls of Lancaster and which have reference to the estates subsequently constituting the great patrimony of the duchy; all grants therefore are noticed, whether procured from ancient transcripts or other authentic sources, and distinguished by a note ex transcripto antiquo; (when not so noted, the charter is the original under the great seal). As the original charters from which these transcripts were made must at one time have existed in the archives of the duchy, and are now lost, the ancient copies which have been preserved, although of less interest than the originals, are not without value, and could not properly have been omitted in this calendar. Care has been taken to assign as nearly as possible a correct date to each charter where no precise date appears. A few Royal Charters, from the accession of Hen. IV. to the death of Edw. IV., relating to the Duchy, are also extant, but they consist only of letters patent of inspeximus and confirmations of charters described in this calendar.

William II.

Charter confirming the exchange between Urso de Abetot and Robert de Lacy of Ingoldmels and Wacton. Brigstock. 1093–1100.

Grant to Ilbert de Lacy of the custom of the chastelry of his castle, as he had it in the Conqueror's days, and in the days of the Bishop of Baieux. 1087–1100. Transcr. Ant.

Grant to Robert, son of Ilbert de Lacy, of all the lands his father held on the day he died. 1087–1100. Transcr. Ant.

No. 1.—Charters of the Duchy of Lancaster—continued.

Charter granting to Gerard Archbishop of York, certain churches in Yorkshire. Westminster. 1100–1108. Transcr. Ant.

Grant to Walter de Gloucester of the land of the canons of Saint Oswald before the castle of Gloucester. Brussels. 1109–1112.

and further granting that the said Richard may have again the said fourth part, and hold the same to him and his heirs for ever. Westminster. 1362, 22 November. Transcr. Ant.

Similar letters were granted to Gilbert de Legh, and John de Alnetham.

Letters patent of exemplification of the record and process before the chancellor and others of the King's Council in Chancery, touching the manors of Cowick and Snaith. Upon the hearing of this cause it appeared that the manor with other premises were entailed upon Henry de Lacy and the heirs of his body after the death of Alice his wife, with remainder to the right heirs of Edmund Earl of Lancaster; that Henry Duke of Lancaster, then Earl of Derby, during the lifetime of the said Alice, and consequently before any right had accrued to him, accepted an indenture of lease of the premises from Queen Philippa, upon which it was decreed that the said indenture ought not therefore to prejudice the heirs of the said Duke but that the said manor should descend by hereditary right to John Duke of Lancaster and Blanche his wife, as daughter and heiress of Henry late Duke of Lancaster. Westminster. 1363, 15 May. Transcr. Ant.

Grant to John de Olneye, usher of the chamber of Queen Philippa, of certain lands and tenements in Misterton, held of the manor of Gringley as of the honor of Tickhill, which were forfeited by Robert de Bolyngbrook for felony, and thereupon granted by Queen Philippa to the said John and his heirs for ever. Morende Castle. 1363, 14 June.

Grant to John Duke of Lancaster and Blanche his wife, of the advowson of Saint Michael's chapel within Clithero castle, forfeited to the King for alienation without royal licence; the abbot and convent of Whalley having obtained a grant thereof from Henry late Earl of Lancaster, upon a false suggestion: viz., that they had a right therein by reason of the parish church of Whalley, which they had in appropriation, and thereupon entered without obtaining the King's licence for the same. Westminster. 1363, 12 December. Transcr. Ant.

Charter of liberties and acquittances granted to John Duke of Lancaster and Blanche his wife. In this grant it is recited that the King had on 7 May, in the sixteenth year of his reign, granted certain liberties to the then Earl of Lancaster in fee tail, and that the charter thereof made had been afterwards surrendered by Henry his son and successor, but that such act being to the disherizon of the heirs of the body of the said Earl to whom such grant was made, the same could not according to the law and custom of England be cancelled, but ought still to remain in full force, and accordingly the King grants liberties and acquittances of precisely the same character and description with those contained in the said charter of the 7th of May, to John Duke of Lancaster and his wife Blanche, daughter of Henry the late Duke, and the heirs of their bodies for ever, with a limitation that the liberties so granted shall not extend to other lands and fees in their possession than those whereof Henry Earl of Lancaster was seized on the said 7th of May. Westminster. 1364, 14 July. Transcr. Ant.

Licence to Robert de la Mare, knight, John de Charnele, clerk, and John de Neumarche, to enfeoff John Duke of Lancaster and Blanche his wife, and the heirs of their bodies for ever, with the castle, manor, and honor of Bolingbroke, and the manor of Sutton in Holland, at the rent of 1,000 marks per annum, with clause of distress, under certain conditions agreed upon between the same Duke John and Blanche, and the aforesaid feoffors. Westminster. 1364, 4 December.

Letters patent of exemplification of the grant (9 Sept., 6 Edw. III., 1332), to William de Bohun, father of Humphrey de Bohun, Earl of Hereford and Essex, of the manors of Hinton and Speen, in Berkshire, Haseley, Ascott, Deddington, Pirton, and Kirtlington in Oxfordshire, the town and manor of Wycombe in Bucks, the manors of Longbennington in Lincolnshire, of Kneesall in Notts, Newnham in Gloucestershire, Wicks in Essex, and the fee farm of 42*l.* out of the manor of Bosham in Sussex, with the other lands and tenements surrendered to the King by his uncle Thomas Earl of Norfolk and Marshal of England, at a rent of 800*l.* per annum, payable half yearly at the Exchequer. Westminster. 1365, 2 April.

Letters patent of exemplification of the licence from Edward II. to Thomas Earl of Lancaster to grant to John de Warenna, Earl of Surrey, for the term of his life, 1,000 marks per annum in land and rent in the counties of Somerset, Dorset, and Wilts, and also of the grant made by the said Earl of Lancaster, in pursuance of such licence, namely, of the manors of Shapwick and Cauford, and the hundred of Hokeden in the county of Dorset, the manors of Henstridge and Charlton in Somerset, the manors of Trowbridge, Winterbourne, Licence to William de Montague, Earl of Salisbury, to grant to John Duke of Lancaster and Blanche his wife, 200*l.* in rent out of all his lands in Martock, to be receivable upon condition of the said Duke and Blanche not being disturbed in their possession of the manors of Trowbridge and Aldbourn, by the Earl of Salisbury or at his suit. Westminster. 1365, 24 October. Transcr. Ant.

Letters patent of exemplification of two fines, or final agreements made between the Abbot and convent of Furness and Hamo de Oregrave, son of Roger de Oregrave, in the King's court at Lancaster, in the nineteenth year of the reign of King Henry III. whereby the right of the said Abbot and convent is recognised to certain lands and tenements (except 5½ acres of land) in Oregrave, and an iron mine there with its appurtenances. Westminster. 1366, 17 May.

Licence to John Duke of Lancaster and Blanche his wife to grant to William de Burghbridge and Walter de Campeden, clerks, divers manors, lands, and tenements in England, and the reversion of certain other manors held for term of life after the decease of the tenants; to hold to the said feoffees and their heirs, to the intent that they, after full seizin had of the manors granted in possession and acceptance of attornment from the tenants for life of the manors granted in reversion, may re-enfeoff the said Duke and Blanche with all the premises to hold to them and the heirs of their bodies, with remainder to the right heirs of the said Blanche for ever. The manors and lands granted in possession are the castles, lordships, and commotes of Kidwelly, Karkennen and Iskennen, the lordship and commote of Carnwallan, the manors of Ogmore, King's Sombourn, Trowbridge castle and manor, Aldbourn, Collingbourn Ducis, Everly, Hungerford, Poghlee, Staunden, Rodley, Tibberton, Minsterworth, Gimingham, Tunstead, Thetford, and Methwold, the hundreds of Gallow and Brothercross, and the advowsons of Marham abbey and Thetford priory; and the manors granted in reversion are, the manor of Weston after the death of Sir Franco Vanhale, knight, the manor of Hartley after the death of Sir Stephen de Cosyngton, knight, the manor of Lavington after the death of Nicholas de Kymbell, the manor of East Garston after the death of Sir Nicholas de Tamworth, knight, the manor of Passenham after the death of Sir Edmund de Ufford, knight, and the manor of Stapleford after the death of Thomas de la Mare. Westminster. 1366, 18 October.

Letters patent of confirmation of the charter dated 5 June, 12 Edw. 2. (whereby Edward II. confirmed the donation by Queen Alianore wife of Henry III. to her grandchildren Thomas and Henry of Lancaster, of her share of the land or county of Provence which she inherited from her father and mother); now granted at the request of John Duke of Lancaster who married Blanche cousin and heir of the within named Thomas and Henry. Westminster. 1366, 30 October. Transcr. Ant.

Licence to John Duke of Lancaster to grant certain houses, manors, towns, lands, and tenements belonging to the earldom of Richmond, to William of Wickham, clerk, Godfrey Foljaumbe, William Croiser, Walter de Campeden, clerk, William de Burghbrigge, clerk, and Robert de Morton, as security for the payment of certain sums to the several creditors of the Duke, of whom he had borrowed money preparatory to his voyage into Gascony in the King's service; to hold to them and their heirs until the several sums should be repaid, or satisfaction made for the same. Westminster. 1366, 5 November. *Transcr. of the manor, which the said Geoffrey and William are to grant to the said Duke and Blanche and the heirs of their bodies, and after them to the right heirs of the said Duke; the said Richard and Elizabeth to have common for their own beasts on the pasture, and housebote and hedgebote in the wood aforesaid during the term of their lives. Westminster. 1367, 4 July.

Grant to John Duke of Lancaster and Blanche his wife, and their heirs for ever, of free warren in all their demesne lands of Chipping Lambourn in the county of Berks. Westminster. 1367, 15 July. Transcr. Ant.

Letters patent addressed to the archbishops, bishops, abbots, knights, foresters, verderors, and others, of the county of Lancaster commanding them to be answerable and obedient to John Knyvet, William de Fyncheden, Godfrey Foljaumbe, William Croyser, and Peter atte Wode, four, three, or two of them, as the King's justices in eyre to hold the pleas of the forest of his son John Duke of Lancaster in that county. Westminster. 1368, 22 May.

Grant to John Duke of Lancaster of a fair at the chapel of St. James at Holt in the county of Dorset yearly on the eve, day, and morrow of Saint James the Apostle. Westminster. 1368, 8 November. Transcr. Ant.

Letters patent upon a fine of 40 marks paid to the King by Humphrey de Bohun, Earl of Hereford, for enabling him to have and hold the moiety of the manor of West Peckham in the county of Kent, which had been seized into the King's hands as forfeited for alienation without royal licence; Sir John de Mereworth, chivaler, having held the same moiety in capite, on the day of his death, and his nephew and heir John Malmeyns having thereupon entered the same, without rendering to the King his homage and fealty, as was the custom; and made a grant thereof in fee to the said Earl of Hereford, the King's licence not having been obtained for so doing. Westminster. 1370, 4 May.

Letter to the King's son John Duke of Lancaster commissioning him to go into the parts of Aquitain to the assistance and comfort of his brother Edward Prince of Wales, with very extensive powers and authorities. The letter commences with a preamble to the effect that although it were indeed desirable that the kingly authority should duly chastise the wickedness of reprobates and evil doers, yet nevertheless sometimes the King, tempering with mildness the rigor of the law, chose rather to show mercy and to spare than to exercise bloody acts of cruelty and impatience; and then proceeds to state that a great portion of the inhabitants of Aquitain, by the persuasion and at the instigation of the King's rivals, as well as some of their own accord, having withdrawn themselves from his and the Prince's obedience the said Duke was therefore dispatched to his brother's aid, with authority to admit to grace any who were desirous of returning to the King's obedience, and with other royal powers subject only to the Prince's assent and will. It is remarkable that the particular words requisite to convey the powers which it was intended to grant to the Duke are altogether omitted in the letter. Westminster. 1370, 1 July.

Letters patent testifying that the grant of the castle, manor, and honor of Knaresborough, in the county of York (which together with the manor of Isleworth in Middlesex, had been assigned to Queen Philippa in dower, for term of her life, and of which the reversion was subsequently granted to Edward Duke of Cornwall and his heirs, the first born sons of the Kings of England, successively for ever,) made to John King of Castile and Leon, Duke of Lancaster, and the heirs of his body, in exchange for the honor of Richmond, was for the advantage of the realm. By these letters the King declares that his only intention in granting that reversion to the Duke of Cornwall and his heirs was to put a stop to the petitions inordinately preferred at that time for a grant of that honor, and by no means that it should be transferred to the said Duke, however desirous he might otherwise be for augmenting his station, and that therefore such grant was revoked and utterly annulled and void, and the said honor, by the advice of the prelates, nobles, and sages of the King's council, granted to the said Duke of Lancaster as aforesaid, and the manor of Isleworth retained in the King's hands. Westminster. 1372, 1 June.

Indenture between Edward III. and his son John King of Castile and Leon, Duke of Lancaster, for an exchange between them of certain lands. It recites that King Edward having created his said son Earl of Richmond, and thereupon granted him the honors, castles, manors, lands, and tenements belonging to that earldom, formerly held by John Duke of Brittany and Earl of Richmond, and it appearing to the council to be desirable for the crown to repossess the same, the said Duke of Lancaster like a grateful son, preferring his father's pleasure and the convenience of the kingdom to his own private advantage, resigns the said earldom back to the King and accepts in lieu and exchange for the same, the castle, manor, and honor of Tickhill, the castle and manor of the High Peak, with all the knights' fees to the same belonging, and also all those knights' fees which the King had by the gift and grant of Sir Robert de Lisle, knight, the advowsons of the churches of Staindrop and Brancepeth in Durham, and of the free chapels of Tickhill and High Peak, the church of Maresfield and free chapel there, the free chapel within Pevensey castle, the priory of Wilmingdon (a cell of Greston abbey in Normandy), the priory of Withiham (a cell of the abbey of St. Martin de Meremest in Tourain), and the house of St. Robert of Knaresborough, the castle, manor, and honor of Knaresborough, and the hundred or wapentake of Staincliff in Yorkshire, the manors of Gringley and Wheatley in Notts. The manors of Wighton, Aylsham, Fakenham and Snettisham, and the hundreds of North Greenhoe, South Erpingham, North Erpingham, and Smithdon in the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, the manors of Glatton and Holm in Huntingdonshire, the manor of Soham in Cambridgeshire, the castle and leucata of Pevensey, the manors of Willington and Maresfield, and the bailiwick of Endelenewick in Sussex; the free chase of High Peak, which the King held in his hands as a forest, to hold as a chase, the free chase of Ashdown and the yearly farm of 200 marks rendered to the King by the abbey and convent of St. Mary's at York for the manor of Whitegift in Yorkshire; to hold to the said Duke of Lancaster and the heirs of his body, together with all members, hamlets, &c., to the same belonging and pertaining, of the King and his heirs for ever. Westminster. 1372, 25 June. Transcr. Ant.

Letters to the freeholders of the fees which the King had of the gift of Sir Robert de Lisle, knight (such as had become extinct in the King's hands only excepted), commanding them to be answerable for their fealties and other services to John King of Castile and Leon, Duke of Lancaster, to whom the King has granted the same, amongst other things, in exchange for the earldom of Richmond, according to the tenor of the charter indented thereof made between them. Westminster. 1372, 26 June. Transcr. Ant.

Letters to the freeholders and tenants of the castle and leucata of Pevensey, the manor of Willingdon and Maresfield, the bailiwick of Endelenewick, and the free chase of Ashdown in the county of Sussex (the tenants by knight's service only excepted), commanding them to be answerable for their rents and services to John King of Castile and Leon, Duke of Lancaster, or his attorney, according to the tenor of the King's charter granted to the said Duke. Westminster. 1372, 26 June.

Letters patent granting the office of constable of England to Thomas of Woodstock the King's son, vacant by the death of Humphrey de Bohun, late Earl of Hereford, and being in the King's hands by reason of the nonage of the heirs of the said Earl, to hold to the said Thomas during the King's pleasure or so long as the said minority should last. Westminster. 1376, 10 June.

Letters patent granting to John Duke of Lancaster, King of Castile and Leon, the castle, town, and honor of Hertford, and the towns of Bayford, Essendon and Hertingfordbury, with their members and appurtenances formerly held by Queen Isabella the King's mother for term of her life, and which the King lately granted to the said Duke, then Earl of Richmond, under a certain form specified in the grant, to hold to the said Duke and the heirs male of his body for ever. Havering. 1376, 8 October.

Letters of attorney appointing Thomas Banastre, Richard de Burley, Walter Blount and William Burgbrugge, to give livery of seizin in the King's name to John King of Castile and Leon, and Duke of Lancaster, of the honor, town, and castle of Hertford, and the towns of Bayford, Essendon, and Hertingfordbury. Westminster. 1376, 8 October.

Letters patent addressed to the knights, freeholders, and tenants of the honor, town, and castle of Hertford, and the towns of Bayford, Essendon, and Hertingfordbury commanding them to obey John King of Castile and Leon as their lord, and to answer to him for their rents and services. Havering. 1376, 13 October.

Charter granting to John King of Castile and Leon, Duke of Lancaster, the castle, town, and place of Bergerac in the diocese of Périgueux, with all rights, liberties, privileges, and jurisdictions as fully and entirely as Henry late Duke of Lancaster held the same whilst he was alive, to hold to the said Duke and the heirs male of his body for ever. The King moreover grants that the said Duke and his heirs may have a mint there with the power of coining money at their pleasure, so that it be as heavy or heavier than the current coin of that county, together with all emoluments arising from such coinage. Havering. 1376, 8 November.

Letters patent granted with the assent of Parliament to John King of Castile and Leon, Duke of Lancaster, erecting the county of Lancaster into a palatinate for the lifetime of the said Duke, with power to hold a court of chancery and appoint judges to hold pleas as well of the crown as other pleas touching the common law, and all other liberties and jura regalia pertaining to a county palatine, as freely and entirely as the Earl of Chester is known to exercise the same within the county of Chester, saving and reserved to the crown all Tenths and Ffteenths and other aids and subsidies granted to the King by the commons of the realm, or by the clergy, or such as should be imposed on the clergy by the Holy See, also all pardons of life or limbs of those condemned to lose the same, and the power of correcting any errors of defects of justice committed by the courts within that county. The Duke is also required by the charter to send to every Parliament and council two knights of the shire, and two burgesses from every borough within the county, to treat about the affairs of the kingdom with the rest of the commons of the realm. Westminster. 1377, 28 February.

Letters patent providing against the inconveniences that might arise on account of the erection of the county of Lancaster into a palatinate in cases where pleas and process had been commenced in the King's court prior to the 28th of February by royal writ to the sheriff of Lancaster, the suitors fearing that such pleas and process by reason of the King's grant of jura regalia in that county would be altogether discontinued. And to remedy this the King grants that all writs as well original as judicial, touching any freehold or other matters arising within the said county and made returnable before the King's justices, shall from time to time together with the records and the processes had thereupon and all other things relative thereto, be transmitted in their then state to the Duke of Lancaster and be heard and determined before the justices assigned by him in the said county. Westminster. 1377, 13 April. Transcr. Ant.

Charter granting to John King of Castile and Leon, Duke of Lancaster, and the heirs of his body, divers royal liberties, jurisdictions, and privileges, within the castle, manor, and honor of Tickhill and the rest of the castles, manors, honors, lands, tenements and fees granted to him in exchange for the honor and earldom of Richmond, and in compensation for the extensive rights which the late Queen Philippa and the said Duke had enjoyed within that honor. By this charter also it is determined, that the towns of Grinstead, of Seaford, and of Laughton-in-le-Morthen granted as parcel of the honor of Tickhill should continue in the Duke's possession and be retained by him with the rest of the lands and tenements so granted to him in exchange as aforesaid, albeit in fact, the said three towns were towns in gross and had at no time whatever been parcel of the said manor, castle, and leucata or honor of Tickhill as had been supposed. Sheen. 1377, 4 June.

Inquisition taken after the death of Henry Earl of Lancaster for the county of Wilts, being the only county for which the return is extant. Inq. p. m. 20 Edw. III., No. 53.

The lands, tenements, and knights' fees whereof Henry Duke of Lancaster died seized in his demesne as of fee, which are set out in the inquisitions taken after the Duke's death. 1366. Inq. p. m. 35 Edw. III., p. 1, No. 122.

The knights' fees of Sir Robert de l'Isle granted to King Edward III., and which were subsequently given by that King to his son John Duke of Lancaster, amongst other lands and tenements in exchange for the earldom and honor of Richmond. 1368. Close Roll, 42 Edw. III. m. 6 d.

Richard II.

Letters patent confirming the office of constable of England to Thomas of Woodstock, Earl of Buckingham, the King's uncle, being in the King's hands by reason of the nonage of the heirs of Humphrey de Bohun, late Earl of Hereford: to hold to the said Thomas during the King's pleasure or so long as the said minority shall last. Westminster. 1377, 22 June, 1 Ric. 2.

Letters patent of confirmation by Richard II., of divers charters granted to Thomas of Woodstock, Earl of Buckingham, the King's uncle, viz.,—that of the 3rd of April, 48 Edw. 3. granting him the custody of the manors of Long Bennington, Kirtlington, Deddington, Haresfield, Wheatchurst, Farnham, Shenfield, Haseley and Uphaven, together with the annual fee of 40*l.* 10*s.* 10*d.* granted by Edward I. to Humphrey de Bohun, then Earl of Hereford and Essex, and Elizabeth Countess of Holand his wife, payable by the hands of the sheriff of Essex, and the annual fee of 20*l.* granted by Edward III. to William de Bohun, late Earl of Northampton, payable out of the issues of the county of Northampton; all

	Marton, Alan de, and Richard de Auldewod.	Acknowledge on behalf of themselves and their wives a deed by which they agree to live in common so far as victuals are concerned. Each couple is to pay half the expenses, and each to receive half the proceeds of the manor of Bromhall; but the said Richard and his wife are to receive in addition an annuity of five marks due to them from Richard de Hoton out of the same manor. It is further provided that Richard and his wife, when staying at Bromhall, are to have the chamber on the west of the Hall, and Alan and his wife the chamber on the east. Richard and his wife are not to bring any action, or distrain, on the ground of the annuity of ten marks, granted by the deed above enrolled. Any breach of this covenant on the part of Richard and his wife is to render null and void the above mentioned grant of an annuity of ten marks, and any breach on the part of Alan and his wife is to give full effect to the said grant, and restore to Richard and his wife the right of action.	13

Cumberland.

[For years before 20 Hen. 2. see Carlisle.]

There is no return for the county of Cumberland before the 23rd year of Henry 2., when a return is made by Adam the son of Robert Troite on behalf of his father for the 15th year of that reign. In this same 23rd year also, Robert de Vallibus makes a return for the 21st and 22nd years. A reference to the list of Sheriffs under the head of Carlisle will suffice to shew that the return for Cumberland now takes the place of the return for Carlisle. That which in one roll is spoken of as Robert Troite's return for Carlisle is in another spoken of as his return for Cumberland. Robert de Vallibus is obviously identical with Robert de Vaus, and the return of Adam the son of Robert Troite for the 20th year of the reign, which was deferred at the time under the head of Carlisle, is again deferred in the 23rd year under the head of Cumberland, and is made under the head of Cumberland, in the 24th year.

No. 6.—Chronological List of Documents, prepared by Mr. Sanders, forming Part II. of the Book of Fac-similes of National Manuscripts of Scotland, in process of being taken by Photozincography.

I. Folio 13 of the Chronicles of Melrose, preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Faustina, B. ix.

This document sets out the following account of the descent of some of the early Scottish Kings commencing with Malcolm the Third, son of King Duncan the First [who was murdered by Macbeth in 1040]. Malcolm began his reign in 1056, and in 1067 married Margaret [the sister of Edgar Atheling] by whom he had six sons, Edward, Edmund, Ethelred, Edgar, Alexander, and David, and two daughters, Matilda, afterwards Queen of England, and Mary, afterwards Countess of Boulogne. Malcolm was killed in England [at the siege of Alnwick Castle] on the 13th of November 1093, his eldest son Edward, being thrust through the body with a lance on the same occasion, died on the 15th, and Queen Margaret died of grief on the 16th of the same month. The kingdom was usurped by Malcolm's brother Donald, and Malcolm's sons Edgar, Alexander, and David were banished to England; but Duncan, a natural son of Malcolm, a hostage at the court of William Rufus, by the aid and advice of that monarch, passed over into Scotland, routed Donald, and became King. Duncan was murdered after a reign of one year and a half by the Thane of Morcies, and Donald was restored; he reigned three years and a half, at the end of which, in the year 1096, Malcolm's son Edgar made himself master of the throne, and Donald was sent into perpetual imprisonment. Edgar reigned nine years, and died on the 7th of Jannary 1107. He was succeeded by his brother Alexander, who reigned seventeen years, and died on the 26th of April 1124. Alexander was succeeded by his younger brother David, who reigned a very powerful and prosperous monarch for twenty-nine years, dying on the 24th of May 1153. His son Henry had died in the preceding year, and David was succeeded on the throne by his grandson Malcolm [the Fourth, surnamed "the Maiden"], a child who by the inspiration of God retained his virginity till his death on the 9th of December [1165]. Original in Latin.

II. A charter whereby William de Moreville, Constable of Scotland, grants to James of Laudun, the land of Laudun, from Polba to Strathonan, and from the water called Yrewin to Heglesham, by the service of one knight's fee. Witnessed by Christiana, the betrothed of de Moreville, Godfrey of Ross, Robert the son of Weybald, Stephen the son of Richard, William Mansell, Alan of Thirlestane, Peter of the Hage, Henry of Gameley, Ivon de Vipont, Duncan the son of Earl Duncan, Richard the son of Gilbert, Arthur of Ardrossan, Robert of Logan, Reginald of . . . . . and . . . . . his . . . . . , Richard de Moreville, Richard of Nehn, Elias the son of Hugh, Alan of Saind', Thomas the Englishman, William the son of John, Herbert, and William his brother, Richard of Witon, and John the clerk. No date. Original in Latin. Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. Chart. xviii., 25.

III. Writ obligatory whereby William Abbot and the Convent of Arbroath promise to pay a yearly sum of one hundred shillings sterling to the Prior and Convent of the Holy Trinity at Canterbury for the perpetual sustenance every Tuesday of thirteen poor persons on behalf of Alexander [III.] King of Scotland. The same to be paid each year in the Octaves of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin to the said prior and convent or their attorney in the New Temple at London. Dated at Arbroath on the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin [August 15], 1279. Original in Latin.

Preserved in the Treasury at Canterbury.

IV. A writ of Dervorgulla of Galloway, Lady of Balliol, to Hugh of Hertilpolle, and Master William de Menyl, setting out the ordinances to be observed by her scholars at Oxford. They are to attend divine worship every Sunday and on all the principal feasts, unless prevented by urgent necessity or evident useful cause, and on other days to attend diligently to the studies of the school. They are to give implicit obedience to the proctors in all things relating to the discipline of the University. They are to elect from among themselves a principal, whom they are to obey in all things touching his office; the said principal after his election to be presented to the proctors in order to be endowed with the requisite authority by them. They are to celebrate three solemn masses each year for the soul of her beloved husband John of Balliol, and the souls of all faithful defunct persons, and her own salvation, the first mass to be celebrated in the first week of Advent, the second at Septuagesima, and the third in the first week after the Octaves of Easter. Grace is to be said every day both before and after dinner and supper. In order that the maintenance of the poorer scholars may be the better provided for, the richer are to study so to live temperately that their poorer brethren be in no wise troubled with heavy expenses, and if the whole society should happen to exceed in their common expenses the amount devoted to their use by the Lady Dervorgulla, no sum exceeding one penny in one week is to be demanded from any of those members who shall be adjudged unable to meet the whole cost by the proctors. The aforesaid rules however not to extend to the long vacation, which lasts from the Feast of the Translation of St. Thomas, Martyr, to that of St. Luke, nor to those weeks in which the Nativity of our Lord, the Circumcision, Epiphany, Easter, and Pentecost fall, nor to other occasions on which the proctors may decide that it should be omitted. The proctors to make strict inquiry into the poverty of the scholars, and the scholars themselves to lay their wants before the proctors with all confidence, and if any of the scholars should be found to grumble against the said ordinance, or by word or gesture show any provocation to their poorer brethren on account thereof, their names are to be given up to the proctors, who upon sufficient proof of such offence are immediately to expel them without hope of return. The scholars are commonly to speak in Latin; the first breach of this regulation to be visited by reproof from the principal, the second and third to be punished by separation from the others, eating alone and being served last, and incorrigibility for a week by expulsion. A sophism to be argued every alternate week, the principal to fix the day, regulate the discussion, control the loquacious, and designate the sophism to be next argued. The same order to be observed every alternate week with respect to the issue of the matter of debate. The portatorium consigned by the Lady Dervorgulla to the scholars for the soul of her deceased husband to be carefully preserved and never under any circumstances to be pawned or parted with. One poor scholar to be appointed by the proctors, to whom the scholars shall be bound to make over the remnants of their daily meals, unless the proctors shall see fit to determine to the contrary. Sealed with the Lady Dervorgulla's seal and dated at Botel [Bothwell ?] in the Octaves of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary [August] 1282. Original in Latin. Preserved in the Library of Balliol College, Oxford.

V. Writ of Privy Seal by Edward the First to the Prior and Convent of Canterbury, commanding them to enter among their chronicles the two letters patent recited in the writ from the rival claimants of the Scottish Crown, the first appointing him arbiter in their cause, and the second making over to him the seisin of the whole kingdom of Scotland pending his judgment upon their respective claims. Witnessed by Master W[illiam] of March, Treasurer of England, at Westminster, on the 9th day of July 1291. Original in Latin. Preserved in the Treasury at Canterbury.

Va. A map of Great Britain, said to be by Matthew Paris. From a MS. of his Abbreviatio Chronicorum. British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Claud: D. vi.

VI. Indenture of agreement made between Florence, Count of Holland, and Robert Bruce, Lord of Annandale, on the 14th of June 1292, whereby each swears to assist the other against all other claimants of the Crown of Scotland, with the following conditions. Whichever of the two succeeds in obtaining the Crown shall award a third part of all lands, tenements belonging to the kingdom, with their appurtenances, to the other, the same to be held of the King of Scotland by homage and service of five knights only. The extent of the said third part to be settled by eight lawful men to be chosen by both the parties to the agreement. No portion of the said third part to be alienated without the assent of the reigning King, as long as the King is willing to give as much for it as any other person. That if Robert Bruce chance to be made King, all the tenements held by him in England at the date of the making this agreement shall remain to the Count of Holland at a just and reasonable value. Both parties to be bound to the faithful performance of the above conditions under a penalty of 100,000*l.* sterling, to be paid within the year by the breaker to the observer of the agreement, the furnishing of a further sum in aid of the Holy Land, and the payment of another sum of 100,000*l.* to the King of England. Sealed by the contracting parties, and witnessed by Robert, Bishop of Glasgow, Gilbert of Clare, Earl of Gloucester and Hertford, Robert Bruce, Earl of Carrick, Donald, Earl of Mar, James, Steward of Scotland, John, Lord of Arkle of Holland, and William of Houtshourne, of Holland, at Berwick, the day and year above mentioned. Original in Latin.

There have been originally apparently seven seals to this document, whereof not one now remains. The original, which is preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. Charters, vii. 15, is in very bad condition, torn and decayed, but has been carefully repaired.

VII. A petition to the King and Council from the people of Scotland, praying the issue of a writ to the Chamberlain of Berwick, commanding that they be governed by the laws in force in the time of King Alexander, agreeably to the conditions made by the Lords Angus, Percy, and Neville at Roxburgh. No date [Edward I.]. Original in French. This and the nine succeeding documents belong to the Public Record Office.

VIII. A letter from Robert Hastang to the King. On the Thursday, the exact date of which is obliterated, Sir Ingram de Umfranville, Sir William de Baillolf, and others had arrived and harried the Forest of Selkirk, upon Sir Simon Fraser. Whereupon the Bishop of St. Andrew's, the Earl of Carrick, the Earl of Buchan, the Earl of Menteith, another Earl whose name is invisible, Sir John Comyn, the son, and the Steward of Scotland, came with all their power purposing to advance upon Roxburgh, but hearing that the town was closed against them, and that they could only succeed at the expense of a great loss of life, they remained quiet till the Wednesday after the Assumption of our Lady, on which day Hastang had his spies among them, who heard Sir David of Graham demand from the Council the lands and property of Sir William Waleis, he being out of the realm without the will or licence of the guardians thereof. To this demand Malcolm Waleis answered that his brother's lands and property could not be granted away until it should be decided by the country, whether he was absent for the advantage of the realm, or the contrary; whereupon the knights began to quarrel among themselves, knives were drawn, and the Earl of Buchan and Sir John Comyn, seeing that Sir David of Graham was with Sir John Comyn and Malcolm Waleis with the Earl of Carrick, suspected that the affray was a concerted surprise. So John Comyn sprang at the Earl of Carrick's throat, and the Earl of Buchan upon the Bishop of St Andrew's, and so secured themselves against treason until the Steward with others ran in and put a stop to the tumult. By this time there came a letter from beyond the Scottish seas, that Sir Alexander Comyn and Laghlan were advancing towards those parts with fire and sword; so it was ordained that the Bishop of St. Andrew's should take all the castles into his hand as principal chieftain, the Earl of Carrick and John Comyn, the son, being joined to him as guardians of the kingdom. And so all departed from Peebles; the Earl of Carrick and Sir David of Brechin going towards Annandale, and thence to Galloway, the Earl of Buchan and John Comyn the son, beyond the Scottish seas, and the Steward and the Earl of Mentieth towards Clydesdale. The Bishop of St. Andrew's remained at Stubbowe. Sir Ingram de Umfranville was made sheriff of Roxburgh, and Sir Robert of Keith, Warden of Selkirk Forest, with 100 horse, and 1,500 footmen, without counting the foresters, and they had both been ordered by the guardians to do as much harm as they could upon the Marches, which seems the more probable from each of the Lords having left a portion of his forces with Sir Ingram. Hastang concludes the letter by assuring the King that he has all the above intelligence from one of his people who was present when the orders were given; that on Sunday, the morrow of the Assumption of our Lady, the Scottish prisoners came to Roxburgh, and that on the Thursday following, news had been received from the enemy that the English prisoners would not arrive on the Marches till the Decollation of St. John. Dated at Roxburgh, the Thursday after the Assumption of our Lady. Original in French.

IX. A memorandum that on the 3rd day of January 1304, Thomas of Cotyng' delivered to Richard of Bremesgrave, at Berwick-upon-Tweed, the beams of the two engines that were made at Brechin, the engine called "Segrave," the engine called "Vernay," and the engine called "Robinet," 16 beams of the engine called "Forster," 18 beams of an engine that came from Aberdeen, two great cords, and two smaller ones to bend the said engines, two hawsers, five small cords, and an old rope, 784 leaden bullets, and 600 round stones. Dated at Berwick, the 3rd of January 1304, Original in French.

X. An indenture of the names of the knights and men at arms forming the garrison of the Castle of Edinburgh, from the 27th November 1300, till Whitsunday following. [May 21st, 1301.] Original in Latin.

XI. A memorandum that whereas the King had appointed at York, Alexander the Convert, purveyor of victuals and other necessaries for Stirling Castle, by view of Ralph de Kyrkeby, and three others belonging to that castle, the said Alexander had freighted a ship called "The Godale of Beverley," whereof John the son of Walter was master, to convey the provisions from Berwick-upon-Tweed to the said castle, but the said ship had been ordered by Sir John of Drokenesford, keeper of the King's wardrobe, to proceed to Edinburgh and deliver her cargo to Sir John of Kingston, for the sustenance of the castle there. The following is the list of stores so sent:—Three lasts of herrings, 1,000 stock-fish, 610 large salt fish, 4,000 onions, a seam of garlic, 10 garbs of steel, one barrel of honey containing 34 gallons, two barrels of peas, two great screw cross-bows, 18 smaller cross-bows, 50 bows, four large platters of brass for the kitchen, 100 dishes, 50 plates, 50 saucers, 50 cups, 22 stone of hemp, 20 lbs. of wax, 20 lbs. of cummin, 6 lbs. of pepper, 2 lbs. of saffron, two grind-stones for the forge, three white horse hides, curried, six tanned ox hides for breeching for the engines, one bandrey [an iron instrument for bending the balistæ], 18 dozen bow strings, 2 lbs. of cotton thread to make candles, 200 goose wings for feathering the arrows, a large quantity of pack-thread for cross-bow strings, 200 needles, 3 lbs. of black and white thread, and a large quantity of binding for gowns, a dozen of parchment, 1 lb. of "aruement" [ink—atramentum], two empty tuns to contain and preserve the said articles, 86 stone of cheese, containing 103 cheeses, 20 stone of tallow, containing 16 loaves, 240 pairs of cowhide shoes in two sacks, and two sacks and six ells of canvas wrapped between the said bows and the spiceries, 100 empty sacks to unload the abovesaid articles, and many other provisions consigned to the said castle out of other ships. Dated at Berwick, the 28th of December 1299.

To the above list is added in a note,—and 2 bushels of seed to make mustard, in one sack. Original in French.

XII. A notarial attestation made by Robert de Garnald, notary public, that on the 30th of January 1304, and in the presence of the Bishop of Brechin and the Prior of St. Andrews, Robert Bernarde, Chaplain of St. Andrews, renewed an appeal previously made by Master Baldred Biset, Rector of the church of Kynkorin [Kinghorn], in the diocese of St. Andrews, in whose name he was acting at Bologna, before Hubert, Bishop of Bologna, against Peter of Dunwich, an English clerk, for forcible and unlawful invasion of and occupation of his said church, to his great wrong and despite.

Witnessed by the Bishop of Brechin, the Prior of St. Andrews, Sir Alan of Foulis, Canon of St. Andrews, and Masters William of Yetham, Adam Doghet, and many others. Original in Latin.

XIII. A letter without address or name of writer, but beginning "Sire," and stating that at the time of writing it the King and Queen were in good health, but that the King was so much enraged at the Guardian of Scotland and the rest having retreated from the "Roi Hobbe" without having performed any exploit, that he intended going in person to Dumfries, and thence to advance still further; but this cannot be till after St. John's Day, and for this purpose his Majesty has ordered his tents to be immediately sent from London. The Bishop of Chester had gone towards Ayr on the Monday before Pentecost, to provide provisions and other necessaries, Sir Edmund de Maulay accompanying him as Constable of the Castle, and John of Somerset is to be receiver of victuals sent there from Ireland and England. On the same day, Sir John of Droxford went to Lancashire for men-at-arms, and from thence was to proceed to Skimbornase to despatch provisions to Ayr. David Dathele had made peace, in what form is not known, and James of Douglas begged to be received, but when he saw their people withdraw he would no longer hold parley, and some say he is in league with certain of the King's enemies. The only other news the writer has to relate is, that the King ordered his men to ride "garlanded with leaves" on the Day of Pentecost, and reviewed them in person, and was "very joyous and gay" at the sight—the number of horsemen being estimated at near 400. The writer concludes by excusing his scarcity of news on the plea that what is asserted one day is contradicted the next. Dated at Carlisle, the 15th of May [1307]. Original in French.

XIV. Writ of Privy Seal by the King to Sir Aymer de Valence, commanding the Royal Forces in Scotland, ordering him to take signal vengeance upon Sir Michael de Wymes, in whom the King has found "neither good word or good service," and upon Sir Gilbert of the Haye, who is to be even worse treated, "if worse be possible," than Sir Michael, in return for his treacherous requital of the courtesy the King had shown to him when in London. Dated at Markeyate, the 19th of June 1306. Original in French.

XV. A petition to the King from the Burgesses of Perth, against Sir Eustace of Godisbeche, Chamberlain of Scotland, for having disseised them of a certain rent belonging to their bridge over the Tay, and farmed it to one William Romain—for payment of expenses incurred by the Bailiffs of Perth in constructing a "pielle" [peel] and moat to fortify the town, by command of John of Sandale then chamberlain, at the time of Robert Bruce's first rising in rebellion—and for indemnification for losses incurred through Robert Bruce, who, when he made himself King at Scone, had imprisoned their Bailiffs and threatened them with death till he had extorted a sum of money from them, for which they can get no allowance out of the King's Pentecost rents, and in consequence have been destrained by the Chamberlain. No date. Original in French.

XVI. A letter to the King from Elizabeth Bruce, thanking him for the great benefits and honours he has conferred upon her, but complaining that in spite of the King's orders to the Bailiffs of Holderness, that she and her attendants should be honourably and sufficiently entertained, they will find neither covering for her body nor attire for her head; neither bed nor furniture for her chamber, except one robe a year; nor will they allow her servants more than one gown each for all purposes. She, therefore, prays that her condition may be bettered, or that she may be allowed a certain yearly sum for her maintenance. No date. Original in French.

XVII. A manifesto issued by the Prelates and Clergy of Scotland, setting forth that whereas a question had arisen between John of Balliol, who had formerly been made "de facto" King of Scotland by the King of England, and Robert of Bruce, grandfather of the present King Robert, as to which of them was nearest by right of blood to the inheritance of the kingdom of Scotland—and whereas the faithful Scottish people had unhesitatingly held that Robert Bruce, after the death of King Alexander and his granddaughter, the daughter of the King of Norway, was the true heir—yet, through the sowing of tares by the Enemy of the Human Race and the machinations of rival claimants, the affair had been settled to the contrary, whereby great harm had befallen the realm of Scotland and its inhabitants. And whereas the people of Scotland, seeing that the said John Balliol had, for divers causes, been taken and imprisoned by the King of England—that the kingdom of Scotland was ruined and reduced to slavery, depopulated, grieved, exposed to every danger, and given up to the invader—themselves robbed, tormented by wars, taken captive, bound, oppressed by fire and sword, destined to eternal ruin unless a remedy be speedily afforded, and no longer able to endure their sufferings, had met together and taken the present King Robert for their King, who is prepared to restore the dignity of the kingdom, as many of its former Princes had done, by the power of the sword—any alleged previous acquiescence of the people in the claims of any other claimant having been obtained by force and violence, at that time impossible to resist—the Prelates and Clergy therefore, knowing the facts and heartily approving of the people's choice, do hereby promise fealty to King Robert and his heirs, for themselves and their successors. Given in the Scottish Council General, in the Church of the Friars Minor of Dundee, on the 24th of February 1309.

This document bears tags inscribed with the names of Aberdeen, Murray, Glasgow, Brechin, Dunkeld, Lismore, and another from which the name is torn, but the Bishops' seals seem never to have been placed upon them. Besides the tags still remaining, five others have originally been inserted, but are now gone. Original in Latin.

XVIII. A charter whereby King Robert I. of Scotland grants to Walter the Steward of Scotland, in free marriage with his daughter Marjory, the barony of Bathket, with the land of Ricardton, the barony of Rathew, the land of the Bernys, near Lythcu, with the land called "la Brome" contiguous thereto, the land of Bondington, with the land of Eryngarth near Lythcu, the land of Gallowhill near Lythcu, the annual rent of Cars Stryvillyn held of the King by the Abbot and Convent of Edinburgh, an annual rent of 100*s.* upon the land of Kynpunt and the land of Edynhame, in the shrievalty of Roxburgh, by service in such case due and accustomed. Witnessed by William Bishop of St. Andrews, William Bishop of Dunkeld, Nicholas Bishop of Dunblane, Bernard Abbot of Arbroath, Chancellor of Scotland; Patrick of Dunbar, Earl of March; Thomas Ranulph, Earl of Murray; Malcolm, Earl of Lennox; James, Lord of Douglas; Sir Gilbert of Hay, Constable of Scotland; Sir Robert of Keith, Marshal of Scotland, and others. No date [1312]. Original in Latin.

XIX. Chirograph of an agreement, whereby Thomas Abbot and the Convent of Scone lease to Edmund of Hay of the Leys, and William his son, all their land of Balgarvi, with the appurtenances, for the term of 30 years. To this counterpart of the chirograph the common seal of the chapter of Scone has been attached, but is now wanting. The instrument itself is in Latin, and is furnished with an occasional interlinear Scotch gloss. Date 1312.

XX. Writ of Privy Seal by the King to Sir Aymer de Valence, Earl of Pembroke, telling him that in consequence of the representation of Sir John Fitz Marmaduke, warden of Perth and others of his officers in Scotland, he has resolved to take the field in person, fearing lest he should lose the country which his father conquered by any laches of his own. The Earl therefore is to meet him at Berwick, with all the force he can muster, on the day of the Nativity of our Lady, Tuesday the 8th of September. Dated at Westminster, the 16th of June 1310. Original in Latin. This document belongs to the Public Record Office.

XXI. A charter whereby King Robert I. of Scotland grants to Sir Hugh of Ross, son and heir of William Earl of Ross, the shrievalty and borough of Crumbachy [Cromarty]. Witnessed by Bernard, Abbot of Arbroath, Chancellor of Scotland, Alexander, Steward of Scotland, Sir Gilbert of Hay, Sir Robert of Keth, and Sir Hugh of Erch, Knights, at Arbroath, on the 5th of December 1316. Original in Latin. This charter belongs to Major Rose, of Kilravock.

XXII. A charter whereby King Robert I. of Scotland grants to Sir James, Lord of Douglas, all the lands of Polbutthy in Moffatdale, by sole service of presenting twelve broad arrows yearly to the King. Witnessed by Bernard, Abbot of Arbroath, Chancellor of Scotland, Thomas Ranulph, Earl of Murray and Lord of Man, Sir Gilbert of Hay, Sir Robert of Keth, Sir John Wischard, and Sir Fergus Mareschal, at Arbroath, on the 15th of December 1319. Original in Latin. This charter belongs to Lord Home.

XXIII. A charter by King Robert I. of Scotland, confirming one by his brother Edward, King of Ireland, granting portions of land in Dalmakeran, Carr, Enach and Krevercrag to John of Carlton. King Edward's charter is witnessed by Sir Philip of Moubray, Sir Adam Moer, Sir John of Cnocdolian, Gilbert the son of Dosnald, Richard Edger, Colin the son of Duncan, John the son of Fergus, and others. King Robert's confirmation is witnessed by Bernard, Abbot of Arbroath, Chancellor of Scotland, Walter Steward of Scotland, Gilbert of Hay, Constable, and Robert of Keth, Marshal of Scotland, at Scone, on the 26th of July 1324. Original in Latin. This charter belongs to Sir John Cathcart of Carleton.

XXIV. A letter to Pope John XXII. from Duncan, Earl of Fife, Thomas Ranulph, Earl of Murray and Lord of Man and Annandale, Patrick of Dunbar, Earl of March, Malise, Earl of Strathern, Malcolm Earl of Lenox, William Earl of Ross, Magnus Earl of Caithness and Orkney, William Earl of Sutherland, Walter Steward of Scotland, William of Soules, Butler of Scotland, James Lord of Douglas, Roger of Mowbray, David Lord of Brechyn, David of Graham, Ingram of Umfranville, John of Menteith, Warden of the county of Menteith, Alexander Fraser, Gilbert of Hay, Constable of Scotland, Robert of Keth, Marshal of Scotland, Henry of St. Clair, John of Graham, David of Lindsay, William Olifaunt, Patrick of Graham, John of Fenton, William of Abirnithy, David of Wemys, William of Montefichet, Fergus of Ardrossan, Eustace of Maxwell, William of Ramsey, William of Montalt, Alan of Murray, Donald Campbell, John Cambrun, Reginald the Chen', Alexander of Seton, Andrew of Lescelyn, Alexander of Stratton, and other Barons and freetenants and the whole community of Scotland. This letter, after recapitulating the ancient glories of the Scottish nation from the remote period of its triumphant passage from Scythia by the Tyrrhenian sea and the Pillars of Hercules and its long and invincible hold in Spain against all the powers of the Barbarians; until 1200 years after the exodus of the people of Israel, having driven out the Britons and utterly exterminated the Picts in spite of the frequent invasions of the Norwegians, Danes, and English, it finally settled down in Scotland a victorious and free people; its long dynasty of native Kings unmixed with alien blood; its especial favour with the Almighty in being the first converted to his holy faith by St. Andrew, and its happy condition till its perfidious invasion by King Edward the First of England, under the guise of a friend and ally, had reduced it to a state of incredible misery; tells how Robert Bruce having risen like a second Maccabaeus or Joshua, and restored it to liberty, had been unanimously chosen to be their King, they being resolved as long as one hundred of them remain alive never to submit to the dominion of the English. They therefore pray his Holiness to interpose his authority between them and King Edward, who certainly ought to be satisfied with what he has got, seeing that formerly England was considered sufficient for seven Kings, and compel him to leave them in peace in poor Scotland "ultra quam habitatio non est." If the Pope will do this, they promise to fight in defence of the Holy Land, but if, lending a too credulous ear to the accounts given by the English, his Holiness should not place implicit credence in their version of the facts, and persist in favouring their enemies, they believe that all the slaughter of bodies, destruction of souls, and other mutual inconveniences that will ensue will be imputed to his fault by the Most High. Dated at the Monastery of Arbroath on the 6th of April 1320. Original in Latin. This document has been originally furnished with a large number of seals, but many of these have perished from decay. Twenty-one however still remain, among which those of Maxwell, Dunbar, Fraser, Murray, Stratherne, Hay, Lenox, Lamberton, Duraunt, Le Chen, Seton, Oliphant, Saules, Mowbray, Morham, and Graham, are in fair preservation. A handsome fac-simile of this record was made by Lizars in 1822, since which time it has evidently much deteriorated in condition; for portions which were then visible, have now entirely disappeared, parchment and all, from the effects, apparently, of damp.

XXV. A charter whereby King Robert I. of Scotland confirms a charter by King William the Lion, granting to the church and monks of St. Thomas Archbishop and Martyr, at Arbroath, the following lands and privileges. Arbroath with its church, appurtenances, and liberties, among which are included right of market every Saturday, and exemption of toll throughout Scotland for burgesses dwelling within the burgh; the vill and church of Athyn, Athynglas, the vill and church of Dunnechtyn, the vill and church of Kingoneldrum, the church of St. Mary of Old Monros, with the land called in Scotch, Abthen, belonging thereto, the churches of Neutyl, Benchoryn, Glamnes and Hautwesil in Tyndale, with common of pasture and all the easements to the parishes of the said churches belonging; a toft in each of the Royal boroughs and gists; licence of taking whatever may be necessary for their buildings and personal use in the Royal forests; a net upon the water of Perth which is called Stock; a net upon the water of Northesk near Monros; a saltwork near the King's saltworks in Kars at Stirling, with five acres of land and pasture and fuel sufficient for the same; free court in their lands, with sac and soc, tol and team and infangenethof, ordeal of iron and battle, fosse and gallows, free election of Abbot, and firm peace within the bounds of Arbroath.

The charter of King William is witnessed by Joseclin, Bishop of Glasgow, Andrew, Bishop of Caithness, A. Abbot of Dunfermline, Robert Abbot of Scone, Earl Duncan, Earl Gilbert, Earl Waldeve, Gillebride Earl of Angus, M. Earl of Athole, Earl Colban, Richard of Morville, Constable, Walter Olifard, Justiciar, Walter of Berkeley, Chamberlain, William of Mortimer, William of Lindsay, William of Hay, Alan son of Walter, Walter of Windsor, Robert of Berkeley, William son of Torald, Roger de Valanges, and John of Londyn. King Robert's confirmation is witnessed by William, Bishop of St. Andrews, William, Bishop of Dunkeld, Henry, Bishop of Aberdeen, John, Bishop of Brechin, John, Prior of St. Andrews, William, Abbot of Kalcou, Thomas Ranulph, Earl of Murray and Lord of Annandale and Man, Duncan Earl of Fife, Walter the Steward of Scotland, James Lord of Douglas, Gilbert of Hay, Constable of Scotland, Robert of Keth, Marshal of Scotland, Sir David of Berkeley, and Sir Andrew Gray, and is dated at Forfar, the 1st of December 1323. Original in Latin.

This document has a handsome silk tag appended, but no vestige of the seal remains, nor does the tag appear ever to have borne one. It belongs to the Earl of Dalhousie.

XXVI. The Scottish half of the treaty, afterwards ratified by the Parliament held at Northampton in May 1328, made between King Robert I. of Scotland on the one part, and Henry, Bishop of Lincoln, William, Bishop of Norwich, Henry Percy, William de la Zousche of Ashby, and Geoffrey Lescrope, the Commissioners of King Edward III., on the other part; whereby it is stipulated that there shall be a perpetual peace between the two kingdoms, for confirmation of which, a marriage shall take place between David, eldest son and heir of the King of Scotland, and Joanna, sister to the King of England. In the event of Joanna's death before marriage, the King of England engages to provide a suitable match for David from his nearest in blood; and in the event of David's death previous to the marriage, the King of England, his heirs and successors, are to be permitted to marry the next heir to the throne of Scotland, either to Joanna, if allowable by the laws of the Church, or to some other princess of the blood-royal of England. The two kings, with their heirs and successors, engage to be good friends and faithful allies in assisting each other, always saving to the King of Scots the ancient alliance between him and the King of France; and in the event of a rebellion against England in the kingdom of Ireland, or against Scotland in Man, Skye, or the other islands, the two kings mutually agree not to abet or assist their rebel subjects. All writings, obligations, instruments, or other muniments, relative to the subjection which the Kings of England have attempted to establish over the people and land of Scotland, and which are annulled by the letters patent of the King of England, as well as all other instruments and charters respecting the freedom of Scotland, as soon as they are found, are to be delivered up to the King of Scots; and the King of England expressly engages to give his assistance, in order that the processes of excommunication against Robert and his subjects, which have been carried through at the Court of Rome and elsewhere, shall be recalled and annulled. It is besides agreed on the part of the King, the prelates, and the nobles of Scotland, that the sum of 20,000*l.* sterling shall, within three years, be paid; at three separate terms; and in the event of failure the parties are to submit themselves to the jurisdiction of the Papal chamber. It is finally covenanted that the laws and regulations of the Marches are to be punctually adhered to by both monarchs.

Dated at Edinburgh, on the 17th of March 1237–8. Original in French. This treaty has originally borne the seals of the five English Commissioners, of which those of Percy and Scrope now alone remain; that of La Zousche having apparently perished within the last 30 years.

XXVII. Transcript of an indenture made on the 15th of [July 1326, between King Robert I. and the Earls, Barons, Freeholders, Burghs, and Commonalty of Scotland, whereby it is agreed that in consequence of the diminution of the property belonging to the Crown owing to the wars, the tenth penny of all farms and rents shall be granted, annually at the terms of St. Martin and Pentecost, to the King during his life, for the better enabling him to maintain the Royal estate. In return for this the King promises that from the term of the first payment made of the said tenth penny he will impose no collations, and take no carriage or prises, except in journeying through the kingdom after the manner of his predecessor King Alexander, when the same shall be paid for "super unguem." The above grant of a tenth penny to cease immediately upon the King's death, when everything is to revert to its former condition before the present grant was made. Dated at Edinburgh in the Parliament held there, beginning on the second Sunday in Lent, 1327.

This instrument is preserved in the Advocates' Library at Edinburgh, and is in Latin. The seal of Scotland has been attached, but is gone.

XXVIII. A charter whereby King Robert I. of Scotland grants to William of Irewyn all the Forest of the Drom—except those lands belonging to it which he has already granted to Alexander of Burnard—to hold by sole service of a yearly payment of one chaldron of oatmeal on St. Andrew's Day. Witnessed by Bernard, Abbot of Arbroath, Chancellor of Scotland; Walter, Steward of Scotland; Sir James, of Douglas; Sir Alexander Fraser, Chamberlain of Scotland, and Sir Alexander of Seton, at Kinross, on the 4th of October [1324]. Original in Latin. This charter belongs to A. F. Irvine, Esq., of Drum.

XXIX.—A letter written by King Robert I. of Scotland, on his death-bed, to his son Prince David, exhorting him, as he values his blessing, always to protect and support the monks of Melrose, in which monastery the King has ordered his heart to be buried. Dated at Cardros, on the 11th of May [1330]. Original in Latin.

XXX. A Bull by Pope John XXII. authorising the coronation and anointing of the Scottish Kings. Dated at Avignon, on the 13th of June 1328. Original in Latin. This Bull belongs to the Faculty of Advocates, Edinburgh.

XXXI. An extract from one of the Exchequer Rolls of Scotland, containing among others the following items, relating to the funeral of King Robert I., namely, 10*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*, for two horses for carrying the litter, 40*s.* for Eastland planks used in making the "capella" raised over King Robert's body on the day of his burial, and 28*l.* for the expenses of Sir David of Barclay, at Dunfermline, at the time when he was provisor of the King's funeral. It also contains items of legacies paid in pursuance of the Queen's will,—one of 66*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* to Elizabeth of Denton, the Queen's waiting woman; one of 10*s.* to William of the Napery, and one of 10*s.* to John Merymouth [1329]. Original in Latin.

XXXII. An extract from the Account Roll of William of Fordon, Clerk of the Wardrobe, rendered at Scone, on the 8th of March 1332. Original in Latin.

XXXIII. A charter whereby King David II. of Scotland grants to William of Irewyn all the lordship of Ureys, with an annual rent of ten marks issuing therefrom, which King Robert had formerly bestowed on Thomas de Carnoto upon the forfeiture thereof by John, Earl of Buchan, and which the said Thomas had lately surrendered to the King at Clackmannan. Witnessed by Adam, Bishop of Brechin, Chancellor of Scotland; Thomas Ranulph, Earl of Moray and Lord of Annandale and Man; Patrick of Dunbar, Earl of March; Sir Robert of Keith, Marshal of Scotland; Sir Gilbert, of Hay, Constable of Scotland; Sir Alexander Fraser, and Sir Robert of Lawedir, Justiciar of Lothian, at Brechin, on the 6th of February, in the second year of King Robert's reign. Original in Latin.

A fragment of the seal still remains attached to this charter, which is in fine preservation. It belongs to A. F. Irvine, Esq., of Drum.

XXXIV. A letter from Archibald of Douglas to King Edward III. He had received the King's letters on the last day of July at Brentile in Galloway, announcing his wish that the day of truce between him and Lord Percy should be prorogued beyond the term originally specified, namely, from Monday, the morrow of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin, until Monday after the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin next following, on account of Percy being so much engaged in the King's service as to be unable to appear on the day first named. Douglas willingly assents to this, but suggests that truces held on the Marches should be more effectually and more frequently recognised by certain of the King's nobles than they are at present; because it has often happened that the same Lord Percy—although well disposed to justice—has on other occasions frequently been prevented from personally attending by occupation in the King's affairs; and since the death of Ranulph of Neville, has found no other sufficient deputies to act for him. For Douglas has heard that the majority of those persons who now interfere as deputies are themselves abettors of many of the transgressors of the laws of the Marches, and support and maintain the worst of them in many ways. Dated at Brentile, on the feast of St. Peter ad Vincula [August 1, 1332]. Original in Latin.

This letter is preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii., f. 7.

XXXV. An indenture between Edward Baliol and Sir Richard Talbot, whereby Baliol delivers over to the said Talbot the Castle of Kyldromy with its appurtenances; Talbot engaging to take no part in any quarrel against him, unless by reason of his allegiance to the King of England, and to lend the said castle to Baliol whenever he may require it. Dated at Edinburgh, on the 17th of February 1333. Original in French. British Museum, Lord Frederick Campbell's Charters, xxx. 12.

XXXVI. An extract from the Chamberlain Roll of Scotland, 1337. This extract is interesting as containing the defences made by Adam, the deputy of Sir Reginald More, Lord Great Chamberlain of Scotland, against charges brought against him by his chief. It is also one of the few early Chamberlain Rolls of Scotland that have not been printed. Original in Latin.

XXXVII. An indenture between Edward Baliol and Sir Richard Talbot, testifying that the said Talbot is bound to Sir William of Montague in the sum of nine hundred and sixty marks sterling for the livery of the lands of Keth to the use of Sir Robert of Keth; a moiety thereof to be paid at Berwick at the Feast of St. Martin next ensuing, and the remaining moiety at Pentecost next following. And it is moreover further agreed between the said parties to this indenture, for certain covenants between them made, concerning the livery of the Castle of Kildromy in Mar, that Baliol shall pay one moiety and Talbot the other. Dated at Edinburgh, on the 17th of February 1333. Original in French. British Museum, Lord Frederick Campbell's Charters, xxx. 11. This document bears the signet seal used by Edward Baliol.

XXXVIII. A confirmation by Edward Baliol of a charter by John Baliol, granting to William of Silkesworth all the land of Balmutath, with its appurtenances, formerly belonging to William of Cromarty, clerk. John Baliol's charter is witnessed by John Comyn, Earl of Buchan, and Constable of Scotland, Donald, Earl of Mar, Malise, Earl of Strathern, Sir Ralph of Mowbray, and Sir Andrew Fraser, at Jed[burgh] on the 6th of April, in the 4th year of his reign. Edward Baliol's confirmation is witnessed by Sir Thomas Surtays, Sir Adam Percevale, Sir Henry of Haveryington, and others, at Bishops' Auckland, on Monday the Eve of St. Lawrence, in the 7th year of his reign [August 9, 1339]. Original in Latin. This document belongs to the Dean and Chapter of Durham.

XXXIX. Letters patent by Edward Baliol, acknowledging having received from the Prior of Durham on the 27th of October 1343 at London the sum of 16*l.* 15*s.* 4½*d.* Dated at London the day and year above mentioned. Original in French. This document belongs to the Dean and Chapter of Durham, and bears the seal of Edward Baliol, still nearly entire.

XL. A charter whereby Robert, Steward of Scotland, grants to Sir Adam of Foullarton, son and heir of Reginald, formerly Lord of Foullarton, all the lands of Foullarton and Gaylis, with the fishery and land which is called Trone, and an annual rent of four marks and a half from the land of Schawalton, payable at Pentecost and Martinmas—Joan, Elena, and Mariote, the daughters of the said Reginald, having surrendered all the rights to the same to the said Steward. Witnessed by John, the Steward's brother, William Semple, senior, Nigel of Carothers, the Steward's Chancellor, Ranulph of Crawforth, Fynlac son of Henry, and many others, at Irwyn, on the 13th of April 1344.

This document is very much discoloured by age and damp.

XLI. Confirmation by King David II. of Scotland of a charter granted by King William to the Monastery of St. Thomas the Martyr of Arbroath. This charter grants all the vill and church of Arbroath, with rights of burgh, port, and market in the same; exemption from toll and customs to burgesses; the vill and church of Athin, Athneglas; the vills and churches of Dunechtyn, Kyngoudrum; the church of St. Mary of Old Munros and the land belonging thereto, which is called in the Scottish language Abthen; the churches of Neutyle, Bencoryn, Glaumis, and Hautwisill in Tyndale, with common of pasture and all easements to the said parish belonging, and a full toft in all the King's burghs and gists; right of taking wood for buildings and other necessary uses in the Royal forests; a stock net on the waters of Perth and Northesk; a saltwork in Kars at Stirling, with five acres of wood, pasture, and fuel sufficient for the same; free court with sac and soc, tol and them, infangenthef, ordeal by fire and battle, fosse and gallows, free election of abbot, and firm peace within the bounds of Arbroath; and exemption from all aids and works to all tofts given to them by the King in all his burghs and manors throughout the land. It also specifies that no distraints shall be levied upon any of their vassals for any debts but their proper own; that all lands granted them by the King shall include common of pasture, and that all persons dwelling in the shires of Arbroath and Athin, not having a mill of their own, shall take their corn to be ground at the mill of Arbroath. It also grants to the said Monastery the church of Invernis, with the carucate of land thereto belonging, the churches of Abirkerdon, Inverbodin, Banef, Gameryn, Tharveis, Nug, Fivin, Cula in Mar, Katerin, Inverlunan, Pannebryd, Focthmef, with the 13 acres of land adjoining, which William Cumyn, the King's sheriff of Forfar, gave by his command, and the churches of Munyekin, Gucherin, and Abernethi, with the chapels, lands, tithes, oblations, common of pasture, and all other easements to the same churches belonging; a ferry boat at Munros, with the land to the same boat appertaining, formerly held by Helyas, the King's clerk; the wardenship of Brechbennoch and Forglint, a carucate of land in Munethen upon the water of Bervyn, measured out to them by the King's command by William of Munfort, Humphrey of Berkeley, Walter the Scot, Alan son of Symon, and others. The King also confirms the grants made to them of the church of Turfred by Margery, Countess of Buchan, the church of Inverugyn by Ralph Naym, the church of Kynnerun by Thomas the Door-ward, the church of Inverkeled by Walter of Berkeley, the churches of Monifod, Mans, Kerim, and Stechtyn by Gilchrist, Earl of Angus, the church of Aberkelot by Roger, Bishop of St. Andrews, and the church of Rothven by Robert of London, with all chapels, lands, tithes, oblations, common of pasture, and all other easements to the same churches belonging. He likewise confirms the following grants made to them of the land of Belphe by Humphrey of Berkeley, the land of Glesker by John of Munfort, two bovates of the land called Rath, in the territory of Katerin, by William son of Bernard, two bovates of land in Rossin by Hugh son of Hugh Malherbe, the land of Munethen by Philip de Malevill and Eva his wife, which land had been given by Walter son of Sibald to the said Philip as the marriage portion of the said Eva his daughter; the land and fishery at Portincrag, granted them by Gilchrist, Earl of Angus, which land the father of the said Gilchrist had given to found a hospital, the land between Ethkar and Kalledover granted them by Thomas Thancard, the land of Ballegillegrande by Donald, Abbot of Brechin, the land of Mudurnachyn by Roger of St. Michael, a yearly offering of one silver mark by Earl Fergus of Buchan, a toft and croft in the vill of Strancathar, and two acres of the land thereto belonging, by Turpin, Bishop of Brechin, a tenth of the net granted them by the King in the water of Northesk, the whole wood of Trostauch by Thomas, the King's door-ward, a carucate of land in Kinalcmund by David, the King's brother. The King also confirms the agreement made in the dispute between him, Brice, Bishop of Moray, and Gilchrist, Earl of Mar, concerning the right of patronage of the church of Aberkirdon, namely, that each has conceded their right in the same to the Monastery of Arbroath, the grant made to them by John son of Malise of taking coal in his wood of Edale, a toft in Forfar by Hugh, the Chancellor, a toft in Forfar by Andrew, Bishop of Caithness, and half a mark in the fishery of Ur by Malise, son of Earl Ferteth. King William's charter is witnessed by Prince Alexander, the King's son, Henry, Abbot of Kelso, William of the Wood, Chancellor, Philip de Valonges, Chamberlain, John of Maccuswill, Robert, the King's chaplain, Robert of St. Germans, and Gilbert of Stirling, the King's clerks, Master Martin and Master Ralph, doctors, Jordan Cumyn and Walter Cumyn, at Selkirk, on the 25th of February. King David's confirmation is witnessed by Alexander, Bishop of Aberdeen, Adam, Bishop of Brechin, Roger, Bishop of Ross, Alexander, Abbot of Dunfermline, John, Abbot of Cupar, and Adam Abbot of Lundors, Duncan, Earl of Fife, Robert of Keith, Marshal of Scotland, David of Hay, Constable of Scotland, Sir Malcolm Flemying, and Sir Philip of Melgdrum, at Arbroath, on the 17th of June in the 13th year of King David's reign. [1341.] Original in Latin.

This fine charter, which belongs to Lord Dalhousie, is in excellent preservation, and is a beautiful specimen of penmanship. The Great Seal of Scotland no longer exists on the tag to which it was originally appended, but a coloured striped silken curtain with a fringe is still attached to the charter, from which unusual appendage it has been sometimes called "The veiled Charter of Arbroath."

XLII. Pages 44*a* and 45 of the volume called the "Black Book," containing an extract from the proceedings of the parliament met at Scone on the 20th of July 1366, to deliberate upon the negotiation of a treaty of peace with England, the payment of the King's ransom, and the expenses of his own and his envoys' visits to England. In this parliament it was resolved that the Bishop of St. Andrews, Sir Robert of Erskine, Master Walter of Wardlow [Archdeacon of Lothian], and Gilbert Armstrong, should be appointed Commissioners to negotiate a treaty upon the same basis as that previously settled [by the parliament held at Perth in 1365]; failing which they were to treat for the prolongation of the truces for twenty-five years, the balance of the ransom money still remaining unpaid to be paid off in yearly instalments of 4,000*l.* That as the value of church and lay property in the kingdom had been as yet imperfectly ascertained, an exact estimate was to be made of the value of all the land and goods of the whole kingdom, a tax levied upon all goods of burghers and husbandmen, except white sheep, and the returns sent in to the Council at Edinburgh before the Feast of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin next ensuing, in order that the necessary sum of 8,000 marks might be raised without delay. Until the Commissioners' return from England the payment of the 4,000*l.* ransom money was to be made out of the dues of the great customs, after which it was to be paid out of the general tax; from which source also was to be levied the further sum of 2,000 marks, one half of which to go to the payment of the King's debts, and the other to the disbursement of the Commissioners' expenses. This sum was to be raised on security, as it was wanted immediately, to wit, 1,000 marks from the barons, 600 from the clergy, and 400 from the burgesses, the sureties being Sir Robert of Erskine and Sir Walter of Biggar; and it was expressly ordered that no portion of the money thus voted by the parliament should be applied to any other use whatever. It was also ordained that justice should be done to all without favour or respect of persons; that no writs issuing from the Chancery or any other court in the course of justice should be revocable by any other writs under any other seal, but that the officers to whom they were originally issued should administer justice undisturbed and return them endorsed; that churchmen and their lands should enjoy their liberties and privileges and be subjected to no impost, except such as should be granted by parliament, and that any obstructer of the assessment of tithes should be kept in order under penalty of excommunication of the Church and a fine of 10*l.* to the Crown. Nothing should be taken from the lieges for the King's use without prompt payment, nor should any prises be levied except such as were due by custom; for which also payment was to be made within the usual time. The rebels in Athol, Argyle, Badenoch, Lochaber, and Ross, and in any other portion of the King's northern dominions, were to be arrested and compelled to submit, pay their share of the general contribution, and undergo such punishment as should be deemed best for the common weal. All officers of the King, such as sheriffs and others, should be obedient to their superiors under pain of irrevocable dismissal from their offices. No persons were to be allowed to subsist with horses at the expense of any churchman or husbandmen, or to consume the produce of the husbandmen under the penalty set out for the punishment of such offence according to the proportions of the offence and the quality of the transgression. Original in Latin.

This extract is especially interesting, as showing an early development of constitutional principles among the Scottish people. The parliament granting supply and exercising the right of laying down restrictions and conditions as to its application.

XLIII. An extract from the Roll of the Scotch Parliament held at Scone in the summer of 1368, showing the exercise at an early period by parliament of the functions of a Court of Appeal, and still further interesting as giving some idea of the form of process used in such cases. Original in Latin.

XLIV. Letters patent by King Robert II. of Scotland, appointing Sir Archibald of Douglas one of his ambassadors to the Court of France to renew and amplify a treaty of amity made in times past, and which had long subsisted between France and Scotland. Dated at Scone, on the 29th of March 1371. Original in Latin.

XLV. A letter from the Earl of Douglas to King Richard II., complaining that John Mercer, his vassal, having been driven on the English shore by force of weather, had been seized and imprisoned by the Earl of Northumberland, and requesting that the King will order his immediate release, the said John being ready to appear and defend himself from any charge of trespass or misdeed on the next March day. With respect to the matter of Thomas Mercer, his clerk, concerning whom he has already written to his Majesty, he now states that the losses, damages, and costs sustained by him during his arrest, without taking into consideration "his tribulations, "annoyances, and wrongs," amount to two hundred marks sterling and more, which the Earl begs may either be repaid in due manner or his accusers be summoned to appear on the said March day to substantiate the charge before the King's deputies. Dated on the 16th of November [1376]. Original in French.

This letter is signed "Le Conte de Douglas et de . . . . . re." Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii., f.

XLVI. A writ of Privy Seal by King Robert II. of Scotland to King Richard II., acknowledging the receipt of King Richard's letter on the 20th of November, informing him that the Scotch Commissioners have refused to accept either of the places named by the English for the conference appointed to be held between the Nobles of both countries for the redress of grievances. In answer to this King Robert replies that he has heard from his Commissioners that they offered Rewele as a proper place of meeting, it having been often used as such on occasions of important conferences between Commissioners of high estate of both countries, but that the offer had been rejected on account of the alleged danger of the spot in the event of a flood; whereupon the Scotch Commissioners had offered to cross the water and hold the meeting on the other side, or to change it for Gamelspeth or Redeswyne, or any other place upon the Marches. The place named by the English, being unfit for the purpose as not upon the Marches and long unused for holding March days thereon, had been very properly rejected by the Scotch Commissioners. As to the refusal of the Earl of March to take the oath to keep the truce, King Robert has commanded him to do so, as well as all those of his subjects who ought to take it, and requests King Richard will do the same with his people, namely, the Bishops of Durham and Carlisle, the Earl of Northumberland, the Lords of Neville and Clifford, the Baron of Graystock, the Lords of Harrington and Dacre, and the Captains of Berwick, Carlisle, and Roxburgh. And moreover as the English wardens are often changed, King Robert complains that they will never grant redress for notorious violations of the truce unless actually committed during the period they have severally held the office, so that many offences are committed during the wardenship of some wardens for which their successors will give no reparation whatever. The Scotch wardens on the contrary are ready to redress any trangressions committed by their countrymen, and always will be so if the English will do the like, as he has before informed King Richard by his letters, especially those touching Sir Henry Percy, to which letters he has as yet received no answer. He now again repeats that his subjects on the Marches are killed, maimed, and imprisoned without any cause, and notoriously in defiance of the truce, for which and other offences committed by the English he calls upon King Richard as he has sworn to keep the truce, to see that the truce is kept by his subjects, compelling his wardens to punish any violation of the same in like manner as he has commanded his own wardens to do. Dated at Edinburgh Castle, on the 26th of November [1380]. Original in French.

Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii., f. 33.

XLVII. Writ by Robert, Earl of Fife and Menteith, Warden and Chamberlain of Scotland, to the Customers of Edinburgh, Haddington, and Dunbar, ordering exemption from customs in favour of the Abbot and Convent of Melrose, in pursuance of a charter granted by King David and confirmed by King Robert, the Earl's father. Dated at Edinburgh, on the 26th of May 1389.

This writ, which is in such bad condition as to be nearly illegible, is written in the Scotch dialect. It belongs to the Duke of Buccleuch.

XLVIII. A confirmation by King Robert III. of Scotland, of a confirmation by King Robert II. of a charter by King David to the Abbot and Monastery of Holyrood, granting them a tenth of all the King's pleas and profits from the water of Avyne as far as Colbrandispeth within the shrievalty of Edinburgh, and a moiety of the King's tenth of his cane, and his pleas and profits of Kentire and Ergeyle. King Robert II.'s confirmation is witnessed by William, Bishop of St. Andrews, John, Bishop of Dunkeld, Chancellor of Scotland, John, the King's eldest son, Earl of Carrick and Steward of Scotland, Robert, the King's son, Earl of Fife and Mentieth, William, Earl of Douglas and Mar, Sir James of Lindsay, the King's grandson, and Sir Robert of Erskine, at Edinburgh, on the 25th day of June, in the 12th year of his reign. That of King Robert III. is witnessed by Walter, Bishop of St. Andrews, Matthew, Bishop of Glasgow, Robert, Earl of Fife and Menteith, the King's brother, Archibald, Earl of Douglas and Lord of Galloway, Sir James of Douglas, Lord of Dalkeith, Sir Thomas of Erskine, and Alexander of Cockburn, of Langton, Keeper of the Great Seal, at Edinburgh, on the 5th of April in the 1st year of his reign. Original in Latin.

There are now no remains of the Great Seal of King Robert III., originally attached to this charter.

XLIX. A letter from Annabella, Queen of Robert III. of Scotland, to King Richard II. Her Majesty thanks King Richard for his loving letters presented to her by Douglas, the Herald, and signifies her own and King Robert's approval of the treaty proposing a marriage between some one of King Edward's near of kin, and one of their children, and also of the postponement of the day fixed for the said treaty until the 1st of October next ensuing. Her Majesty begs that King Richard will not be displeased at the delay in answering his letters, for she has been lying in childbirth, and is now happily delivered of a male child, named James, and moreover owing to her husband's absence in the remote islands of his dominions, she had not received the letters until the day before. Dated at Dunfermline Abbey, on the 1st of August 1394. Original in French. Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii., f. 39.

L. An extract from the record of the Scotch Parliaments, known as the "Haddington MS.," relating to the levy of a general contribution of 2,000*l.* for the dispatch of the message and the treaties to France and England; and to the complaints made by the Queen of Scotland about her yearly pension of 2,500 marks, in pursuance of the King's letters patent from the customs of sundry boroughs. Original in Scotch English.

LI. A letter from Prince David of Scotland to the Duke of Lancaster. He has seen and heard what the Duke and the Bishop of St. Andrews advise shall be done with regard to the matter upon which they have consulted together, and will report the same to the King, his father, according to whose pleasure he will proceed to carry the same into effect in the manner and at the time recommended by the Duke, or sooner if such can well be done. Dated at Melrose, on the 17th of March [1398]. Original in French.

This letter is signed, "David, aisne fils du Roy Descoce, Conte de Carryk," and bears the Prince's seal. It is preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii., f. 72.

LII. The Countess of March to King Henry IV., thanking him for all his gracious acts of kindness, and especially for the "gracious refresshemente" which he has lately sent her. Her husband, the Earl, and herself have suffered great hardships and distress since they were driven from their country, and she herself is so deeply in debt as to have no hope of extricating herself from her difficulties without the King's aid, added to which, the pestilence is raging to such an extent where they are staying, that she fears she shall die in this debt, as they can make no terms with their enemies, to be allowed to repair to their fortress of Colbrandespeth, and remain there till the mortality has ceased. They have moreover incurred such great hostility on account of Sir Henry Percy's death, that the Earl has often been threatened with death himself by Percy's people, unless he quits the country. With regard to the capture of their people by those of the Earl of Douglas, the Countess prays that his Majesty will give credence to the bearer of this letter, and order such redress to be made as he shall think fit. No date [about 1404]. Original in French.

This letter is signed "Vostre humble oratrice, la Countesse de la Marche Descoce." It is preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii., f. 104.

LIII. A letter from the Earl of March to King Henry IV., complaining that he has been greatly wronged by the Duke of Rothesay, who after having been betrothed to his daughter, has now married another wife, and requesting the King's aid as one of his kin, to redress this foul insult offered to him and his daughter. For this purpose the Earl begs that either the Lord Furnivall, or the Earl of Westmoreland may be dispatched to the Marches to confer with him on the subject, and that his Majesty will send him a safe-conduct for himself and a hundred knights, with esquires, servants, goods, horses and harness, to last till the Feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist. As the Earl claims to be of kin with King Henry, and his Majesty may peradventure not be aware of the fact, he informs him that if Dame Alice, the Bowmont, was his Majesty's granddame, Dame Marjory Comyne, her full sister, was his granddame on the other side, so that he is but of the fourth degree of kin to him, which in olden time was considered near. He concludes by begging the King not to be surprised at his writing in English, as it is more clear to his understanding than Latin or French. Dated at the Castle of Dunbar, on the 18th of February [1400]. Original in Scotch English.

This letter is signed "Le Counte de la Marche Descoce." Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii., f. 22.

LIV. A letter from James, Earl of Douglas, Warden of the Marches, to [King Henry IV.], acknowledging the receipt of his Highness' letters by the Abbot of Calkow, demanding redress for the burning of Berwick, and other places within the realm of England. To which the Earl replies that if his Excellence was clearly informed of the burning, slaughter, and capture of men and ships committed by his men against the Scots, for which the King of Scotland has vainly asked redress, he would rather call them the breakers of the truce than him the Earl, who has so long put up with so much injury, and got no amends. For long before the burning of Berwick, the English had invaded the King of Scotland's own proper lands of Arran, and Ile malash [Lamlash, or Holy Island], burnt his chapel and divers other places there, seized and ransomed the Captain of his Castle of Brathwike, slain his son, and harried all they could take, besides capturing ships and merchants in defiance of the truce. And whereas the King says that Berwick, which stands in Scotland, but which the King calls his, and other places in England, had been burnt by the Earl's people with his consent, contrary to his oath,—Douglas answers, that whenever it shall please the King of Scotland and King Henry to order redress to be made on either side, he will with the help of God make it plainly appear that he has truly kept his oath and the truce. Whoever it is that has informed the King, it would have been fairer that he should have enclosed his complaints to Earl Douglas himself, under his seal, and have received answer in like manner, than make such false statements in his absence, for the Earl believes that he has said more behind his back, than ever he dare avow before his face; adding "for nocht displece yhour honour, learys sulde be lytille alowit wyth "ony sic worschipfull Kinge as zhe ar." In further reply to the King's statement that he desires rather amends for attempts done against the truce, than that any more harm should ensue,—Douglas answers, that when the King's letters were delivered to him, King Robert was away in the North part of Scotland, whither the letters were dispatched to him with all haste, and although no answer had yet been received, he had caused proclamation to be made in divers places, that the truce was to be observed, believing that the same would be done by the other side as well; whereas after the said proclamation had been made, the Englishmen had ridden into Scotland in great force, and harried Lauderdale, Teviotdale, and part of Ettrick Forest. For all this redress has been demanded, and none given. If, therefore, King Henry wants the truce to stand, it lies with him to take means for chastising transgressors, and making amends for past wrongs, and that betimes; and the Earl requests that his Majesty will certify him of his intention in the matter by letter in all goodly haste. Dated at Edinburgh, on the 26th of July [1405]. Original in Scotch English.

This letter is signed "James of Douglas, wardane of the Marche." The seal, under which it is said to have been written, no longer remains, though the letter itself is in fine condition. Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii., f. 17.

LV. A letter from Robert, Duke of Albany, to King Henry IV., appealing for redress for the capture of a ship bound from Flanders to St. Andrews, and freighted with a cargo valued at 1,000*l.* sterling, within the limits of the King of Scotland's jurisdiction, by an armed barge manned by Englishmen, contrary to the truce last sworn between the two Sovereigns. And commending to his Majesty's notice and favour Thomas Ra and his associates, who will present themselves before him on this business. Dated at Stirling, on the 10th January [1405]. Original in Latin.

This letter is signed "Robertus, Dux Albaniæ, Comes du Fyffe et de Menteth, frater germanus Domini Regis Scotiæ et ipsius locumtenens generalis." Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii.

LVI. A letter from Henry, Bishop of St. Andrews, to King Henry IV., on the same subject as the preceding. The Bishop states that he has already applied to Sir Robert Umfranville, Captain of Berwick, but had neither obtained any redress nor did he hope to get any at his hands. King Robert, the Duke of Albany, the Earl of Crawford, and David Fleming have also written to King Henry, and the Bishop prays that his Majesty will order ample reparation to be made for this unlawful violation of the truce sworn between the two kingdoms. Dated at St. Andrews, on the 10th January [1405]. Original in Latin.

This letter is signed "Henricus, Episcopus Sancti Andreæ." Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii., f. 110.

LVII. A letter from Robert, Duke of Albany, to King Henry IV., thanking him for his favourable reception and honourable treatment of his son, Murdoch Stewart, and acknowledging the receipt of his letters by Rothesay the Herald and King of Arms, through whom his Majesty notifies his readiness to act with regard to the release of the said Murdoch in such a manner that Albany should be well contented, providing that Albany will send certain of his people to his Majesty. He thanks his Majesty for his gracious conferences upon this and other matters relating to the state of both kingdoms with the said Rothesay, who has been hitherto unavoidably prevented from attending his Majesty as he had promised, but whom he now again dispatches to his presence upon the same subject, and also to inform his Majesty that the March day in February last, appointed for negotiating a treaty between the English and Scotch Commissioners, had, through some unlooked-for misfortune, resulted in a complete failure. Dated at Falkland, on the 2nd of June [1405]. Original in Latin.

This letter is signed "Vester si placeat consanguineus Robertus, Dux Albaniæ, germanus Regis Scotiæ et ipsius locumtenens generalis." Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Vespasian, F. vii.

LVIII. Letters patent by King Henry IV., addressed to all his captains, castellans, wardens of castles and other fortalices, sheriffs, mayors, bailiffs, constables, and other ministers, proclaiming that he has taken under the Royal protection the Abbot and Convent of Melrose, and commanding that no injury or molestation be done them, and that if any victuals be required to be furnished by the said abbey for provisioning the soldiers of Roxburgh Castle, the same are to be promptly and duly paid for. Dated at Raby, on the 20th of July 1405. Original in Latin.

A tolerably large fragment of the Great Seal of England still remains attached to this document, which belongs to the Duke of Buccleuch.

LIX. A grant to Brian Bicaire MacGee (Mackay) of eleven marks and half of land in Islay, by MacDonnell, who engages to defend the said Brian and his heirs for ever in the possession thereof, with their fruits of sea and land, on condition that Brian and his heirs shall give yearly to MacDonnell and his heirs four cows fit for killing for his house, or in case these cannot be obtained, 42 marks instead. Dated on the 6th of May 1408. Signed by MacDonnell, and witnessed by John MacDonnell, Pat MacBrian, Ferghus MacBeath, and Hugh Mackei.

No. 6.—Chronological List of Scottish Documents, &c.—continued.

This document, which is written in the Gaelic (Irish) language and character, is in very bad condition. The parchment upon which it is written is thick and coarse, and as brown as mahogany. The grantor is supposed to be Donald MacDonnell, Lord of the Isles, the hero of Harlaw, and his signature is remarkably bold and characteristic. The grant belongs to Mr. J. Magee, co. Antrim.

LX. Letters patent by Archibald, Earl of Douglas and Lord of Galloway, keeper of the lands and rents of the priory of Coldingham, granting to Alexander of Home, his substitute and under-keeper of the same, a yearly sum of 20*l.* of the usual money of Scotland, payable out of the pension of 100*l.*, due to himself from the revenue of the said priory. Dated at London, on the 28th of October 1406. Original in Scotch-English.

This document, which bears a remarkably fine impression of the Earl of Douglas' seal, belongs to the Dean and Chapter of Durham.

LXI. An indenture made at Stirling, on the 8th of November 1408, between Robert, Duke of Albany, Earl of Fife and Menteith and Governor of Scotland, and Sir Gilbert Kennedy, Lord of Dunure, setting forth that whereas the said Sir Gilbert has granted joint feoffment of the lands and castle of Dunure, the lands of Kyllinkelle, Tonergeth, and Gervane, and the patronage of the chapel of Maboyle, within the earldom of Carrick, to Dame Agnes his wife for her life, and after both their deaths has devised the same to his nephew John Kennedy, son and heir of James Kennedy and his heirs male, failing whom to his brother Gilboun Kennedy and his heirs male, failing whom to their brother James Kennedy and his heirs male, failing whom to Alexander Kennedy, son of the said Sir Gilbert and Dame Agnes, and his heirs male, failing whom to Huchoun Kennedy, brother of the said Alexander, and his heirs male, failing whom to John Kennedy, brother of the said Alexander, and his heirs male, failing whom to Thomas Kennedy, brother of the said John, and his heirs male, failing whom to David Kennedy, brother of the said Thomas, and his heirs male, and failing all of whom to the nearest and lawful heirs of the said Sir Gilbert whoever they be, to be had and held in fee and heritage of the Earl of Carrick and his heirs, in form and effect and by such service of the said Sir Gilbert and his predecessors held them of the Earls of Carrick in times bygone. Therefore the said Lord Governor has granted and promised for himself and his heirs to the said Gilbert and Dame Agnes and their heirs, that neither he nor his heirs will revoke the said joint feoffment or entail, or cause any disturbance thereof whatever in time to come. In consideration whereof the said Sir Gilbert, for himself and his heirs, succeeding to the said lands by virtue of the said entail, has made his dwelling and special retinue with the said Lord Governor and his heirs, being Lords of Carrick, for the time of their lives. Original in Scotch-English.

This indenture, usually termed a bond of maintenance or manrent, bears a very fine and nearly perfect impression of the Duke of Albany's seal. It belongs to the Marquis of Ailsa.

LXII. Letters patent of King James I. of Scotland, confirming charters granting to Sir William of Douglas of Drumlanrig the lands of Drumlanrig, Hawick, and Selkirk. Dated at Croydon, on the 30th November 1412. Original in Scotch-English.

This document is written by King James' own hand, and bears traces of the impression of his signet seal, remarkable for the curious cruciform shape which it is made to assume.

It belongs to the Duke of Buccleuch.

LXIII. A Bull by Benedict XIV. (Antipope), confirming the foundation of the University of St. Andrew's. Dated at Peñiscola, in the diocese of Tortosa, on the 28th August 1413. Original in Latin.

This Bull belongs to the University of St. Andrew's.

LXIV. The first page of the volume, entitled "Acta Rectorum Universitatis Sancti "Andreæ," headed "Acta facultatis artium ab initio studii fundati et privilegiati "per Benedictum Papam, Anno Domini 1413." Original in Latin.

This book also belongs to the Library of St. Andrew's University.

LXV. An Act of Parliament of King James I. of Scotland, met at Perth on the 26th of May 1424, settling the disputed claims of William Brown, monk of Dunfermline, and William Drax, monk of Durham, to the priory of Coldingham, in favour of the latter, and ordering him to put the said priory, which had been burnt and destroyed by the English, into proper repair, and see that divine service be duly performed therein according to the means thereof. Dated at Perth, on the 2nd of June 1424. Original in Latin.

A fragment only of the great seal of Scotland now remains attached to this document, which belongs to the Dean and Chapter of Durham.

LXVI. Letters patent by King Henry V., acknowledging the receipt from King James I. of Scotland, by the hands of Richard Bokeland, Treasurer of Calais, of 1,000 marks, in part payment of a larger sum due to him from King James. Dated at Westminster, on the 25th of July 1416. Original in Latin.

Preserved in the Public Record Office.

LXVII. Letters obligatory by King James I. of Scotland, acknowledging himself to be bound to the burghs of Edinburgh, Perth, Dundee, and Aberdeen in the sum of 50,000 marks, for which they had become security upon his deliverance from captivity. Dated at Durham, on the 26th of March 1424. Original in Latin.

There is a fine impression of King James' seal attached to this document, which belongs to the Burgh of Aberdeen.

LXVIII., LXIX., LXX. A map of Scotland, in three parts, by John Hardyng, from a MS. of his chronicle.

The first of these describes the Lowlands, the second the Highlands, and the third Sutherland and Caithness. This last also contains a representation of a castle, surrounded on all sides by the four "infernal flodes" of Styx, Acheron, Phlegethon, and Cocytus, and designated "The Palais of Pluto, King of Hell, neighbore to Scotts."

Preserved in the Bodleian Library, Selden MSS., B. 10. (3356).

LXXI. A holograph letter from King James II. of Scotland to King Henry VI., in favour of Sir David Guthre, Justiciary of Scotland, whom he has despatched to his Majesty on business of importance touching both kingdoms. Dated at Edinburgh, on the 11th of March [1450], and signed "Jacobus." Original in Latin. Preserved in the British Museum, Addit. MSS. 21505, f. 6.

LXXII. A notarial instrument, being a letter of retinue by Sir John Kennedy of Blancharne, and John his son and heir apparent, to Sir Gilbert Kennedy of Dunure. Dated at Cassillis, "near the Great Garden about the eighth hour after noon" of the 2nd of July 1444. Original in Latin.

This document belongs to the Marquis of Ailsa.

LXXIII. A page of Wyntoun's chronicle, containing the autograph and shield of arms of William le Neve, York Herald. Original in Scotch-English.

Preserved in the British Museum, Cotton. MSS., Bib. Reg. No. 16, D. xx.

LXXV. Two pages of Barbour's "Lives of the Saints." Original in Scotch-English. Preserved in the Cambridge University Library, G. g. ii. 6.

LXXVI. Instructions to Sir Alexander Napier of Merchistone, as Ambassador from King James III. of Scotland, to the Duke of Burgundy. Signed by King James. Original in Scotch-English.

This document, as given in the series of facsimiles, forms one page of a very valuable volume of family papers belonging to Lord Napier.

LXXVII. Two pages from the book of Treasurer's Accounts of Scotland for the year 1473-4, containing items paid in connection with the embassy to London and the purveyance of "carts of war," as artillery was then called. Original in Scotch-English.

LXXVIII. Letters patent by Andrew Williamson, of which the following is a literal translation:—"To all men who this letter see or hear, Andrew Williamson sends God's greeting and his own, making known by this my letter-patent that I have sold to that worshipful man, Simon Hognasson, one rental mark in the land which lies in Valhol, from under me and my heirs, under the aforementioned Simon and his heirs in perpetual possession. Moreover I acknowledge that I have received the first penny and the last and all there between, so that I am well satisfied, that is to say, six florins [worth] in linen for this mark. And whereas I have no seal myself I have requested the worshipful men who are named Magnus Olausson and Olaf Arnasson to append their seals, for my prayer's sake, to this deed, which was executed in Unst, Anno Domini 1465." Original in Norse.

LXXIX. A letter from King James III. of Scotland to the Duke of Burgundy, praying the release of Master Archibald of Knollis, grandson of Thomas, Bishop of Aberdeen, who, while journeying through the Duke's dominions with the King's letters on a mission to the Head of the Præmonstratensian Order at St. Quintin, for the purpose of procuring the promotion of one of King James' subjects to the Priory of Candida Casa [Whithorn, founded by St. Ninian at the beginning of the 5th century. The church is specially mentioned by Bede as being the first that was built of stone, from which circumstance it was called "Candida Casa"] had fallen into the hands of some armed Burgundians, by whom he had been robbed of his money, clothes, and letters, and thrown into prison, where he had already lingered for nearly a year. Dated at Edinburgh, on the 12th of November [about 1474] and signed by King James. Original in Latin.

Preserved in the British Museum, Addit. MSS. 21505, f. 8.

LXXX. Two pages of Bishop Elphinstone's History of Scotland. Original in Latin. On the second page is a note that the volume was given by Mr. James Drummond to Colonel Fairfax on the 17th of December 1650, under which is the following remark, written and signed by Colonel Fairfax—"Itt was sent me by the Lady Hathornden, widdow to the famous poet William Drummond, by the hands of her husband's brother, viz. Mr. James Drummond here superscribing." Under this again, initialed by Fairfax, is written—"By the last leafe in this booke itt seems this booke before the desolution of abbays in Scotland did belonge to the Monastery of Dumfermeline (Bishop Elphanston beinge the author). Note that the Earle of Dumfermelin tould mee in the yeare 1657 that he had a very faire aincient Manuscript of the History of Scotland, formerly belonginge to that Monastery, but I did never see itt. I believe t'was transcribed out of this."

Preserved in the Bodleian Library, Fairfax, 8.

LXXXI. A page of Fordun's Scotichronicon. Original in Latin.

At the foot of the page is a note that it was given to the College of Aberdeen by Master Hector Boece, first Principal of the same.

Preserved in the Library of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge.

LXXXII. Two pages of Barbour's Bruce, describing the Battle of Bannockburn. Original in Scotch-English.

Preserved in the Library of St. John's College, Cambridge, G. 23.

LXXXIII. A page of Fordun's Scotichronicon. Original in Latin.

In the lower margin of this page is a very curious pen-and-ink drawing, representing the Scotch race "in primis cunabulis." According to the chronicle of the Picts and Scots, there dwelt in Athens during the lifetime of St. Brandane, Abbot and Confessor, a noble knight, whose son Gaidelus (by some called the son of Cecrops, by some the son of Argus), had taken to wife Scota, the daughter of Pharaoh, King of Egypt, by whom he had fair offspring. Gaidelus being of a chivalrous nature, and having won over the youth of his country to accompany him, put to sea in a ship, with his wife and children, in search of conquest, and arriving at Spain, landed there and built a strong castle, which he called Brians, on a high mountain, overlooking the Hibernian Sea. Here they all lived on rapine committed upon the peasants of the country, till one day, some of their party being driven home from fishing by a tempest, announced that they had perceived by the floating of flowers, thistles, and other signs that there was land near beyond the sea. Upon this information Gaidelus and his sons, who were called Scoti after their mother Scota, once more put to sea, this time in three ships, and having sailed some distance, landed on a large island well wooded and watered but thinly peopled, shortly after, as it was imagined, that Gurguyns, the son of Belin, King of Britain, had given the island to some foreign people of Spain, whom he had found in Orkney on his way from Denmark. Gaidelus then returned to Brigans, intending to revisit and take possession of his newly-discovered island; but being seized with a grievous sickness which he felt must prove mortal, he delegated the task to his sons. This was executed by them, and they called the island Hibernia, either from Eberus the eldest son, or from the Eberian sea, as it was called by the Spaniards. But the surname Scoti remained with the other sons and their issue for a long time in that island, which by the Scots was called Ireland; from which place in process of time some of their descendants migrated to Scotland. In another chronicle Gaidelus or Gayelglas, the son of Neolins, King of Athens, is said to have been sent in the time of Moses, by his father, with many followers to help his allies, the Egyptians, against the Ethiops, and having discomfited them, Pharaoh gave him in reward his only daughter, Scota, from whom the Scots afterwards took their name, as the Gaels did theirs from her husband. And Giraldus Cambrensis, in his "Topographia Hiberniæ," says that a certain Gaidelus, a grandson of Phenius, after the confusion of tongues at the Tower of Babel, showed himself so skilled in various languages that Pharaoh married him to his daughter, Scocia, and that the Irish took their original tongue from them and were called Gaels and Scots after their respective names.

The drawing on this page seems to represent Gaidelus and Scota with their children and followers, bidding adieu to Egypt, and setting out on their expedition. They are all crowded together in a small vessel, Scota and the children, in whose countenances wonder is curiously blended with alarm, being seated in the stern, while Gaidelus in armour with a helmet and battle axe, is apparently superintending the hoisting of the sail.

LXXXIV. Another page of Fordun, containing the commencement of a description of the coronation of King Alexander III. of Scotland. Original in Latin. Fordun relates that on Tuesday, the 8th of March [1249], the day of his father's death, King Alexander, then only eight years old, attended by a very great number of the nobility, among whom where David of Bernham, Bishop of St. Andrews, and Ralph, Bishop of Dunkeld, came to Scone to be crowned; but that a cry arose, in consequence of some of the assembly wishing the King to be knighted before being crowned, that the day was an Egyptian (inauspicious) day, and consequently unfit for the coronation; not that such was really the case, but that Alan Durward, the Justiciary, and reputed as the flower of the Scotch chivalry, desired the honour of knighting the King. The disturbance was, however, quieted by Walter Comyn, Earl of Menteith, who asserted several instances of the ceremony of coronation preceding that of knighthood. Fordun then describes the ceremony as taking place near the cross in the "cimiterium" at the east end of the church of Scone, the King taking his seat on the coronation stone. After the nobles had done their homage, a Gaelic Seanachie approached, and kneeling before the King, saluted him in his mother tongue in these words—"Benach de Re Albanich Alexander mak Alexander."—"Hail to the King of Scots Alexander Mac Alexander,"—and so recited the genealogy of the Kings of Scotland.

This description is headed by a pen-and-ink drawing representing the above ceremony, the youthful king seated near the cross and the Highland Seanachie bending before him with the above words of salutation on a scroll.

LXXXV. Another page of Fordun, taken up by a pen-and-ink drawing of the funeral of King Alexander III.

King Alexander was killed by the fall of his horse over a cliff between Burntisland and Kinghorn, in the dusk of a cloudy evening, on the 16th of March 1285–6, in the 45th year of his age and the 37th of his reign. A stone cross was erected where the accident took place, which is still called the "King's Woodend." The King's body was buried in the church of Dunfermeline and his heart at Perth.

LXXXVI. Another page of Fordun, filled by a pen-and-ink drawing of the battle of Bannockburn and the death of Sir Henry de Boune.

Prepared and examined by (Signed) WILLIAM BASEVI SANDERS.

The original documents mentioned in the above list, and not otherwise noted, are preserved in Her Majesty's General Register House, Edinburgh.

No. 7.—Additions, in the Year 1869, to the Lists of Calendars, Indexes, &c., of Records in the Public Record Office, annexed to the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirtieth Reports of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records.

No. 11.—Regulations respecting Documents transferred from Government Departments to the Public Record Office.

With reference to Documents transferred from Government Departments, the Public Record Office is auxiliary to the Department from which the Records have been removed; and it is therefore the duty of the Public Record Office:—

To take charge of such records and papers as each Office may think proper to transfer, either because they are not required for the current business of the Office, or because they cannot be conveniently accommodated within the Office:

To keep the records and papers belonging to each Office distinct from all other records and papers:

To arrange them, and cause proper calendars and indexes of them to be made:

To hold them for the special use of the Office from which they have been removed:

To make searches and transcripts, whenever required for the use of Government or Parliament:

To transmit the originals to the Office from which they came, if and whenever required for the use of the Office:

And to afford access and inspection to the public or to individuals, only in pursuance of orders given by the head of the Office from which they came, or some person authorized by him; or in pursuance of general or special rules approved by him.

THE SECOND REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS

IN IRELAND.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY THE RIGHT HONORABLE EARL SPENCER, K.G., LORD LIEUTENANT-GENERAL AND GENERAL GOVERNOR OF IRELAND.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

1. On the 12th of February, 1869, I had the honor to submit my first Report of the proceedings had in execution of the "Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867."

2. The operations in progress at the close of that Report comprised — Operations in progress at close of last Report.

Extern.

a. Preparation for transfer and removal of the Records deposited in the Crown Office of the Court of Queen's Bench.

Intern.

a. The arranging and placing in their repositories, in the Record Treasury, of the collection of documents and deeds which had been removed from the Offices of the Right Honorable Edward Litton, one of the Masters in Chancery.

3. The general character of the Crown Office Collection may be seen from the abstract appended to my First Report. A more detailed account of the contents of the several presses appears by the Report of Messrs. Moloney and M'Ghee appended hereto. The removal of the collection was effected at the close of January, 1869, with the exception of certain portions comprised in a Certificate of Retainer, given by the Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Queen's Bench. These portions were left in the custody of the Clerk of the Crown. — Crown Office, Queen's Bench. Appendix I. Appendix II.

4. Places for the documents so retained were reserved in the shelves allotted to the collection in the Record Treasury; and arrangements were made with the Clerk of the Crown for the transcription and issue, here, of such certified copies as might be required during their retainer.

5. The Litton Collection comprised the proceedings in 8,080 causes and matters in Chancery the bulk of which had been — Litton Collection.

referred to Masters Litton, Curry, Connor, King, Burroughs, and their several predecessors in office, the residue being a proportion of the collection of Master Henn, which, on the closing of his office, had been distributed among the other Masters. Besides the proceedings incidental to taking Accounts, including Charges, Discharges, Interrogatories, and Depositions in aid, Affidavits, Draft Reports, Exceptions, and other classes of Instruments arising in the progress of causes and matters, this collection comprises a considerable number of original Deeds and Instruments deposited by suitors from time to time, or brought in on subpœna or as Exhibits, and not removed. Some of these are made up in wrappers on which the name of the cause appears; but the greater number have escaped from their packages, and can only be identified as deeds between particular parties.

Original Deeds.

6. These Instruments are considered as private property, and only consultable in like manner as those contained in boxes, on the authority of the Court from which they have come. Appended to Mr. Mills' Report on the Litton Collection, will be found an Index from which parties interested may learn the existence of these muniments which probably have long been regarded as lost or destroyed.

Appendix III.

Ushers of Chancery Collection.

7. With respect to the Deeds and Documents of a like character from the Collection of the Usher of the Court of Chancery, it appeared to the late Master of the Rolls, that from the length of time elapsed since their deposit, they might be regarded as derelict and open to general inspection. Two volumes of the Ushers' Book, recording deposits between the 5th of February, 1696, and 28th of January, 1835, were found in the Affidavit Office of Chancery, and now form part of the series.

Operations undertaken since last Report.

8. The proceedings undertaken within the present year may also be conveniently summarized under the heads of Extern and Intern, viz.:—

a. Preparation for transfer of the Judgment Rolls in the custody of the Master of the Court of Queen's Bench.

b. Preparation for transfer of the several Records, and removal of the Rules Office Collection, in the custody of the Master of the Court of Exchequer, in Exchequer offices.

Queen's Bench Judgment Rolls.

9. The collection of Judgment Rolls in the offices of the Master of the Court of Queen's Bench has been fully catalogued by entries in its proper Transfer Books, and the several Rolls labelled ready for removal; but the removal has not taken place owing to want of authority occasioned by the vacancy in the office of Master of the Rolls. At the time of the decease of the Right Hon. John Edward Walsh, the necessary order for regulating the access to these Records by the officers charged with the duty of entering satisfactions, &c., thereon, had not received his Honor's signature. Printed proofs of the intended order, framed in analogy to his Honor's order of 17th December, 1868, regulating the proceedings in the case of entering vacates on recognizances in Chancery, had been prepared; but the final approval and promulgation of the order was held over to afford time for the necessary arrangements to be made by the Judges of the Superior Law Courts for the attendance of their officers here in the execution of such duties.

Appendix IV.

Exchequer Collection, exclusive of those in Benchers' Building.

10. A like enumeration and labelling for removal has been made of the extensive collection in the offices of the Court of Exchequer, situated in the eastern quadrangle of the Four Courts; but partly for the same reason as above stated in reference to the Rolls of the Court of Queen's Bench, and partly from the pressure of more urgent requirements, the process of removal has been confined to the contents of the Rules Office; and further notice of this operation is reserved until the complete removal and rearrangement of the several parts of the Exchequer collection.

Queen's Bench Rules Office.

11. The same objection not applying to the removal of the contents of the Rules Office of the Court of Queen's Bench as to the Judgment Rolls collection, 380 volumes of Rule-Books, and 280 other pieces were removed in the usual manner from the two apartments occupied by the Clerk of the Rules. The final arrangement of these, in like manner, awaits the complete removal of the Queen's Bench Records. I may observe in reference to this and other like operations, where parts only of entire collections have been removed, that in all such cases, the department has been called into action by particular emergencies and unexpected requirements of other offices.

Record Tower, Dublin Castle.

Appendix V.

12. Under the directions of Sir J. Bernard Burke, to whose Report to the Master of the Rolls I beg leave to refer, a further series of records and documents has been transmitted to this office, from the Record Tower, Dublin Castle. It comprises the valuable collection of Early Plea Rolls of the several superior Courts of Law, and a portion of the Exchequer Roll of the Pipe (being the residue of the Bermingham Tower Records), together with the Population Returns for the year 1821 and part of 1831. The entering, labelling, and destining of these documents was performed by Mr. Barry of the State Paper Branch of this office.

Population and Agricultural Returns.

13. These Population Returns are very bulky; and, with the sequel of the Census of 1831 and 1834, and of the several decennial Censuses and annual Agricultural Returns to 1859 inclusive, now occupy more than one-half the entire basement of the Record Treasury. Altogether they weigh not less than sixty tons; and it is difficult to see how provision is to be made for the reception of this class of papers in the future, as there now remain only a few bays in the basement which can be so allocated; and it would be a misapplication of the costly fittings of the Upper Treasury to occupy them with such matter, even if the requirements of legitimate Record accommodation should leave any part of these fittings unoccupied.

Deeds Boxes, Murphy Collection.

14. The Deeds Boxes under the charge of J. J. Murphy, esq., Master in Chancery, had been temporarily removed from his offices, and deposited in two rooms in the attic story of the Record House. Their removal to the Record Treasury where they are placed in the basement in the Masters' Series, was effected in like manner as was done in the cases of the Brooke and Litton Deeds Boxes. An Index has been formed to them, the locks repaired, and new locks and keys supplied. They are accessible to the parties under like regulations as the Litton and Brooke Boxes.

Examiners' Offices of Court of Chancery.

Appendix VI.

15. The Depositions-in-chief from the year 1573 in causes in the Court of Chancery, and from the year 1823 in causes in the Court of Equity Exchequer, were deposited in five rooms of the southern wing of the eastern quadrangle. They occupied eighty-seven presses, and were in an intermixed order, which rendered their serializing a difficult and tedious operation. The Chancery Depositions are now arranged in bundles for the several terms from 1661 for the Second Examiner's collection, and from 1729 for the Chief Examiner's collection, prior to which dates they are chiefly in yearly bundles, and occupy the whole of one bay. Certain portions of the Equity Exchequer Depositions-in-chief comprehended in the same collection, are in a partial state of arrangement, but will not be placed on their shelves until the process of interpolating the several broken portions of the series shall be completed. To complete the concentration of the entire Records of the Courts of Chancery and Equity Exchequer, it only now remains to remove the documents in the offices of Masters Murphy and Fitzgibbon, and those pertaining to the offices of Chief and Second Remembrancer in the custody of the Master of the Court of Exchequer, which latter are already prepared for removal.

16. The several preceding operations may be regarded as collateral to the main work of the year, consisting of the removal of the Benchers' Building and Custom House collections, both very large undertakings, pressed forward for the purpose of obtaining room for other Departments, and executed to a large extent by labour supplied by the Commissioners of Public Works. The Records so removed are chiefly those of the Court of Exchequer. Exchequer Records in Benchers Building.

17. The Court of Exchequer having had the collection and control of the Revenue of the kingdom in addition to its acquired jurisdiction as a Court of Law and Equity, and having also been the original Treasury of the public Records, possesses in its various branches a larger collection of such documents than any other Court or Department. Exchequer Records

18. Considerable portions of these collections have from time to time been transferred, some of them into the custody of officers no longer connected with the Court of Exchequer, and others into out-offices, for convenience of room and storage; the residue still remaining in the proper offices of the Court, under the immediate care of the Master, and prepared for removal as above mentioned. The portion first detached consisted of the bulk of the collections of the Auditor-General, Surveyor-General, and Vice-Treasurer, which formed the nucleus of the Custom House collection, to be further referred to below. dispersed; those of Auditor-General, Surveyor-General, Vice-Treasurer, &c., to Custom House;

19. There still remained an inconvenient accumulation in the offices and vaults of the Exchequer in the Four Courts Building, and in contemplation of their removal, provision was made for their reception in that part of the new block of buildings at the rere of the Four Courts, called Benchers' Building, from its ground-floor being used for meetings of the Benchers. Six vaults in the basement, and ten vaulted rooms divided by press-partitions into sixteen small apartments, on the first and second floors, were devoted to this purpose. The vaults and part of the first floor received the overflow of the Law and Revenue sides, which remained under the charge of the Master of the Court; and on the abolition of the Equity side of the Court in 1850, and the transfer of its Records to the corresponding departments of the Court of Chancery, the residue of the first and whole of the second floor were filled with the Pleadings, Depositions, Decrees, and other Documents of the late Equity Exchequer, the charge of which now devolved on the Master of the Rolls. others to Benchers' Building, Partly in charge of Exchequer Officers, and partly in charge of Rolls Officers.

20. Benchers' Building thus became the depository of three Exchequer collections, two of them (from the Law and Revenue sides) being broken parts of other collections, the residues of which were to be found in the proper offices of the Court and at the Custom House respectively. Hence, until these latter collections shall be reduced into continuous series, which will require extensive interpolation and recasting, no complete Index can be formed; but, as this will be a work of time, and it is of importance to the profession that they should have the means of acquainting themselves with what is now to be found in this office, it has been deemed expedient to include in the Reports of the Assistant Deputy Keeper, lists of these several sets of Records as they have been transferred. Consequent broken character of some of the series. Appendix VII., VIII.

The Equity Exchequer Pleadings, in series from 1648 to 1810.

21. The portion under the care of the officers of Chancery was more complete, the series of Pleadings and Decrees being substantially in sequence, the former from 1648 to 1850, and the latter from 1624 to 1843. But their arrangement with a view to their removal was attended with a great amount of labour. The Pleadings lay, as has been described in my First Report, on shelves, as in the Rolls Record Room; but these not having doors or any means of confining the contents in front, it often happened that, owing to changes in the temperature, the parchments slid out of their places, and in replacing them, the sequences of date were not unfrequently deranged, and the clue to the documents practically lost. Besides, the serializing in complete consecutive order of dates, had only been carried out at the time of their deposit,

From 1800 to 1850 put into date-sequence from 1648 to 1800, and from 1839 to 1850. The Pleadings for the remaining forty years had only been cast into heaps of years without subordinate arrangement, so that in making up the collection into portable bundles for transfer, it was necessary to examine the sequence of dates in all, and to arrange it fully for the first time in those of the forty years from 1800 to 1839, inclusive.

22. This labour occupied sometimes as many as eight persons under the superintendence of Mr. Tucker, from Christmas 1868 to May, 1869. The hands employed were ordinary workmen of the Board of Works who, from their engagement in similar operations during the previous year, had acquired an aptitude, remarkable in men of their class, for this kind of occupation.

Entire series now consultable.

23. The series is now deposited here in complete consultable order, but under the same disadvantages as attended the deposit of the Pleadings of the Court of Chancery. The process, however, of transferring the latter into their final receptacles—to be adverted to more fully under the head of intern arrangement—has now begun, and the Exchequer Pleadings will, in their turn, undergo the same treatment.

Appendix VII., VIII., IX.

24. The general arrangement and removal of the Benchers' Building collection was conducted by the Assistant Deputy Keeper, Mr. La Touche, who has made careful preparation for the reception of the different outlying portions into their proper places in the several series. I beg leave to refer to Mr. La Touche's Reports.

Removal effected;

25. In bulk and weight this collection was nearly equal to that of the Rolls. That portion of it deposited on the upper floors was removed by an inclined plane or "shoot" from the first floor at the rere of the building, without any interference with the resort of suitors to the adjoining Courts.

from vaults,

26. The vaults were placed at the disposal of the Landed Estates Court for the reception of their Deeds Boxes, with which the basement of their building, about equal in area to that of the from upper floors, 8th July, 1869.

27. The entire operation, with such interruptions as I have mentioned, was completed on the 8th of July, 1869, at which time it had been notified to me by the then Master of the Rolls that the Benchers would require possession of the upper portions of the building.

28. The Landed Estates Record Office was established in 1832, in the central block of the western façade of the Custom House. The ground-floor and mezzanine story of this part of the building are arched constructions, originally designed and fitted up with presses for Record purposes. Above these, part of the first floor and the whole of an attic extending the entire length and breadth of the building, were also fitted up with presses, being 377 in all. These were found closely packed with Books, Rolls, and Documents. The principal bulk consisted of Census and Agricultural Returns, which occupied the attic and part of the basement. Next in bulk to these were the more valuable records of the Auditor-General, Surveyor-General, Clerk of the Forfeitures, and Vice-Treasurer, arranged in the presses of the mezzanine and basement; and interspersed throughout the rooms were other minor, but still considerable, collections which had been brought in from time to time as particular offices and departments had occasion for increased room.

Custom House collection: its general nature and extent.

29. There was no Press Catalogue; nor was any Inventory, save the Irish Record Commissioners' printed Catalogues of the Auditors and Surveyor General's collections as they existed in their former places of deposit, previous to 1820, known to me when I received possession. The knowledge necessary for satisfying the ordinary demands on the office did not require an acquaintance with more than the contents of a comparatively small number of presses in which the Maps and Crown Rentals of more frequent reference were deposited. It was not until the process of removal was approaching a conclusion that several detached Registers of particular parts of the collection, formed by Mr. Hardinge, were found. Under these circumstances Mr. Overend had been charged with the duty of entering in a Transfer Book the contents of each shelf in consecutive order, giving such descriptions as the Records might yield on examination, or as could be collected from the information supplied by Mr. Day. This work was performed in a satisfactory manner by Mr. Overend, throughout the mezzanine and greater part of the basement story, and was afterwards completed for the residue of the presses. It now constitutes a General Catalogue of the Landed Estates Record Office Collection; and enlarged as it has been in some particulars, affords the means of identifying the former place, by press and shelf, of each piece removed, in convenient, though still far from complete, detail.

No General Inventory. Registers of detached portions prepared by Mr. Hardinge. Proceedings to form a Press Catalogue.

30. This General Inventory having been formed, so as to secure a basis for the operation of removal, the current business of the branch was left to be carried on in the usual manner, until it should be determined how the former practice should be dealt with after the removal of the collection to the Public Record Office. The duties prescribed by the Act for the Deputy Keeper embraced only the keeping and giving certified copies of Records; the making of searches respecting title, either for the Crown or the subject, did not appear to be any part of these duties, still less the making of entries or enrolments as of record, or the keeping-up of the particulars of Crown Rentals, which had formed the staple occupation of the Landed Estates Record Office up to that time, and altered with sanction of the Lords of the Treasury. Appendix X.

31. These considerations having been laid by me before the late Master of the Rolls, by letter dated 29th January, 1869, His Honor was pleased to give his written opinion and instructions in accordance with which, the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury were pleased to sanction the discontinuance of the services in question, after the Records should be removed, on the understanding, that all reasonable facilities and assistance should be afforded to inquirers at this office.

Removal commenced, 20th May, 1869.

32. On the 20th May, 1869, I began the removal of the Census papers in the attic, being that part of the collection which seemed least likely to be inquired after ; but there being as yet no proper place provided here, for the reception of the Officers of the Quit-Rent Office, I deferred proceeding with the other portions, until a suitable apartment should be provided for them, and adequate arrangements made for the maps and books requiring special fittings.

Preparation made for conducting inquiries of Quit-Rent Department at Public Record Office.

33. The removal of the Vice-Chancellor and his Staff from the Record house to the new Court and Offices, constructed on the site of the old Rolls Record Room, having enabled me in the month of October, to provide rooms for the transaction of the Quit-Rent Office searching business, I caused the Down Survey Maps, the Maps of the 1688 Forfeitures, the Books of Survey and Distribution, the Crown Rentals and Receipt Books, and other Records of more frequent reference to be removed.

Contemplated arrangements for gradual change of practice.

34. It was not supposed that the former course of business, to the extent at least of aiding in the searches, could be at once discontinued; or that parties should be expected, without some practice and experience, to become their own Record agents; and it was intended that the chief occupation of Mr. Day, the officer in charge at the Custom House, should for some time, continue to be that of assistant to the public here, in those particular researches with which he had become familiar, by a practice of over thirty years. It had been a primary rule of the Department, from its foundation, not to suffer the office to be dependent on the special knowledge of any individual; and it was expected that, as soon as these operations should begin to be conducted in the face of the Department, every thing intricate in manipulation, or difficult of explanation, would disappear. These expectations were, for a time, frustrated by the death of Mr. Day, which took place on the 31st of October, 1869.

Death of Mr. Day.

Steps taken to remove consequent difficulty in use of Custom House Books of Reference.

35. The officers who had been placed from time to time at the Custom House, had only partly learned the methods of following the different classes of title to their roots, through the medium of these implements of reference. In this difficulty no time was lost in subjecting the Books and Maps in question, to a systematic examination, with a view to discover the clue by which, in each case, the title might be traced back to its particular source. The possession of the Indexes, and Calendars of the Rolls of Chancery, on which the same titles were regularly enrolled, afforded the means of checking and verifying the investigation.

36. It may here be observed that, independently of the Rolls and other Records necesssary to be consulted in searching for roots of titles having never been brought into one place, (an important portion being still in the charge of the Master of the Court of Exchequer), the indexes to the several series are voluminous, and not less than fifty in number; and no method exists by which the inquirer, ignorant of everything but the name and situation of the lands, as is usually the case, can guide himself à priori to the particular index which he should consult; whereas, at the Landed Estates Record Office, means had always existed of determining, at an early period of the search, the class of instruments amongst which the lands, and a reference to the primary assurance under which they were held, would probably be found. Hence had arisen the preference naturally given by the legal profession to that office in which their inquiries could be satisfied by the more ready means of reference, as well as by the performance for them of record-agency services at the public expense. Hence also an urgent necessity for the extrication of this office from the embarrassment thus unexpectedly arising on the loss of Mr. Day's services.

Facilities for inquiries as to roots of titles in these books.

37. By a diligent course of comparison and verification, it has been ascertained, that the search machinery of the Landed Estates Record Office can be effectually worked through certain methods of reference, indicated in some cases by symbols contained in the Books of Survey and Distribution, and in other by marginal notes, found in particular volumes of the Crown Rentals. The methods of searching, as well by these maps and books as by the Records Commissioners' Indexes, is now sufficiently known to enable the public, with such aid as their other avocations will enable the officers to give, to make their own searches, in default of a competent class of Record Agents being called into existence here, as in London.

Means of reference to the several sources of title.

38. The work of removal proceeded during the winter with increased activity. Some of the presses, the contents of which seemed to require a more detailed examination than they had received in the original Transfer Book, underwent a new process of cataloguing and labelling, and the discovery of the volumes of Registers which had been prepared by Mr. Hardinge enabled the officers to check and identify the more important accretions since the year 1832.

Inventories to Custom House collection extended.

39. There remained however a considerable number of presses of miscellaneous Customs and Exchequer documents, which could not, within the time at our disposal, be put into any kind of arrangement. These were packed in sacks, and placed with other collections of a like character, in the roof of the Treasury.

Contents of some presses still undescribed.

40. It being desirable to put an end to the cost and inconvenience of two separate establishments before the conclusion of the year, the extern workmen were encouraged to increased exertions, by small additions to their wages, through the three weeks ending the 31st of December, 1869; and on the 30th of December. I had the satisfaction to deliver over the Landed Estates Record Building, completely emptied of its contents, to the Architect of the Board of Works. Space has thus been obtained for the Records of other public offices at the Custom House, and for the reception of Department heretofore occupying premises in the city at a rent.

41. The removal was effected by "floats" and covered waggons, according to the weather. The weight of the whole may be estimated by the number of loads delivered, viz. :—

Gross weight, 169 tons.

88 "float" loads, 25 waggon loads, } average 30 cwt. = 169 tons.

It is expedient that this great collection should undergo a thorough analysis, for which the means to some extent, are supplied by the labours of Mr. Hardinge; but such an undertaking could not be satisfactorily accomplished, in time to form part of this Report.

New practice as regards Quit and Crown Rents.

42. Arrangements have been made for receiving, depositing, and keeping a proper Register of the several Deeds and books from time to time transmitted for preservation from the department of Woods and Forests; but, in pursuance of the direction of the late Master of the Rolls, the practice of making memoranda of purchases of Quit-rents, &c., on the Crown Rentals has been discontinued, as also has the practice of making enrolments of grants of offices. The existing machinery enables this office to give a certified copy of the state of any Crown-rent at the end of 1869, and of so much as may be required of any Deed affecting such rent subsequently transmitted to this office for preservation.

43. The general nature and extent of the collection which, during the year 1869, has been removed to, and placed in consultable order in the Record Treasury, will appear from the following table. The pieces are generally of a larger size than those deposited last year, most of them being made up with a view to more distant transport; and will to a considerable extent, have to undergo subordinate classification and labelling hereafter.

State of Bays on East Side of Record Treasury, 31st December, 1869.

To face page 19.

Intern Operations.

44. The twenty-four bays at the north-east end of the Record Treasury which, at the date of my last Report, were in process of construction, have been made ready for the reception of their final fittings; and in five of them those fittings have been set up. As, however, the distances of the fittings both vertical and horizontal, vary with the nature of the Records deposited; and the process of depositing the Chancery Rolls and Pleadings, with which the intern arrangements have commenced, is (and during the progress of extern operations will continue to be) slow, it has not been deemed advisable to allow the adjustment of the fittings to outrun the preparation for deposit of the Records destined for them.

24 new Bay constructed.

Fittings set up pari passu with deposit of Records.

45. In designing these details regard has been had to a variety of considerations which give to the undertaking a somewhat complex character. As explained in my First Report, the floors and partitions of the bays have been constructed in iron. To carry out this fireproof construction into the detail of the fittings, and yet keep the contents from contact with the metal, was a primary condition to be observed in any endeavour to improve on the system of wooden shelving.

Conditions regarded in designing the Fittings:

I. Security against fire.

II. Non-contact of Records with iron.

46. All arrangements of fixed shelving of whatever material were liable to the objection that if the pieces were to be arranged so as to secure the accessibility of each without disturbing any other, the shelves, no matter how deep, could only be utilized to the extent of their frontage. On this account, from one-half to two-thirds of the space provided in the original design for the reception of Records, was practically lost; so that it became another element in any new arrangement, to devise such a disposition of the pieces as would at once occupy the whole depth of the receptacles, and yet leave each piece capable of being abstracted without disturbance of any other.

III. Separate accessibility of each piece.

IV. Economy of space.

47. It had also been observed that the effects of sunlight and air on the pleadings temporarily deposited in the western bays were even more injurious than their contact with the iron fittings. The parchments so exposed lost their suppleness, and showed a tendency to become spotted. The same observation as regards loss of suppleness had been made in respect to the parchments kept in open shelves in Benchers' Building. These, as compared with the Chancery Pleadings, kept in close presses, were known to be distinguishable by their inferior strength and toughness. On this mischief declaring itself, blinds were adapted to the western windows, by which excesses of heat and light are excluded save during the time of searching. This experience suggested as a further object to be aimed at in the new arrangement that the receptacles should be as deep, and so, as far removed from the glare of light, as might be compatible with sufficient floor space.

V. Removal of Parchments from excess of light and air.

48. These conditions have been substantially fulfilled in the tray system adopted for the large mass of Rolls, Pleadings, and other unbound documents. The trays employed are open frames of "angle" iron, one flange of which forms a ledge sustaining cross-supports, on which the contents are suspended. These trays slide on horizontal iron bearers disposed at regular vertical distances between iron uprights. To protect the parchments from injurious contact, the sides of the tray are fitted with a light shoeing of wood, which also serves to make the tray slide in and out more smoothly. This and the cross-bearers supporting the documents, which do not exceed one-tenth of an inch in thickness, are the only inflammable materials employed, and are so enveloped in non-combustible substances, and so insignificant in quantity, that no flame proceeding from their combustion could reach the fittings of the trays next above. The disposition of the pieces across the trays secures their several accessibility; it being only necessary to draw the tray out to such a distance as will bring the piece required to the front, when it can be picked out and returned without interfering with any other; and the trays being four feet in depth, and arranged in double blocks abutting on the wall-spaces between the windows, are removed from direct light and from sudden changes of temperature.

Trays four feet in depth.

49. When the document required occupies a place in the anterior part of the tray, the operation of searching is facile; but when, to get at the piece required, the tray has to be drawn out past its balancing point, a supplemental appliance becomes necessary to sustain the weight, which in the case of Chancery Pleadings is not less on an average than 130 lbs. per tray. Several designs for this purpose having been tried, the preference has been given to an apparatus which traverses the floor lengthwise, and being brought opposite the tray required to be drawn, receives it on corresponding bearers, and sustains it while the workman makes his search.

Apparatus for sustaining Trays during search.

50. The parchment Pleadings are made up in "books" or fasciculi folded over their supports, to which they are attached by bands carrying their labels. They are arranged in consecutive chronological series, so that the date of any Pleading being known from the Bill Book, the "book" containing the documents of that day can at once be found. The "book" being then laid open, the particular document is withdrawn, and an accountable docket being inserted under the band, the "book" and tray are returned to their receptacle.

Mode of deposit in Trays.

51. The average number of such "books" to a tray is fifty; and the extent to which this close method of packing economizes space may be judged of from the fact that the whole collection of Chancery Pleadings which in the Rolls Record Room and adjoining apartments occupied an area of about 60,000 cubic feet will, it is calculated, fit into six bays containing about 20,000 cubic feet of the new construction.

Extent to which space economized.

52. It has been thought proper thus fully to describe the fittings and apparatus in use in this office, inasmuch as while they answer the requirements of Record deposit and of economy of space in a high degree, they are altogether new in principle and in detail, and may, perhaps, usefully attract the attention of those occupied in similar undertakings elsewhere. They have been adopted here, not from any desire to introduce novelties of construction or of arrangement, but as the natural, and, indeed, necessary, complement of the great divisions and general fire-proof design of the building as it came into my hands.

The system new in principle and detail.

Preparation of the Chancery Pleadings for intern transfer.

Recast into continuous series of Bills and Answers.

53. The order in which the Chancery Pleadings came from the Rolls Record Room, viz., in alternate lots of Bills and Answers, was carefully preserved in their original deposit in the Record Treasury. But in casting the Transfer Books of this part of the collection into the form of a General Index, it was found more convenient, while preserving the place-references, to re-arrange the subject-matter in such manner as that all the Bills should constitute one series, and all the Answers another. In the internal transfer of these Pleadings from their first place of deposit to the fittings prepared for their final reception the same principle has been adopted; and while the Bills of each year have been left in their original places, the process has begun of casting the several sets of Answers into one continuous date-series as part of their preparation for being placed in their trays. When all the Answers shall have been placed, the same process will be adopted with the Bills. In both it has been found necessary to begin at the latest date and work backward, so as to ensure the completion of the arrangement within a definite space.

Further recast so as to eliminate the references to names of Six Clerks.

54. In the progress of these arrangements an opportunity presented itself for further simplifying the means of reference, and bringing the Chancery Pleadings into the same state of complete chronological sequence as those of the Equity Exchequer. These latter, as they left their shelves in Benchers' Building ran in a continuous order from 1684 to 1850. The Chancery Pleadings, during the earlier and later portions of the period covered by them, ran in a like sequence; but, for the space of one hundred and ten years, from 1726 to 1837, the sequence of each year was broken up into as many subordinate sequences of date as there were Six Clerks, the pleadings of each Six-Clerk being filed separately. The name of the Six-Clerk, although forming a necessary item in the search docket so long as this divided mode of deposit continues, adds nothing to the necessary search-indications when all are merged in a continuous date-series. As the process of making up the "books" was carried back towards the part of the collection affected by the Six-Clerks' practice, it was considered desirable that these subdivisions of the Pleadings for the one hundred and ten years in question should be broken up and thrown into continuous date-series. This has been the most extensive and critical operation undertaken within the Record office. At the close of the year it had been effected from 1837 to 1797. It has been attended with the incidental advantage of detecting and rectifying a considerable number of misplacements. A new key connecting the old books of reference with the present places of deposit has been completed pari passu with the Intern Transfer.

Extent of preparation.

55. The number of Pleadings-Books or fasciculi which at the close of the year were placed, or were ready for being placed, in their trays, was 2,135, comprising the Answers of three years and the Bills of ten years. The number of trays prepared for pleadings was one hundred and thirty-four. The whole process has demanded constant and systematic supervision, and has been so far carried out without confusion, although from time to time interrupted by Extern Requirements.

Preparation of Rolls of Chancery.

Ribbon Rolls.

Book Rolls.

56. The preparation of the Rolls of Chancery for deposit in their trays consists in the attachment or introduction of axes or bearers. The Rolls are of two kinds: Ribbon Rolls, in which the membranes are attached to one another successively, so as to form a continuous band or ribbon; and Book Rolls, in which all the membranes are stitched together at the top like the leaves of a book which opens end-wise. All the modern Rolls are made up in this latter form, as affording superior facility of reference; but the Book Roll, when it exceeds six inches in diameter, will not fold concentrically, and it may here be observed that the Decree Rolls of the Court of Equity Exchequer and the modern Judgment Rolls of the Courts of Common Law are also made up book-wise, and from their great size (some of them being nearly two feet in diameter) are excessively unwieldy, and cannot be deposited without great waste of space unless by subdividing and remaking them. It has not been found necessary to divide more than a few of the Book Rolls of Chancery; but their tendency to fold out of centre has necessitated the employment of a particular form of bearer the extremities of which are eccentric to the axis. Of these 359 were prepared, and 239 attached to the Rolls at the end of the year. The remainder of the Chancery Rolls, being of the Ribbon kind, will be mounted with comparative facility. Forty-six trays have been prepared for the reception of Chancery Rolls. The extent to which space is so economized may be judged of from the fact that each tray, occupying the frontage of a single Roll, contains on an average seven Rolls in depth.

Extent of preparation.

The Tray system applicable to other classes of Records.

Inventions Patents' Collection.

First Report, No. 30.

Cost of binding the unbound arrears of

57. The same principle of arrangement in trays is applicable to a great variety of other matters besides Rolls and Pleadings. Wherever the documents can be folded into fasciculi of uniform size, the principle applies. The Inventions Patents' Collection is an example. When brought from the Rolls office there was an arrear of four years unarranged, and six years unbound sheets. By permission of the Lords of the Treasury a special clerk was employed to arrange these for the bookbinder; and the services of a bookbinder having been obtained from the Stationery Office, 234 volumes of Specifications, and 101 volumes of illustrative Drawings were bound and in process of binding at the close of the year. Since the last sheets were prepared for the binder the success of the method of deposit employed for the Chancery Pleadings has induced the idea of making up the Inventions-Papers as they arrive in similar fasciculi, and depositing them unbound in receptacles of the same description; and a considerable number of such fasciculi are already so placed in consultable order, with like economy of space, and at a comparatively nominal cost.

Will be dispensed with in future by deposit in Trays.

Duplicate Deeds affecting rights of the Crown treated in like manner.

58. Another class of instruments which it is proposed should be preserved in like manner are the duplicate conveyances of Quit and Crown Rents and Licences, Leases, &c., from the Crown which are sent to this office for preservation. The volumes into which these instruments have hitherto been collected are of inconvenient size, and afford no additional security or convenience of reference to compensate the expense of binding.

59. The process of placing the bundles of Petitions, Reports, &c., from the office of the Registrar of the Court of Chancery in portfolios has been continued in the intervals of the more pressing duties. At the close of the year 186 bundles of Reports and 55 bundles of Receivers' Accounts, had been placed in portfolios. The pattern of portfolio adopted is an adaptation of that which is commonly in use on the Continent, with a diminution in the number, and an improved adjustment, of the fastenings.

Preparation and filling of Portfolios.

60. Some progress has been made in cleaning and flattening the early Chancery Pleadings, for which no Bill Books exist. There are 149 bundles which will have to undergo this process, and for which Bill Books or other Indexes will be required, before they can be said to be consultable. The Pleadings for the year 1619, have been so prepared in the intervals of Mr. Tucker's other engagements. He has also carried forward the arrangement of the Fiants from No. 1, Henry VIII., to No. 274 of Philip and Mary, being 2,044 Fiants in seven portfolios.

Preparation of early Chancery Pleadings for deposit.

61. By the removal of the Vice-Chancellor and his staff to the new Court and offices in the old Rolls Record Building, the whole of the Record House here was placed at the disposal of this department early in September, 1869. Fittings for the Public Search Room had been prepared before the arrangement for devoting that apartment temporarily to the Vice-Chancellor's use was contemplated. These were re-erected, and the Search Room made ready for the reception of the public early in Michaelmas Term.

Allocation of apartments in Record House.

Public Search Room opened Michaelmas, 1869.

62. Steps have been taken to make one of the rooms of the ground floor, opening on the Search Room, fireproof, by the introduction of a concrete ceiling, so that the more important Bill Books and Indexes, of which no duplicates exist, may be at all times free from danger of any fire originating in the Record House. A redistribution of the Officers' apartments at the same time took place, by which space has been afforded for the conversion of two rooms in the eastern wing (one of them being over the safe) into a laboratory and Foreman's work-room, through which private access can be had to the Treasury by a stair constructed in the open space between it and the Record House. Care has been taken that the construction of this stair shall not interfere with the isolation of the Treasury.

Fire-proof Index-Room being constructed; with Laboratory and Workshop in Eastern wing.

63. The Secretary's offices which, during the presence of the Vice-Chancellor, were in the attic, have been removed to the first floor of the western wing. A particular apartment has here been provided for the Master of the Rolls; and in another the nucleus has been formed of a Library.

Secretary's Department, &c., in Western wing.

64. The progress made to the end of the year 1869, as well in filling the receptacles originally provided in the Record Treasury as in the construction of the new bays, and erection of fittings, will appear from the subjoined tabular epitome, which may be regarded as representing a longitudinal section of the building. The basement corridor (not shown on the corresponding table of last year, as being then vacant) is indicated in plan, between the sectional elevations of the sides. The work of 1869 is shown in red, as distinguished from that of 1868, in black ink.

Present state of Record Treasury.

65. The fees received in the Search and Transcribing Department of the office here during the past year amount to £311 6*s*. The details of the work appear by the annexed Table, the charges at 1*s*. per folio indicating the transcription of documents of dates prior to the reign of George III.

The total of the Fees at both offices amounts to £357 3*s.* 2*d.*, from which, deducting £15 5*s.* for inspections, it will be seen that for attested copies the amount received at both offices during the year is £341 18*s.* 2*d.*

66. Of this amount, £145 7*s.* 0*d.* is in respect of ancient copy transcribed at this office. The copies of this class extend from the 13 Richard II. to end of George II. Notwithstanding that the time of the junior officers has been to a great extent engrossed by extern duties, they have become sufficiently skilled in Record-reading to be capable, with occasional assistance, of transcribing all documents which have hitherto been called for.

67. In addition to the work represented by the above sum, the following business was, during the same period, transacted at the Custom-house branch for Public Departments:—

Indexing and Calendaring Operations.

Indexes and Calendars. Equity Exchequer Decrees.

68. Besides the several Indexes referred to in the previous paragraphs of this Report, a draft Index has been made to the Equity Exchequer Decrees from the year 1624 to 1850, in the names of their causes, arranged alphabetically for each year. The Decrees themselves have been numbered according to their years, cleaned, pressed, flattened, and tied up in convenient-sized bundles for portfolios. This Index has been fairly engrossed from the draft, for public use, up to the year 1728.

Chancery Decrees.

69. The Index to Chancery Decrees, removed from the Registrar's office, has been continued from 1843 down to the end of 1848. It is made to names of causes, and gives the dates of signing and filing each decree.

Shannon Commission.

70. The enrolments of Inquisitions, Judgments, Awards and Conveyances relating to the Shannon Commission under the Acts 5 & 6 Wm. IV., cap. 67, and 2 & 3 Vic., cap. 61, have been indexed alphabetically under the claimants' names.

Ecclesiastical Deeds.

71. The Index to Ecclesiastical Deeds under the Acts 3 & 4 Wm. IV., cap. 37, and 4 & 5 Wm. IV., cap. 90, and enrolled pursuant to 6 & 7 Wm. IV., cap. 99, received from the Rolls office, has been continued to the present time.

Ulster Railway Company.

72. An Index Locorum has also been prepared to the enrolments of warrants for inquisitions of the Ulster Railway Company, and the Sheriffs' Judgments thereunder for the Counties of Antrim, Armagh, and Down, made under the Private Acts, 6 & 7 Wm. IV., cap. 33. These Warrants and Judgments have been cleaned, pressed, and bound.

Drainage Awards.

73. The enrolments of Awards, pursuant to the "Drainage Acts," have been indexed under their several counties in the names of the districts; and the later ones have been assorted and bound.

Rolls of Parochial Endowments and Perpetual Curacies.

74. An Index to five Patent Rolls of George III., containing endowments of Parishes and perpetual Curacies, that had been omitted in the Index transferred with them, has been supplied.

Chancery Reports.

75. The Reports in Chancery, which commence in the year 1715, are being arranged in dictionary order in their several portfolios, to facilitate reference. An Index to them, in the names of their causes, is in progress.

Calendar of Disentailing Deed Rolls.

76. The calendaring of the Disentailing Deed Rolls has been continued from the Deed No. 834, enrolled 31st December, 1839, with which Mr. Hatchell's calendar closes, to Deed No. 1,233, enrolled in June, 1842.

Chancery General Index.

77. The general detailed Index to the Records of the Court of Chancery has been completed to page 392.

Literary Inquiries.

78. It was not until the close of the year that suitable provision could be made for the reception of this class of inquiries. The advantages of these means of investigation are as yet but little known. The number of inquiries during the year was fourteen.

The subjects embraced:—State Papers, James I.; Carte Transcripts; History of Families of Clanricarde, Burke, Barrymore, Carleton, Fitzgibbon, and Adair; Patent Roll, 24–25 Henry VIII.; Strafford Survey; Down Survey; Council Order Book; Inquisitions, co. Clare.

Donations.

I have to acknowledge the following donations during the year 1869, to the Department:—

From the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury—

Transcripts of Carte Papers. Eleven volumes.
Fac-similes of National MSS. One volume.

From his Excellency Chevalier Nigra—

Glossæ Hibernicæ Veteres Codicis Taurinensis: Paris, 1869.

From Parke Neville, esq., C.E.—

City Engineer's Report to Corporation of Dublin on State of the Public Works, 1869.

From W. Groves, esq.—

Inquisition, 38 Elizabeth, taken at Loghlogher, in the county of Tipperary.

79. The office of Keeper of the Public Records in Ireland became vacant by the demise of the first Keeper under the Act, the Right Hon. John Edward Walsh, M.R., on 20th October, 1869, and continued vacant during the remainder of the year.

80. I continue to receive prompt assistance in all matters within their department from the Commissioners of Public Works and their architect; and have to express my entire satisfaction in the zeal and assiduity with which the officers and workmen of the Department continue to discharge their respective duties.

All which is humbly submitted to your Excellency.

Dated at the Public Record Office of Ireland, Four Courts, Dublin, this 2nd day of March, 1870.

(Signed), SAMUEL FERGUSON,
Deputy Keeper of the Public Records in Ireland.

I humbly certify to your Excellency that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records in Ireland, under my direction, pursuant to the Statute.

(Signed), EDWARD SULLIVAN, M.R.

APPENDIX.

Appendix No. 1.

Extract from Report of Michael Moloney and Thomas M'Ghee, Esqrs., on the Transfer of Records from Crown Office, Court of Queen's Bench.

In pursuance of instructions received from you, we proceeded on the 13th October, 1868, to prepare for transfer to this office the Records at present deposited in the Crown Office, Queen's Bench.

The collection we found to consist of 881 bundles distributed throughout 68 presses (Nos. 736 to 803 inclusive), in two rooms called in this Report Rooms No. 1 and No. 2.

The Records in Room No. 1 may be conveniently classed under twelve heads, viz.:—

1. Enrolments of Indictments, Judgments, &c., beginning from the 5th & 6th James I. Several gaps occur in this series; the following are the principal:—

From 7th to 14th James I.
„ 17th & 18th do.
From 1st to 5th Charles I.
1st William III.
1st & 2nd Anne.
1st & 2nd William IV.

2. Writs from 1692 to 1849, and Writs of Error from 1834 to 1848. Some of the Writs we found it would be almost impossible to arrange in chronological order; these we tied up in seven bundles labelled "Miscellaneous."

3. Indictments from Hilary, 1682. The following gaps occur in this series:—

From 1683 to 1687
1689

From 1714 to 1720	From 1797 to 1810
„ 1722 „ 1761	„ 1812 „ 1818
„ 1776 „ 1778	„ 1838 „ 1842
„ 1789 „ 1795

1845
1847.

4. Informations from 1720, and Informations ex officio commencing 1815.

There are apparently no Informations for the following years, viz.:—1794, 1803, 1831, 1840; nor any ex-officio Informations for 1817, 1822, 1825 to 1828, 1834, 1838.

5. Writs, &c., of Mandamus from the reign of William III. This series is perfect.

6. Plea Rolls belonging to the civil side of the Court, consisting of the following :—

1	Roll of	Elizabeth,	34th year.	5	Rolls of	Charles I.,	2nd year.
3	Rolls of	James I.,	4th „	4	„	„	3rd „
4	„	„	5th „	5	„	„	4th „

4	„	„	22nd „	1	„	„	(1657)
3	„	Charles I.,	1st „

7. Writs, &c., of Certiorari from 1732. This Collection is nearly perfect.

8. Affidavits commencing 1690. The series is perfect from 1711.

9. Interrogatories from 1702.

10. Records of Nisi Prius from 16 Geo. II. The following gaps occur in this series, viz. :—From 33 Geo. II. to 1762 ; from 1792 to 1795, 1831.

11. Recognizances commencing 1776.

12. Miscellaneous, comprising Exceptions, Inquisitions, &c.

In Room No. 2 the various classes of documents may be included under three heads, viz. :—

1. Presentments, city and county of Dublin. (The city Presentments commence in 1722, and those for the county in 1771.) Quere Books, Maps, &c.

2. Records belonging to Commission Courts, consisting of Indictments, Pardons, Recognizances, Rule Books, &c., chiefly between 1710 and 1800.

3. Miscellaneous—Inquisitions, Gaol Calendars, &c.

The Lord Chief Justice has issued a certificate (Appendix No. 2), under which several classes of Records, which we had prepared for transfer, are for the present to remain in the Crown Office.

As mentioned above, we began on the 13th October, 1868, to prepare for removal the contents of the two rooms. Each parcel was carefully dusted, entered in the Transfer Book, and, with a label affixed, was replaced in its former position. The operation was completed on the 28th October. For various reasons the actual transfer was delayed for some time. At length it began on the 28th January, 1869, and was completed on 30th January. The collection is now deposited in Bay 2 F, and occupies 130 shelves.

Appendix No. 2.

"The Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867," 30th and 31st Victoria, chap. 70, sec. 14.

I, the Right Honorable James Whiteside, Lord Chief Justice of Her Majesty's Court of Queen's Bench in Ireland, do hereby certify under my hand that it will be conducive to the due performance of the business of the Crown side of the said Court, that the Records specified in the schedule hereto subjoined shall not be delivered into the custody of the Master of the Rolls at the end of twenty years from the making thereof.

Appendix, No. 3.

Extract from Report of James Mills, esq., on the Arrangement of the Litton Collection.

The arrangement of the Litton Collection, transferred under the circumstances mentioned in your first Report, p. 8, was commenced 21st November, 1868, and the general sorting completed by the 24th December following; but owing to the interruptions caused by the more important business of the Department, the indexing and final arrangement were not concluded before the end of the following year, 1869.

The Collection naturally divides itself into Cause Papers, Deeds, and Miscellanea.

Cause Papers include :—

Charges and Discharges.
Statements of Facts.
Receivers' Accounts.
Depositions taken in aid of Accounts.
Affidavits of Service.
„ of Amount of Rent, &c.
Rentals.
Tenants' Proposals.
Undertakings to act as Receivers, Trustees, or Guardians.
Requisitions to tax Costs.
Bills of Costs.
Notes of Hearings.
„ of Sales.
Draft Conveyances, &c.
„ Reports.
„ Masters' Orders.
„ Rulings.
„ Receivers' Accounts,

With attested copies lodged during the progress of Causes, &c.

As none of these form any kind of series, it would be impossible to give the periods over which they extend, but I may mention that very few bear date earlier than 1790.

The great bulk of this portion of the Collection, which includes about 70,000 Documents, had been placed temporarily in Bay U, and presented an imperfect arrangement, into twenty-four heaps, according to the first letter of the cause or matter to which they related. The remainder, partaking partially of the same arrangement, was spread through Bays 1 E, 1 G, 1 H, 1 I, and 1 K.

Each Paper has been examined, and those belonging to the same cause or matter tied together and labelled with the name of the cause and the position of the bundle in the Record Treasury. These bundles number in all 8,080. A complete alphabetical index has been made to them, and placed, as a means of reference, in the Search Room.

Deeds.—Exclusive of those in boxes, referred to in your above mentioned Report, p. 9, there are 520 Conveyances, Assignments, Marriage Settlements, Bankrupts' Assignments, Leases, &c., extending from 1662 to 1852, and brought into the Master's Office at various times in the course of suits. To these I have, by your directions, prepared the annexed index, containing the names of all the principal parties and the date of each Deed. With these were a number of Leases, made, pending causes, by Masters King and Connor, which I have arranged according to their dates. Similar Leases from the other Masters will be found in their proper places among the Cause Papers, in which portion of the Collection they were found.

Miscellanea include the following :—

About 150 Commercial and other Account, Letter, and Memorandum Books, many of which contain nothing to show to whom they belonged, or even the cause in which they were exhibited. Among these I found the following Office Books :—

Office Account Book, January to June, 1810.
Receipt Book for Exhibits returned, 1811–1814.
An Official Diary (with index), 1823–1827.
A List of taxed Costs, containing name of cause, amount of costs, and amount certified, with index incomplete, 1849–1852.
A volume of Certified Costs of Master Coffey, from 19th to 30th June, 1865. This volume has been returned to Master Coffey by your orders.

A Letter from Patrick Rainalds to Lord Claneboye, Dublin, 21st March, $16\frac{23}{40}$, recounting certain proceedings in the House of Commons.

An Order by the Lord Deputy and Council, 15th May, 1655, for a month's pay to Captain Warren's Troop. It is indorsed "Horse, No. 89."

Award by the Committee of Adventurers to John Kilbie, of Lands in "North-west quarter, No. 4," of Lune Barony, county Meath.

A number of private letters and fragments, of which no arrangement has been made.

As no means of reference to any of the Documents in the Collection has been found, the indexes as well as the arrangement has been entirely the work of this Department.

Appendix No. 4.

When, in pursuance of any Order of the Lord Chancellor, the Master of the Rolls, or the Vice-Chancellor, it shall be necessary to make any Amendment in or to enter any Vacate or other matter upon, any Pleading or other document deposited in the Public Record Office; or when it may be necessary to enter thereon any Suggestion; on the proper Officer of the Record and Writ Office attending at the Search Department of the Public Record Office, and exhibiting to the Officer there in charge such Order (if any), and on his signing a requisition for such Pleading or other Document in the Bespeak Book, such Pleading or other Document, and all proper Books in relation thereto, shall be produced to him, and he may thereupon make such Amendment or Entry, and also every proper Entry connected therewith in any Bill

Book, Index, or other Book of Reference in said Department; and a Book shall be kept in the Public Record Office, containing a list of all such Amendments or Entries, with the dates thereof, under proper heads.

JOHN E. WALSH, M.R.

Dec. 17*th*, 1868.

APPENDIX No. 5.

To the RIGHT HONORABLE the MASTER of the ROLLS.—The SECOND REPORT of SIR BERNARD BURKE, C.B., ULSTER, KEEPER of the STATE PAPERS in the RECORD TOWER, DUBLIN CASTLE, dated 1st February, 1870.

SIR,—My first Report, dated 1st February, 1869, explained the constitution of my office of Keeper of the State Papers (the staff of which comprises myself as Keeper, and my two Clerks, Mr. George F. Barry, and Mr. John Joseph Maginn), and referred to the duties imposed on me by the "Public Record (Ireland) Act, 1867."

By that Act those duties are declared to be threefold :—

1. To prepare finally, for transfer to the new Public Record Office, the contents of the three depositories, viz. :—The Bermingham Tower Record Room, the Parliamentary Record Office, and the Record Commission Department.
2. To receive the current papers and books of the Chief Secretary's Office, and the Council Office, and the accumulated arrears.
3. To arrange, classify, and index the Records of the State Paper Department for their gradual removal to the Public Record Building, subject to the reservation of the Act requiring that such Records and Papers so to be transferred shall be of an age of fifty years from the making thereof.

To enable me to place clearly before your Honor my proceedings during the past year, and the progress made, I will classify my remarks under three divisions.

I.—TRANSFER OF DOCUMENTS.

1. The whole BERMINGHAM TOWER RECORDS, comprising more than 600 Plea Rolls, 190 Pipe Rolls, 232 Summonisters' Rolls, seventy large bundles of Sheriffs' Tot Rolls, and thirteen bundles of Miscellaneous Rolls, together with twenty-one MS. volumes of Exchequer Orders, and four volumes of Repertories to the Plea and other Rolls, have been arranged, papered, endorsed, labelled, numbered, adjusted to the spaces in the Record Treasury, and removed to the Public Record Office. To effect this transfer safely and correctly, a carefully compiled Transfer Book of sixty-eight pages (to remain as a record in this department) has been made.

2. CENSUS PAPERS.—The Census (1821) Population Returns, comprising 479 volumes, have been tied up in bundles, labelled, adjusted to the spaces in the Record Treasury, and removed to the Public Record Office. A Transfer Book has also been made for this collection.

The transfer to the Public Record Office of these Records in 1869, and of the Record Commission collection in 1868, leaves only the contents of the Parliamentary Record Office to be removed, to complete the first requirement of the Public Record (Ireland) Act; and this collection is in such a prepared state that it can at any moment be labelled and rendered fit for transfer to the Public Record Office.

II.—The Reception of State Papers.

1. All the Papers of the Chief Secretary's Office from 1841 to 1852, both years inclusive, forming a very extensive collection, have been transferred to this department, and have been carefully arranged and sorted, and Press Catalogues made.

2. An accumulation of Convict Papers, from 1815 to 1847, has also been received, arranged chronologically, and Press Catalogued.

3. Miscellaneous Papers of various years, from 1841 to 1852, transmitted at the same time, have been temporarily sorted in years, and placed in presses in like manner.

Besides the foregoing Papers, various (sixty-eight volumes) "Books of Entries" of Country Letters, Government Correspondence, Ecclesiastical Affairs, Civil Petitions, and Civil Affairs, together with a few other Books, have been transmitted to this department.

III.—Arrangement, Classification, Indexing, &c., of State Paper Department.

1. The Calendar to the British Departmental Correspondence, being the Correspondence of the Departments in England with the Lord Lieutenant's and Chief Secretary's Departments in Ireland, commencing in 1683, to which I referred in my former Report as having been begun, has been continued to the year 1721, and a great portion of it—1683 to 1711—has been fair—transcribed.

2. Collection of Certificates respecting Officers' Widows, being Affidavits of Officers' Widows, made before Justices of the Peace, for the purpose of their obtaining payment of their pensions, containing 2,265 Documents, has been arranged, numbered, and placed in cartons, and a comprehensive Index made to it.

This collection gives not only the Widows' Affidavits, but also the Certificates of Ministers and Churchwardens as to identity and existence. Each Affidavit states the fact of marriage, the name of the deceased husband, his rank in the Army, and the Regiment in which he served. These Widows' Certificates, which commence in 1752, and end in 1763, supply a link in the chain of evidence of marriages and deaths, and may be found of importance in legal investigations.

3. British Orders in Council, being Orders of the Council in London respecting affairs of Ireland, commencing in 1711, and ending in 1806, have been arranged, numbered, placed in cartons, and indexed.

General Orders of the Council in Ireland, being Orders of the Lord Lieutenant and Council, commencing 1793, and ending 1798, have been arranged, numbered, and indexed.

4. Proclamations by the Lord Lieutenant and Council, commencing in 1711, and ending 1811, have been arranged, numbered, placed in cartons, and calendared. This collection consists of engrossments of Proclamations on parchment, as well as of printed copies in broken sets. Of these printed copies I have selected one set, placed it in cartons, and made a comprehensive Index to it.

5. A complete Calendar with Index, has been made to the earliest "Book of Entries" in the Council Office, commencing in February, 1581, and ending in January, 1586, being entitled "A Giornal for entrie of daylie and ordinary actes of the Council and matters of State." A memorandum describes this book as having been the gift of Sir Henry Wallop, Treasurer at War for Ireland. This volume was so dilapidated from the effects of time, that throughout a considerable portion of the pages the paper was reduced to a state that it crumbled to the touch. By an ingenious process of placing the damaged portion of the pages between tracing paper and transparent muslin, the injured part has been rendered perfectly secure from all future decay, and the book rendered available for public use.

The oldest "Books of Entries" in the Council Office, with the exception of the ancient Journal Book just referred to, are a collection of Council Books, principally of the time of the Commonwealth, though there are a few volumes of the reigns of Charles I., Charles II., James II., and William and Mary.

The Commonwealth collection consists of fifty-five volumes, begun in 1649, and continued in a consecutive series to the period of the Restoration. These Books were, many of them, falling to pieces from the decay in the bindings, the result of the lapse of time, and they had their leaves loose and liable to be lost. The pages of the books, however, have been kept in perfect preservation, owing to the security from damp or damage afforded by the thickness of the walls of the Record Tower. The whole series has been bound anew, under my directions, in the Record Tower. A running number has been affixed to the Commonwealth series, while the miscellaneous volumes have been marked by letters of the alphabet. I have annexed to this Report lists of these volumes, with the running numbers and titles, the latter being for the most part the original descriptions on the old bindings, which old bindings I have put carefully aside for preservation in case of any reference to them being required.

6. Military Miscellaneous Accounts, 1684 to 1770.

Army States, 1723 to 1761

Barrack Correspondence, 1703 to 1793.

Military Contracts, 1710 to 1760.

Military Notifications, Miscellaneous, 1702–1767, have all been deposited in tin cases, marked "State Papers, Military."

7. Officers' Widows' Accounts (one bundle not mentioned in the Official Printed Index) have been arranged and placed in a carton.

8. Military Commissions, 1715–1763, have been arranged and placed in a carton.

9. General and other Officers' Correspondence, 1686–1776, has been arranged and placed in cartons.

Military Lists and Returns, Miscellaneous, 1685 to 1781, have been arranged and placed in cartons.

10. Ordnance Correspondence, 1701 to 1803, has been placed in a carton.

11. Rolls of Musters, 1741 to 1780 (arranged in years), have been papered and tied up in bundles.

12. Accounts of the Concordatum Fund, 1701–1790, have been arranged and placed in cartons.

13. Affidavits, Examinations, Informations, Presentments, &c., for the counties in Ireland, 1695 to 1813, classified according to counties and years, have been arranged and placed in cartons.

14. Agreements, Bonds, Leases, &c., classified by years, have been arranged and placed in cartons.

15. Ballast Office, Belfast; Elections, Regulations, and other papers connected therewith, 1785–1812; Dublin do., 1783–1809, have been sorted and placed in cartons.

16. Certificates, Miscellaneous, 1686–1796, arranged and placed in cartons.

17. Church Valuations have been classified, arranged chronologically according to Dioceses and Parishes, and have been arranged in cartons.

18. Coinage: Arrangements, 1711–1805, have been placed in a carton.

19. ORDERS FOR ENGROSSING ACTS, 1715–1800, have been arranged and placed in cartons.

20. ORDERS FOR DRAFTING PROCLAMATIONS, 1711–1803, have been placed in cartons.

21. ORDERS FOR ENGROSSING PROCLAMATIONS, 1725–1811, have been placed in cartons.

22. ORDERS FOR ISSUING MONEY, 1731–1794, have been placed in cartons.

23. ORDERS RESPECTING WINE DUTIES, 1726–1785, have been placed in cartons.

24. ORDERS RESPECTING EMBARGOES, 1740–1801, have been placed in cartons.

25. ORDERS RESPECTING QUARANTINE, 1711–1801, have been placed in cartons.

26. ORDERS TO IRISH COUNCIL, with annexed Reports of Committees of Council and references thereupon, 1711–1796, have been placed in cartons.

27. ORDERS MISCELLANEOUS, 1708–1812, have been placed in cartons.

28. MINUTES, MEMORANDA, &c., 1713–1809, have been placed in cartons.

29. OATHS OF ALLEGIANCE, ABJURATION, AND DECLARATION, 1714–1813, have been classified, arranged in years, and placed in a carton.

30. The LISTS OF FEES chargeable by Admiralty officers, Arms officers, Chancery officers, Common Pleas officers, Crown and Peace clerks of Provinces and Counties, Ecclesiastical officers, Exchequer officers, King's Bench officers; by Manor Courts and Municipal officers; Revenue, Treasury, and various other officers, have been classified, arranged, and placed in cartons.

In addition to the foregoing, a vast number of KING'S AND QUEEN'S LETTERS, commencing 1649, are in process of classification. When they are arranged and placed in cartons, I have ordered a calendar to be made.

MISCELLANEOUS STATE PAPERS, 1836–1838, not included in the official Indexes have been partly arranged.

In conclusion, I deem it my duty to express my full approval of the ability, zeal, and diligence of my chief assistant, Mr. George Barry, as well as of the intelligence, assiduity, and systematic habits of my other clerk, Mr. J. J. Maginn.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your very obedient servant,

(Signed,) J. BERNARD BURKE, Ulster,
Keeper of the State Papers in the Record Tower.

APPENDIX No. 6.

EXTRACT from REPORT of JAMES MILLS, esq., on the REMOVAL of RECORDS from the EXAMINERS' OFFICES of the COURT of CHANCERY.

The repositories of this collection, consisting of six rooms on the first landing at the extremity of the eastern wing of the Four Courts building, were inspected on Monday, the 2nd of August, 1869. The work of cleaning the documents in these rooms being at once proceeded with, I was enabled on the Saturday following to commence preparations for transfer; and the entry and removal being simultaneously carried on, so as to leave room for the arrangement of the disordered portions of the collection, the transfer was completed by the 23rd of September following.

The records in the three northern rooms belonged to the Chief Examiner; those in the southern to the late Second Examiner's Office. I proceed first to treat of the Chief Examiner's Records.

The office of Examiner of the Court of Chancery was created not later than 1540, and was in the gift of the Master of the Rolls. His duty is to receive Interrogatories for the examination and cross-examination of witnesses in any cause in the Court of Chancery, to examine and cross-examine witnesses, to prepare in writing the depositions to which the witnesses sign their names, and to preserve the same as well as the examinations of witnesses at a distance taken by Commission. By patent 3rd Car. I., p. 4, "another examinator" was appointed to examine in "such matters as concerneth the Plaintiffs." By subsequent letters patent 4 Car. I., p. 2, the duties of the two officers were assimilated, suitors being permitted to file Interrogatories with either, as in England. With regard however to Depositions taken by Commission, the original practice appears to have prevailed till 1755, those taken for plaintiffs being returned to the Second, and those for defendants to the Chief Examiner. It seems also that the same Examiner could not act for both parties, Plaintiff and Defendant, in the same cause, Irish Record Commissioners' Reports, Vol. I., p. 102. It should be observed that several of the gentlemen who filled the office of Second Examiner during the present century were accustomed to style themselves Chief Examiners.

The Records of the Chief Examiner have received the general name of Depositions. They consist of—

I. Interrogatories filed in the office.
II. The Dominicals or drafts (usually on paper) of the Depositions of the witnesses taken either by the Examiner or by Commission.
III. The fair copies (on parchment) of the Depositions. These copies in many cases have not been made.
IV. Answers to personal Interrogatories.
V. The Commissions (when the Depositions were taken by Commission), with Commissioners' and Clerks' Oaths attached.

These Records are made up in the form of rolls, and each set of Interrogatories with its Depositions attached forming a roll, indorsed with date and name of cause.

The earliest fragment bears date 1573, but from that year to 1660 only a very small proportion of the Records are preserved.

From 1661 to 1699 the Rolls are in good preservation but in very many cases without endorsement. They were tied in bundles, each bundle containing usually Records of the same year or period. These bundles however being heaped promiscuously in three presses in as many different rooms, the Records of this period were unavailable without a laborious search. These Records I have collected and re-arranged according to their years. The year 1689 only, during which very few Interrogatories were filed, is wholly wanting.

From 1700 to 1760 the Rolls were tied in term bundles in the arrangement of which frequent inaccuracies were discovered, probably to be accounted for by the fact that these Records had, at different times, been removed from one repository to another in open bundles by common labourers. These Records I have partly re-arranged to rectify the inaccuracies.

From 1760 to 1850 the Records were in good order in term bundles; those only for Michaelmas 1794, and Hilary, Trinity, and Michaelmas 1836 being wanting.

All the above, being cleaned and tied in bundles covered with brown paper, each labelled with a description of its contents and its position in the Record Treasury, were transferred and placed on shelves in Bay 5 L. A complete reference to the bundles is supplied by the "Transfer Book" lodged in the Search Room.

For reference to the Records the following Lists and Indexes have been removed to the Search Room.

Vol. I. 1548 to 1656 } These volumes have no alphabetical in-„ II. 1656 to 1770 } dexes, and appear to be lists merely made „ III. 1671 to 1678 } at a subsequent period.
1679 to 1686, bound at the end of Vol. I.; this is of the same character as the above, but has an alphabetical Index.

„ IV. 1685 to 1723. The first eleven pages of this volume being very much mutilated had been recopied at some period. Both copy and original are bound in this volume. This and the following volumes are office books containing entries on the filing of Interrogatories and the return of Depositions taken by Commission. They have alphabetical Indexes to the plaintiffs' names.

Vol. V. 1723 to 1749; Vol. VI. 1749 to 1774; Vol. VII. 1774 to 1794; Vol. VIII. 1795 to 1811; Vol. IX. 1812 to 1827.

As Vol. X., 1827 to the present time, being in current use, has been retained in the Examiner's office, we have no reference to the Records of that period. There is a fair copy of the first four volumes, but without Index.

Besides the foregoing Records the following documents have been removed:—

I. Depositions sealed, one bundle.
II. Copies Orders for Publication, 1794–1850.
III. Dockets for Examination.

IV. Office Books :

Book of Entries of Interrogatories, &c., 1631–47, much injured.
Duplicate Index to Vol. IV. Entry Book.
Receipt Book for Exhibits 1741–1752.
" " 1758–1795.
Fee and Scrivenery Account Books.

V. Deeds, &c., Exhibited, 9 bundles.

VI. "A Book of Recognizances taken in the Chancery of Ireland before Thomas Archbishop of Dublin, and Lord Chancellor of Ireland," from 1 January, 16 $\frac{14}{15}$ to 6 March 16 $\frac{18}{19}$. There is no index to this volume, which was found in a drawer of rubbish, but the name of each person entering into a recognizance is written at the foot of the page to catch the eye in turning over. It contains also some petitions, and letters of the Lord Deputy and Council in reference to the recognizances.

VII. A small file of various Exchequer writs circa 1800.

The office of Second Examiner in Chancery was created in 1627 as mentioned above. It existed until 1856, when the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Webb was not filled up.

The Records of the Second Examiner are precisely similar to those of his colleague. The earliest bears date 1661. From that year to 1760 they were in a state of great confusion, and apparently very imperfect. I have collected and arranged them, and find that the years 1689, 1740, 1750, and 1757 are wholly wanting, and that many of the others are more or less imperfect.

From 1760 to 1789, they were tied in termly bundles, and were much disordered ; 39 of these bundles are found to be wanting.

From 1790 to 1856, the termly bundles were in fair condition ; 31, however, are wanting—the years 1798, 1799, 1818, 1819, 1820, 1821, 1822, and 1833 being especially deficient.

It is to be observed that, this office being an extinct one, all the records, as well under as over twenty years, have been transferred. They are placed, in the same manner as the Chief Examiner's, in Bay 5 L.

The following books of reference to the Second Examiner's Records have been transferred from the Chief Examiner's office :—1661 to 1676, without alphabetical index.

It has a continuation in the form of a fee account from Hil. 1679 to 1682, in which reference is made to a second book of Entries, which I have been unable to find.

1757 to 1783 }
1783 „ 1802 }
1803 „ 1826 } These are books of entries similar to those of the Chief Examiner's office. They have alphabetical indexes to the plaintiffs' names. It will be seen that there is no means of reference to the Second Examiner's Records between 1682 and 1757, and no regular means between 1676 and 1682.
1826 „ 1844 }
1845 „ 1860 }

Besides the above, the following documents have been removed from this office :—

I. Depositions, sealed, one bundle.
II. Copies of Orders for Publication, 1807–1850.
III. Dockets for Examination, to 1848.
IV. Office Books :—
Receipt Book for Exhibits, 1831–1861.
Fee and Scrivenery Account Book.

V. Deeds, &c., Exhibited to Witnesses, and left in office, seven bundles.

VI. A few Answers, sworn but not filed.

The Depositions removed from the Chancery Registrar's office (Deputy Keeper's 1st Report, p. 58, Ap. No. 21), properly belong to this collection. Their existence in that office has been accounted for thus: "Formerly the Depositions by Commission were received, entered, and filed in this department" (Examiner's office) "immediately and without delay, on being returned into the Court of Chancery; latterly they lie in the office of the Registrar of the Court until publication." —Irish Record Com. Reports, vol. I., p. 103–1812.

These have already, as stated in the Deputy Keeper's Report above mentioned, been carefully indexed.

The following Equity Exchequer Records, in the custody of the Chancery Examiners since the abolition of the Equity side of the Exchequer, have been removed and placed, by your directions, with the other records of that Court, and will be reported on with them at a future date :—

Depositions, 1809–1850, with a few of earlier date.
Copies Orders for Publication, 1825–1850.
Notices of motion, 1819–1832.
Certificates of various Officers, 1813–1833.

Appendix No. 7.

Extract from the Report of the Assistant Deputy Keeper on Records of the Law Exchequer removed from Benchers' Buildings Vaults.

In accordance with your directions of the 28th January, 1869, I got the keys of the vaults described in the Warrant of the Master of the Rolls as "six certain vaults under that part of the new building at the rere of the Four Courts, called the Benchers' Building," from the late J. C. Lowry, esq., Q.C., the Master of the Court of Exchequer; and proceeded to examine their condition and contents. I found them very dirty, dark, and damp; so much so, that in places where the sacks, in which most of the documents were contained, had touched the walls or floor, they had rotted away, but, with very few exceptions, the decay had not spread to the Records, which I found in very fair preservation.

The Records consisted of documents of various kinds, belonging to the Law Exchequer, tied in parcels of a year or term, and placed in sacks properly labelled; and with their contents set out in two Note Books, written by the late Mr. James Ferguson, of the Court of Exchequer, who had arranged and deposited most of these Records in this repository. I found about eighty sacks in Room 3, which had been placed there at a later period by other persons than the late Mr. J. Ferguson, on which there were no proper labels specifying their contents, nor was there any list thereof. These I had opened, and a list made of their contents. The series are so irregular, and the gaps so numerous that I subjoin hereto, alphabetically arranged, a schedule of the different parcels of documents with their dates.

The whole collection contained three hundred and fifty sacks, and after going carefully through them, one by one—a work which the darkness of the vaults, the dirt, and the foul smell rendered very onerous—I commenced on the 22nd February to remove them to the Record Treasury, preserving the same order in which I found them, and placed them temporarily in Bays K, I, and H. I say temporarily, as it is proposed to move them hereafter, when the Records of the Law Exchequer shall be deposited with us, and when I expect that they will nearly completely fill up the gaps in the different series of that collection, and so form, with the Records to be brought from that Court, a uniform and complete series.

In the subjoined list, the letters refer to the Terms of the year.

I received no Index Books whatever relating to these documents.

In conclusion, I have to express to you how much I am indebted to the officers of the Court of Exchequer for their courtesy and explanations, and to Mr. Mills and Mr. Berry of this office, who gave me most able assistance.

Appendix No. 8.

Extract from Ad interim Report of the Assistant Deputy Keeper on the Records of the Equity Exchequer.

The equity jurisdiction of the Court of Exchequer was transferred to the Court of Chancery by the Act 13th & 14th Victoria, chapter 51, entitled "An Act for the Transfer of the Equitable Jurisdiction of the Court of Exchequer to the Court of Chancery in Ireland," to take effect from the 1st day of August, 1850, and the Records belonging to it were, in accordance with that Act, transferred to various offices in Chancery.

In my reports of last year, the one dated the 25th day of September, 1868, on the transfer of the Records of the Affidavit Office, Chancery, and the other dated the 30th of November, 1868, on the transfer of the Records of the Registrar's Office, Chancery, I pointed out that along with each collection I had removed certain Records of the Equity Exchequer, upon which I promised to make a full report this year. I find, however, that, though, in addition to the Records above mentioned, there has been transferred to this Department Equity Exchequer Records from the Recognizance Office, Chancery, the Examiner's Office, Chancery, and from the Record Rooms in the Benchers' Buildings, lately in charge of the Rolls Office, forming, taken together, the great bulk of the collection, I would not be at present justified in attempting to offer you a complete report on the Records of this Court, as there are still Records belonging to it which will be transferred to us during the ensuing year. I have, therefore, prepared a full and exhaustive Schedule of the series of Records that have up to this date been transferred to this Department, stating from what Office they come, and the dates between which the series extend, which will, I trust, be of use to the public until I am able to prepare a more full and minute report. When I state that up to this date there have been transferred to this department 5,238 bundles or separate parcels of Records belonging to the Equity Exchequer, each parcel containing on an average over one hundred Records, you may be enabled to form a definite notion of the size of the collection.

In reference to the operations of sorting, bundling, and arranging the mass of Pleadings for removal, I append a memorandum furnished to me by Mr. Tucker, under whose immediate inspection these Records were prepared for entry and removal.

MEMORANDUM from Mr. TUCKER, above referred to.

As regards the arrangements and preparation of the Bills, Answers, and Decrees of the Court of Equity Exchequer, deposited in Benchers' Buildings, for transfer to this office, I commenced with the Bills and Answers, the first of which dates from the year 1648. It was the practice to place together the Bills and Answers on the one file, which practice continued down to the year 1801. I found this part of the collection in tolerably fair order, save that in the Pleadings for the year 1793 a great quantity of the contents of the shelves had fallen on the floor from opposite sides, and had got mixed up in great confusion with other dates. These I had carefully sorted, collated, and placed in their proper dates and years. I then caused the whole to be divided into small bundles, suitable for trammelling after the same manner as I had previously treated the Chancery Pleadings, having them indorsed with temporary labels attached to the several bundles, giving the first and last dates of each; this portion of the collection had been placed on the shelves in the full length of the skin, and amounted to 1,906 bundles.

From the year 1801, two changes were made, viz., in the use of separate files for Bills and Answers, and in the size of the parchment skins on which they were written. This latter change having come in gradually, caused me a great deal of trouble, as I had to have all the documents opened for some years previous, and the large parchment skins folded to the size of the smaller ones, so as to make them fit the receptacles in the Treasury with the greatest economy of space; and while proceeding with this arrangement I found that this portion of the Pleadings was in very disordered and confused state, as, from having been placed in a double row, side by side in the shelves, without any division whatever, they had got mixed through each other.

I caused the pleadings from the year 1798 to 1825 to be sorted and arranged, placing those of each series by themselves in their proper months and years. From 1826 to 1839, I found that no order had been observed at all, save in the yearly divisions. These I treated in the same manner as the former, and had them tied up in convenient bundles, and placed in their shelves bookwise. Of this collection there are 354 bundles.

The Bills and Answers, subsequent to 1839, had been previously arranged.

The number of bundles of Bills in this series was 420, and of Answers 421, making a total in all of 841 bundles. Exclusive of the above series I found a large number of Tithe Bills from 1835 to 1838.

These having been left on the flat lengthwise, I had them arranged and folded bookwise, and placed in their shelves—the number of bundles of this series was 98.

During the process of sorting the above collection, I found several Chancery Bills and Answers among the Exchequer Records; I have restored these to their proper destinations among the Chancery Pleadings in the Record Treasury.

Towards the completion of my arrangements I found a large number of fragments of Bills and Answers. I made up 5 bundles of those with dates, from 1769 to 1846, and 22 bundles of some without any dates, also 4 bundles of Answers not having any dates of filing.

The Equity Exchequer decrees begin in 1624, and terminate in 1843, and were folded bookwise, and tied in large unwieldy yearly bundles, the contents of which had often got intermixed. I had them all opened, sorted according to date, pressed and numbered with a running number for each year, for facility of reference. They were then tied up in convenient sized paper portfolios, and form a series of 225 bundles.

Cant Books.

Notes of auctions, of lands, &c., held under Custodiam, with Certificates at foot of the sale thereof to the highest bidder.

Comptrollers' Books

contain the accounts of H. M. Revenue in the Port of Dublin, made out and sworn to by the Comptroller. The volumes from 1693 to 1697, and 1711 to 1717, are wanting.

Comptrollers' Journals.

Lettered A. E. G. H. I. K. The missing letters show the breaks in the series.

Comptrollers' Ledgers.

Lettered C. G. I. K. The missing letters show the blanks.

Custodiam Grants.

These are also styled Custodiam Leases, and are indexed alphabetically in names of Defendants. A volume, brought from the custody of the Master of the Exchequer, containing grants in Crown cases, continues the series to 1850. (Vide Report above.)

Custodiam Enrolments

are merely copies of the Custodiam Grants, for the purpose of Enrolment. (Vide Custodiam Rolls.)

Custodiam Rents.

These contain the entries of Custodiam Rents, arranged in counties, with the amounts and other particulars, and notes in the margin indicating when the Custodiams were dissolved. The last volume, though labelled as ending 1820, ends in 1809. (Vide Great Roll.)

Docket Books of Estreats of Inquisitions.

These are written in two columns, the first giving the names of causes, which are numbered consecutively in each Term ; and the second, the names of counties. Vol. 3 (1773 to 1778) is wanting.

Estreat Books.

The first volume is entitled "Book of Estreats returned into the Second Remembrancers' Office," and contains lists of assizes and sessions for each county, with dates of holding them, and dates of return of Estreats. The second volume contains the Certificates of Appointments of Corporate Officers returned from 1758 to 1793. (Vide Attachment Books.)

Great Roll Books.

These contain Custodiam Rents, arranged in counties, and are either copies of the Custodiam Rent Books, or the originals thereof. There are also two volumes labelled "Great Roll, 1759, to present time" (1809), which are duplicate copies of the two first volumes.

Great Roll and Sheriffs' Entries

are parchment books, and contain, in addition to Custodiam Rents, Lists of Process issued to Sheriffs. I think they are a continuation of the Great Rolls of the Pipe, which see.

Orders.

Ex parte Chief Remembrancer.

These books contain principally the Orders of the Equity Exchequer, but inasmuch as there are Revenue Orders amongst them, I have inserted them here. Indexed alphabetically in names of causes.

Order and Rule Books.

These are indifferently entitled Order or Rule Books to the year 1699, from which date they are exclusively entitled Rule Books. They are indexed alphabetically in names of causes. Prior to 1699 there are many gaps, the principal of which are from 1629 to 1657, 1666 to 1675, and 1690 to 1699. These Books contain the Minutes of the Rules made by the Court in matters relating to the Treasurers' Remembrancers' Office and the Casual Revenue, which were made out at greater length in the several series of Order Books undermentioned, viz. :—

Absolute Orders.

Gaps from 1666 to 1675, and 1678 to 1721, from which latter date these are quite regular. The title of these orders sufficiently points out their nature. Indexed alphabetically in the names of causes.

Conditional Orders

contain the Conditional Orders antecedent to the Absolute Orders above. Vol. 11 (circa 1797-1801) is missing. Indexed as above.

Custodiam Order Books

contain the Orders granting Custodiams. There is a gap from 1757 to 1763. Indexed in Defendants' names. (Vide Pipe Custodiam Orders.)

Custodiam Orders (Chief Remembrancer).

I do not understand the object of keeping this series in addition to the preceding, most of the orders in the two series being the same. These Orders are all on a set printed form, the names of causes, lands granted, &c., being filled in. Indexed alphabetically in names of causes.

Injunction Orders

directed to the Chief Remembrancer to issue Injunctions in Custodiam cases. Indexed as above.

Pipe Orders.

These are labelled simply "Pipe," and contain Copies of Orders relating to matters charged on the Pipe Roll. They consist of two series, one from 1686 to 1773—a gap from 1699 to 1704—and the other from 1792 to 1835, which last series is entitled inside "Orders to Dissolve Cust' and Particular Orders." The period between these series is apparently filled up by the Pipe Discharge and other Orders. Indexed alphabetically in names of causes.

Pipe Custodiam Orders.

These Books are Copies of the Custodiam Order Books (vide supra). They are indexed in names of causes.

Pipe Discharge Orders.

These contain the Orders discharging the Sheriffs, Clerks of the Crown and Peace, and Coroners, from the Fines inflicted on them in matters connected with their Office for different delinquencies. They are indexed alphabetically in the names of the persons discharged.

These remain still in the custody of the Master of the Exchequer, and will be transferred to this Department with other Records of that Court.

The residue of the Records comprised in the Second Schedule, I have actually transferred. I found them in very good order and condition, and in no wise injured by damp or exposure. I have interfered as little as possible with the late Mr. Ferguson's arrangement and classification of them, though, at some future time, I hope to be allowed to present to you a detailed calendar of such of the miscellanea as may be considered sufficiently valuable.

In my remarks and notes on the different series, I have endeavoured to be as short and concise as was consistent with clearness, and have refrained as much as possible from going into the general practice or history of the Court. Persons wishing to do this will get every information in Howard's Revenue Exchequer, from which I have derived the greatest assistance. In the three schedules below, I have endeavoured to show what series of Records are in existence, the periods through which they extend, and, where the titles did not sufficiently explain themselves, briefly to point out what they are. I have abstained from anything approaching a calendar or index of particulars, as I thought this was a work for a future time, and more extended experience of the Exchequer Records.

I found the two Schedules mentioned above, which were prepared by the late Mr. Ferguson, of the greatest assistance. I may remark here on the difficulty of separating the Records of the Equity and Revenue Exchequer, as in general they bear no entitlement by which they may be distinguished. In some cases they seem to have been confused.

I have given below three Schedules or Inventories:—The first, of those Records kept separately or on rolls; the second of the series kept as books; and the third, of miscellanea of which there is not sufficient to form independent classes or series.

The Records kept separately are :—

Affidavits,

upon which Motions, &c., have been founded.

On some of the earlier Affidavits are entered the Orders of the Court made thereon; and in some cases, Affidavits of service are written on the orders for service.

Assistance Schedules.

These are also called "Schedules and Writs of Assistance," and contain Affidavits upon which to ground applications for Writs of Assistance, together with the Writs (which latter are directed to the Sheriffs for the time being), to assist the late Sheriffs for one whole year in collecting the sums of money set out in Schedules annexed to the Writs, due to them in virtue of their office.

Attachments

are Writs of Attachments directed to the Pursuivant of the Exchequer, to bring up Sheriffs before the Court for various causes. The returns thereto are indorsed on the backs of the Writs.

Bonds and Assignments, and Revocations of Bonds.

The earliest Bond is dated 1638, but the earliest Assignment appears to be 1663. There is a book that purports to be a book of the entries of "Assignments of Bonds from 1663 to 1681," but it only contains Assignments in the first three letters of the alphabet. The Bonds as early as 1658 are on printed forms with the names, dates, &c., filled in. These are from the Secondary's office.

Certificates of the Clerk, and the Comptroller of the Pipe, are Certificates of Clerks of the Crown and Peace having filed their Estreats, and of the payment by Sheriffs of sums into the Treasury.

Certificates and Consents.

These contain Certificates from the Clerk of the Pipe of Sheriffs having paid their Tots, and of Fines imposed on them for various causes; and Consents that the Sheriffs might have their Recognizances vacated, with papers in relation to the above.

Certificates of different Officers of the Court of Exchequer; chiefly from the Pipe office.

Certificates of the Election, appointment and swearing into office of Mayors, Sheriffs and Bailiffs transmitted to the Court of Exchequer, by the returning officer.

Comptroller's Process to Collectors of Forfeited Recognizances.

Bring Process issued by the Comptroller of the Pipe on forfeited Recognizances, when estreated into the Exchequer.

N.B. — No Recognizances were estreated out of the Petty Bag, Chancery, into the Exchequer; and the statute staple and statute merchant were estreated into Chancery.

Comptroller's Process to Sheriffs.

This is the second Process of the Pipe, also called Pipe process, issued in the Trinity vacation by the Comptroller upon the Transcripts made by the Clerk of the Pipe, out of the "Great Roll" into the "Paper Books," and is against body, goods, and lands. Howard states that this process is most unnecessary, and contrary to the Rules of the 25th November, 1685, and 28th November, 1709—(vide Summonister's Process.)

Comptroller's Process to Treasurers, was directed to Treasurers of Counties.

Consents.

These were Consents to dissolve Custodiams, vacate Recognizances; and in other matters connected with the Casual Revenue.

Constats of Fines.

Fines on the Pleas side and those estreated into the Exchequer were delivered to the Summonister, and those in the Chief and Second Remembrancers' Offices to the Clerk of the Pipe: the above were the Certificates of Fines from the Office of the Clerk of the Pipe and Summonister, which those Officers made when it was intended to Plead or Move for their discharge; and also Constats or Certificates of the Clerk of the Pipe in relation to Custodiams, and the passing of Sheriffs' accounts, after fines had been imposed for delay.

Custodiams.

These are the original Grants of Custodiams, with the Exchequer Seal attached.

Custodiam Charges, Discharges, Exceptions and Reports.

These seem to be wanting from 1746 to 1768; and from 1782 to 1790. From 1726 to 1746, they consist of Charges and Discharges alone, but from that date the four descriptions of Documents seem to have been filed together. They are the proceedings upon an Order to account at foot of a Custodiam, before the Treasurer's Remembrancer, as follows: the Plaintiff filed his Charge, containing a statement of the debt due to him; the other party then filed his Discharge, consisting of an account of the Receipts from the lands, or the yearly value; upon these the Officer drew up his Report, to which either side might take exception, as well as to the Charge or Discharge.

Custodiam Constats

are formal Certificates of the existence of Custodiams, signed by the Clerk of the Pipe, after search made in his office.

Custodiam Orders

are copies made from the original Orders.

Custodiam Rolls.

The Enrolments of Custodiams were written on these parchment Rolls to the year 1785, from which date they were enrolled in books—(vide Custodiam Enrolment Books.)

are the Estreats of all Recognizances forfeited at General Sessions and Assizes. They are arranged according to counties.

Estreats of Inquisitions.

These Rolls contain the Estreats from Inquisitions in Chancery, and will, doubtless, prove of value where the originals may have been lost—(vide miscellaneous list below).

Estreats of Outlawries and Inquisitions.

These Rolls were of Record with the Clerk of Estreats, and contain the Estreats of the returns of the Sheriffs to Writs, directing them to return what property in their respective counties was held by A. B., an outlaw, at the time of, or after his outlawry, which returns were made at the request of the Attorney-General; they also contain Estreats of Inquisitions upon Writs of Levari Facias thereto annexed.

Exannual Rolls

contain Entries for each county of the Casual Revenue due thereout. The periods for each county vary so much, that I have given in the Schedule above the earliest and latest dates I could find, without respect to the county. Jacob says, "In the old way of exhibiting Sheriffs' accounts, illeviable fines were transcribed in a Roll, called Exannual Roll, which was read yearly, to see what might be gotten."

Great Rolls of the Pipe, labelled also "Pipe Rolls," and "Pipe Bundles." These are in two separate series, the one from 1740 to 1791, kept in yearly Rolls; the other from 1792 to 1818, kept in County Rolls. In continuation of the latter series are five bundles of Membranes, not made up. These Rolls were made out by the Clerk of the Pipe, of all Rents and Debts whatsoever brought into any of the other offices of the Exchequer, and accounted for in the Court, and of all the Debts that are in arrear, and unanswered for by the Sheriffs on passing their accounts.

Informations and Answers thereto, being Informations by English Bill or otherwise, filed by the Attorney-General on behalf of His Majesty in the Secondary's office of the Chief Remembrancer. These will be supplemented by those at present in the custody of the Master of the Exchequer—a portion of the same series. There are two Information Entry Books, from 1699 to 1825, indexed alphabetically in Defendants' names, and continued to the year 1844, by Indexes in the custody of the Master of the Exchequer. N.B.—These Records do not peculiarly belong to any of the offices abolished in 1835, as they were of Record with the Chief Remembrancer.

Injunctions on Custodiams.

The Writs issued by the Chief Remembrancer to the Sheriffs, to put custodees in possession; with these are put up, especially among the earlier bundles, Writs of Seizure, Green Wax Process, Levari Facias, Venire, Amoveas Manus and Writs of Sale (de Venditione), &c.

Inquisitions on Pipe Process are Inquisitions taken before the Sheriff, showing the Debts due on Pipe Process, by whom, and whether the Debtor had goods and chattels sufficient to satisfy the debt; with these are included Inquisitions on the other Green Wax Process.

Interrogatories and Depositions.

These are in pursuance of English bill, filed by way of Information in Crown cases.

Leases.

These consist of leases made for terms of three years by the Treasurer's Remembrancer of lands or tithes granted in custodiam, and directed to be set by him by public cant to the highest bidder, under an order of the Court, a copy of which order accompanies each lease. They are written on printed forms.

Nils.

These are the transcripts of the Nils (i.e. Nihil in Manibus) being all the sums for which the Sheriffs do not "tot," (Totum in Manibus) made out by the Foreign Apposer of the Exchequer, and sent by him to the Clerk of the Pipe: they are written on small parchment rolls. A few schedules of Nils from the Pipe are mixed with them.

Notices: Admissions of.

These are admissions of Notices by the Attorney-General in cases concerning Custodiams.

Notices and Affidavits.

Being Notices and Affidavits of the service thereof in cases relating to Custodiams.

Orders of Court.

These include some few Petitions, with orders thereon.

Paper Books

contain the transcripts from the Great Roll, made by the Clerk of the Pipe, of Nils of Sheriffs not reduced or discharged by order, sent to the Comptroller of the Pipe, and on which he issued the Comptrollers' or second Process.

Petitions and Orders thereon.

These are Petitions ex parte the Chief Remembrancer, directed to the Commissioners of Reducement, praying for reducement, discharges, &c., from fines, rents, &c. Among the earlier dates, in some cases, the orders alone exist.

Pleadings.

Being the Pleas of traverse, posteas, Venire distringas, replications further pleas, rejoinders, interrogatories, exceptions thereto, pleadings to Estreats, and other pleadings in crown cases. There is one Entry Book for these from M. 1761 to 1835, indexed in Defendants' names.

Schedules of Nils

are the schedules of what sums were nil'd in the second Process of the Pipe, sent by the Clerk of the Pipe once a year to the Treasurers' Remembrancer, upon which issued the Treasurers' Remembrancer's Process or Long Writ.

Sheriffs' Accounts

are the accounts made out and brought in by the Sheriffs for their year of office.

Sheriffs' Account or Tot Rolls contain the accounts of the Sheriffs, made out by the Comptroller of the Pipe, of the amounts of their Proffers and Tots, with the receipt of the Vice-Treasurer for Tots paid, and necessary Certificates attached. There is a small parchment Roll for each year and county.

Recognizances and Oaths (High Sheriffs').

The Sheriffs had each to enter into Recognizances of £500, with two sureties, conditioned to properly discharge the duties of their office with respect to His Majesty's Revenue, and also to take oaths to furnish true accounts of their office.

There is a series of Copies of Recognizances and Oaths from 1714 to 1832.

Solicitor of the Casual Revenue; Papers of.

This is a very miscellaneous lot, containing copies of letters to various officials, and of Documents issued from their Departments: also Briefs, Costs, Cases, and Opinions, Copies of Recognizances, Affidavits, Letter Books of the Solicitor, Copies of Orders, &c.

Summonister's Process.

This was the first Process, sometimes particularly called the "Green Wax Process," though the term was more generally and properly applied to the three Processes of the Summonister, Pipe and Treasurers' Remembrancer. It was issued twice in every year, viz.:—in Trinity and Hilary Vacation, by the Clerk of the Estreats and Summonister against the goods only, and was returned by the Sheriffs yearly, when they came to account. The three Processes after 1835 were consolidated in one Writ, to be issued by the Chief Remembrancer.

Tithe Schedules

are the Memorials and Schedules of Tithes under the Act 3 & 4 William IV., Cap. 100, Sec. 7, made by the owners of Tithes for the various parishes throughout Ireland, claiming compensation for loss of Tithes during the years 1831–2–3. Sec. 19 directs that these original Memorials shall be deposited in the proper office of the Exchequer, for the purpose of affording information to the Commission of Composition.

Treasurers' Remembrancers' Process.

This was the third Process, and was against body, goods, lands, heirs, executors and administrators, and was issued every Trinity Vacation upon the Schedules of the Pipe, sent from the Clerk of the Pipe to the Treasurers' Remembrancer. This is also called the Long Writ or Prerogative Writ. Down to the 28th November, 1709, it was issued till the debts were paid, or discharged: but from that date it was directed that it should issue but once, unless by particular order.

contain the entries of Appearances to Informations by the Attorney-General on behalf of His Majesty. The volumes from 1762 to 1831 are at present wanting. Indexed alphabetically in Defendants' Names. (Vide Informations.)

contain entries of Writs of Attachment, made out day by day. The third volume, which contains at the end the Certificates of Appointments of Corporate Officers from 1793 to 1835, is much mutilated. (Vide Estreat Books.)

Attorneys' Licenses.

Alphabetical lists of the Attorneys licensed in each year, with the dates of the licenses.

Bonds, Assignments of.

In two volumes: Vol. 1, from 1663–81, contains the entries of names of Assignor and Assignee, dates and amounts of Bonds for the letters A. B. C. alone, and at the end, the "yeares vallue, issued in processe to the respective counties, Hillary Tearme, 1682." Vol. 2 contains merely the names of Assignor and Assignee, alphabetically arranged. There is no date to this volume, but it appears to be of about the same date as vol. 1.

Cant Books.

Notes of auctions, of lands, &c., held under Custodiam, with Certificates at foot of the sale thereof to the highest bidder.

Comptrollers' Books

contain the accounts of H. M. Revenue in the Port of Dublin, made out and sworn to by the Comptroller. The volumes from 1693 to 1697, and 1711 to 1717, are wanting.

Comptrollers' Journals.

Lettered A. E. G. H. I. K. The missing letters show the breaks in the series.

Comptrollers' Ledgers.

Lettered C. G. I. K. The missing letters show the blanks.

Custodiam Grants.

These are also styled Custodiam Leases, and are indexed alphabetically in names of Defendants. A volume, brought from the custody of the Master of the Exchequer, containing grants in Crown cases, continues the series to 1850. (Vide Report above.)

Custodiam Enrolments

are merely copies of the Custodiam Grants, for the purpose of Enrolment. (Vide Custodiam Rolls.)

Custodiam Rents.

These contain the entries of Custodiam Rents, arranged in counties, with the amounts and other particulars, and notes in the margin indicating when the Custodiams were dissolved. The last volume, though labelled as ending 1820, ends in 1809. (Vide Great Roll.)

Docket Books of Estreats of Inquisitions.

These are written in two columns, the first giving the names of causes, which are numbered consecutively in each Term ; and the second, the names of counties. Vol. 3 (1773 to 1778) is wanting.

Estreat Books.

The first volume is entitled "Book of Estreats returned into the Second Remembrancers' Office," and contains lists of assizes and sessions for each county, with dates of holding them, and dates of return of Estreats. The second volume contains the Certificates of Appointments of Corporate Officers returned from 1758 to 1793. (Vide Attachment Books.)

Great Roll Books.

These contain Custodiam Rents, arranged in counties, and are either copies of the Custodiam Rent Books, or the originals thereof. There are also two volumes labelled "Great Roll, 1759, to present time" (1809), which are duplicate copies of the two first volumes.

Great Roll and Sheriffs' Entries

are parchment books, and contain, in addition to Custodiam Rents, Lists of Process issued to Sheriffs. I think they are a continuation of the Great Rolls of the Pipe, which see.

Orders.

Ex parte Chief Remembrancer.

These books contain principally the Orders of the Equity Exchequer, but inasmuch as there are Revenue Orders amongst them, I have inserted them here. Indexed alphabetically in names of causes.

Order and Rule Books.

These are indifferently entitled Order or Rule Books to the year 1699, from which date they are exclusively entitled Rule Books. They are indexed alphabetically in names of causes. Prior to 1699 there are many gaps, the principal of which are from 1629 to 1657, 1666 to 1675, and 1690 to 1699. These Books contain the Minutes of the Rules made by the Court in matters relating to the Treasurers' Remembrancers' Office and the Casual Revenue, which were made out at greater length in the several series of Order Books undermentioned, viz. :—

Absolute Orders.

Gaps from 1666 to 1675, and 1678 to 1721, from which latter date these are quite regular. The title of these orders sufficiently points out their nature. Indexed alphabetically in the names of causes.

Conditional Orders

contain the Conditional Orders antecedent to the Absolute Orders above. Vol. 11 (circa 1797-1801) is missing. Indexed as above.

Custodiam Order Books

contain the Orders granting Custodiams. There is a gap from 1757 to 1763. Indexed in Defendants' names. (Vide Pipe Custodiam Orders.)

Custodiam Orders (Chief Remembrancer).

I do not understand the object of keeping this series in addition to the preceding, most of the orders in the two series being the same. These Orders are all on a set printed form, the names of causes, lands granted, &c., being filled in. Indexed alphabetically in names of causes.

Injunction Orders

directed to the Chief Remembrancer to issue Injunctions in Custodiam cases. Indexed as above.

Pipe Orders.

These are labelled simply "Pipe," and contain Copies of Orders relating to matters charged on the Pipe Roll. They consist of two series, one from 1686 to 1773—a gap from 1699 to 1704—and the other from 1792 to 1835, which last series is entitled inside "Orders to Dissolve Cust' and Particular Orders." The period between these series is apparently filled up by the Pipe Discharge and other Orders. Indexed alphabetically in names of causes.

Pipe Custodiam Orders.

These Books are Copies of the Custodiam Order Books (vide supra). They are indexed in names of causes.

Pipe Discharge Orders.

These contain the Orders discharging the Sheriffs, Clerks of the Crown and Peace, and Coroners, from the Fines inflicted on them in matters connected with their Office for different delinquencies. They are indexed alphabetically in the names of the persons discharged.

Pipe Reducement Orders

are copies of Orders made by the Commissioners for the Reducement of Fines, &c., entered with the Clerk of the Pipe, the original Orders being made on foot of the Petitions presented to the said Commissioners. Indexed alphabetically in the names of persons whose Fines, &c., have been reduced. (Vide Petitions and Orders thereon.)

The above five series of Pipe Orders relate exclusively to charges on the Pipe Roll, and were kept for the use of the Offices of the Pipe. From 1778 they were referred to in these Offices, not according to the series as above, but according to a private office series of letters impressed on the edges of the leaves; for example :—

A—Pipe Custodiam Orders	1778 to 1780
B—Pipe Discharge Orders	1779 to 1784
C—Pipe Custodiam Orders	1780 to 1782
D—Pipe Custodiam Orders	1782 to 1784
E—Pipe Custodiam Orders	1784 to 1786
F—Pipe Discharge Orders	1784 to 1788
G—Pipe Custodiam Orders	1786 to 1789
H—Pipe Discharge Orders	1788 to 1791
I—Pipe Custodiam Orders	1789 to 1793
K—Pipe Discharge Orders	1790 to 1793
L—Pipe Reducement Orders	1790 to 1793
M—Pipe Orders (second series)	1792 to 1798
	&c., &c.

Port Books.

These were books annually issued from the Chief Remembrancer's Office, sealed with the seal of the Court of Exchequer, for the Customers and Comptrollers of the several ports of the kingdom, on each of which was indorsed "Portus ——. A Blank Booke containing —— leaves for the Comptroller of the Port of ——, his entry of all goods, wares, and merchandises, as well exported as imported into and out of the said porte and the creeks, members, and places of the same by way of merchandize, A ffesto Anuntiationis beat' Mar' Virgin,—usq' idem ffestum ——." In some cases there are duplicates for the same port and year, one signed by the Comptroller, and the other by the Deputy Customer and Collector. They are for the Ports, as under, viz. :—

Carrickfergus, from 1715 to 1718; Cork, 1704–59; Dingle, 1696–7; Drogheda, 1702; Dublin, 1710–58; Galway, 1697–1704; Kinsale, Bantry, and Baltimore, 1634; Kinsale, 1671–1755; Limerick, 1693–1724; Sligo, 1715–20; Strangford, 1719–20; Waterford, 1755–9; Wexford, 1693–1706; and Surveyor-General's Port Books, 1709–18.

Recognizance Books

contain the entries of the binding of Sheriffs in the sum of £1,000 before their appointments.

Reducement Books

contain entries of Recognizances reduced and respited, giving parties names and the amount reduced. The entries are numbered consecutively for each Term.

Sheriffs' Accounts, Constats, and Transcripts contain the full entries of Sheriffs' Accounts, the earlier of which entries are in Latin. Three are gaps from 1602 to 1663, and 1698 to 1706.

Sheriffs' Debets.

The entries in these, which give the dates of the Debet and Acquittance, were made out by the Clerk of the Pipe. There is an Alphabetical Index for each volume.

Sheriffs' Quietus Est

contain a summary of the Sheriffs' Accounts for each county, with the note at foot of each, "Delivered from Court," and the date.

Sheriffs' Tot Books.

These contain the amounts for which the Sheriffs totted (tots, i.e., "Totum in Manibus"), and come down to a later date than 1835, as Sheriffs very often did not pass their accounts till long after their year of office.

Writ Books.

These contain entries kept daily of Writs of Levari. Sci. Fa., Attachment, &c., issued for debts, assignments, and bonds due the Lord the King for the time being, stating whether on Information or otherwise.

Appendix No. 10.

Public Record Office,

Dublin, 29th January, 1869.

Sir,—In prospect of the removal of the Records from the Custom House to the Public Record Office, I beg leave to ask your Honor's attention to the special course of duty observed at the late Landed Estates Record Office at the time of the coming into operation of the Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867, and in which course of practice, pending the removal of the collection, your Honor has not yet seen fit to direct any change.

The special duties in question appear to have devolved on the Landed Estates Record Office as representing the former office of Auditor General.

The office of Auditor General was abolished, and its duties transferred to the Office of Vice-Treasurer by Treasury Minutes of 19th July, 1822, and 14th July, 1825, under the general powers given by Act 3rd, George IV., cap. 56.

The office of Vice-Treasurer was abolished, and its duties transferred to the Office of Paymaster of Civil Services by Treasury Warrant of 15th May, 1837, under Act 6 & 7, William IV., cap. 83.

The Record branch of the Office of Paymaster of Civil Services was converted into the late Landed Estates Record Office by Treasury Minute of 5th February, 1861.

The duties observed in the successive departments consist in making Records and in giving special information to Government Departments and otherwise by way of Reports and Constats.

I. Making Records.—In pursuance of a Queen's Letter of 10th Elizabeth, all grants and leases appertaining to the Land Revenue of Ireland, including patents for fairs and markets, were enrolled in the office of Auditor General, and like enrolments have since continued to be made in the several departments representing that office, and are still made by Mr. Day.

The practice has also been to enrol all grants of offices, and to give certificates of the enrolments, which are the Paymasters Generals vouchers to the Exchequer and Audit Office for their payments under the respective grants. This latter class of enrolments appears superfluous, as being merely duplicates of entries on the Rolls of Chancery.

It has also been the practice in every case of the purchase of a Quit or Crown rent, under the Acts 38, George III., and 10, George III., cap. 50, to enter the item of reduction or extinguishment in the Crown rental, which entry is matter of record.

II. Reports.—The Officers of the Quit Rent Branch of the Department of Woods and Forests have been in the habit of addressing requisitions to the several officers having custody of the Crown Rentals, desiring to be informed of the title of the Crown to particular hereditaments. In complying with these requisitions, Mr. Hardinge, the late Keeper, and Mr. Day, who, on the 1st January, 1868, became an Officer of this Department, and in whose charge the collection now is, have been in the habit (and that so frequently as to constitute a principal part of their occupation) of furnishing Reports in the nature of statements of title, and in some instances of advising and expressing opinions for the guidance of querists.

III. Constats.—"The Constat from the Auditor General of a charge on lands is deemed a sufficient finding of the King's title to supply the want of an office" (1 Howard Eq. Ex. 318). These Constats are still given under the hand of Mr. Day, and are received and acted on by the Landed Estates Court as well as by private parties in matters of title.

The Public Records (Ireland) Act, 1867, makes no provision for the discharge of any duty by this Department beyond that of keeping Records and giving certified copies. There does not appear to be any further duty by implication arising on the custody of the Records, save so far as the 10 George IV., cap. 50, s. 70, imposes on the custodees of the Twopenny Books the obligation of receiving and giving certified copies of Conveyances of the Land Revenue.

I respectfully submit to your Honor that steps should be taken to enable the several Public Departments concerned to prepare for the performance of those duties by their own officers, as, after the concentration of the Records here, there will neither be hands nor, as I apprehend, authority for further continuing these services by the Officers of this Department.

I remain,

Your Honor's obedient servant,

(Signed) SAMUEL FERGUSON,

Deputy Keeper of the Records.

The Right Hon. the Master of the Rolls.

OBSERVATIONS of the RIGHT HON. JOHN E. WALSH, Master of the Rolls, on the foregoing.

I. It appears to me that the Record Office does not represent any branch of the Auditor's Office to which the Queen's Letter (10 Eliz.) refers. Neither enrolments of Crown Grants, nor of leases of lands, nor of patents, nor of grants of offices can be legally made there.

But as regards duplicates of deeds or instruments which are required by the Stat. 10, Geo. IV., c. 50, sects. 70, 71, to be transmitted by the Commissioners of Woods and Forests to remain of record among the original Crown rentals, I see no reason why they should not be still transmitted to the Record Office and entered in a proper index, and certified copies given of them at the rate of fees specified in that Act—and, as I understand the 72nd section of that Act, it dispenses with the necessity of any enrolment or registry elsewhere of deeds which fall within it. So also as regards the books containing entries of receipts of Crown rents in continuation of the "Twopenny Books," they may be returned to this office, which, it appears to me, would be a compliance with the 88th section of 10 George IV., c. 50. A similar direction is found in the prior repealed statutes (e.g. 7 & 8, Geo. IV., c. 68, sect. 8), and I presume there is a series of these books which will be transferred to the office. The only difficulty in continuing the return by making it thus arises from its being directed to be "on oath," which the Deputy Keeper could not administer; but whatever officer was in the habit of administering the oath when the returns were made to the former Land Record Office can, I presume, still administer it.

As to rents extinguished or sold under the Stat. 38, Geo. III., c. 72, and the several Acts amending it, up to and including the Stat. 3, Geo. IV., c. 63, the certificates of extinguishments or sales given under these statutes could be enrolled only in the Auditor's Office. I do not think that the Record Office represents that department in any sense which would authorize such enrolments to be now made there. But as all these Acts are repealed by the 1st section of the 7 & 8 Geo. IV., c. 68, and that Act also is repealed by the 10 Geo. IV., c. 50, I do not see how any enrolments can now be required to be made under any of the prior Acts. Copies of the documents directed by these Acts to be enrolled in the Auditor's Office are by them respectively made evidence; but as the collection is now transferred to the new office, there can be no difficulty in giving such copies, which will still be evidence.

II. The course here mentioned, though a very proper one while the Land Record Office existed as a branch of the departments representing the Vice-Treasurer's office, appears to me quite unsuited to the arrangements of the new Record Office. In pursuance of the directions already given (allowing the former practice to be continued until further order), Mr. Day was quite right in discharging these duties for the present, but, in my opinion, they are such as ought not to be undertaken by any officer of the Record Office, and should cease as soon as provision can be made for discontinuing them without inconvenience to the public service. Steps will be immediately taken with this object.

III. The giving of these certificates called "Constats"; is open to a similar objection. The weight formerly attached to them, as being issued by the Auditor-General, cannot attach to them when issued from the Record office. Their value can rest only on the presumed accuracy and care of the officer who gives them in making a search.

Undertaking the responsibility of agents or officers for making such inquiries, appears to me quite foreign to the duties of the Record Department as now constituted. Copies of, or extracts from, the documents on which such certificates are founded, can be given, and every facility should of course, be afforded for finding them. I will communicate with the Judges of the Landed Estates Court, as to what would be the best substitute for the present practice.

Appendix No. 11.

Office of Public Works, Dublin,
13th January, 1870.

Sir,—In acknowledging the receipt of your communication of 30th December last, addressed to the Architect, and forwarding the keys of the late Landed Estates Record office, I am directed by the Board to convey to you their marked thanks for your attention in expediting the removal of the documents to the Public Record Repository, and their acknowledgments for affording them so much facility in this matter, which has conduced much to the benefit of the Public Service.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

(Signed), E. Hornsby, Secretary.
